SEAWAY TREATY PROPOSAL STIRS PROTEST STORM

Scheme Draws Fire of Both Parties.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Cordell Hull's new proposed treaty with Canada for construction of the St. Lawrence seaway at American expense and for subjection of the diversion at Chicago to Canadian consent ran into a storm of condemnation in congress today.

Democrats as well as Republicans joined the chorus of disapproval of the plan which was characterized as a scheme to buy the support of Canada for a gigantic water power development planned by the New York state power authority.

Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee having jurisdiction of treaties, who led the unsuccessful fight for the narrower 1932 treaty, said the new proposals would not have a chance of ratification unless materially modified.

Doubt Canada Will Approve.

Concurrently there leaked from the state department the information that not even Canada is expected to accept the treaty, that the proposed agreement was drafted by the department merely because of President Roosevelt's insistence that the St. Lawrence project be revived.

Although the United States under the terms of the new treaty would expend, it is estimated, not less than 60 and perhaps as much as 100 million dollars for construction of works on the Canadian side of the boundary, the dominion would be called upon within ten years to deepen the Welland canal and build canals in the Soulange and Lachine areas of the St. Lawrence at an expense of upward of 80 millions.

Canadian officials have repeatedly doubted whether recovery from the depression would be promoted by spending millions on a waterway for which there is not sufficient commerce and for development of surplus water power for which there is no demand.

Sees Lake Michigan Menace.

Representative Claude V. Parsons [D., Ill.], author of the bill to authorize a diversion of 5,000 cubic feet per second from Lake Michigan at Chicago for sanitation of the city and operation of the Illinois waterway, went clear off the Democratic reservation on the question of the Hull treaty.

"This proposed treaty," he said, "is about the worst mistake Secretary Hull ever made. Under the terms of his proposal to set up an international commission for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence basin, Canada would be given control over our all-American Lake Michigan. The sovereignty of Lake Michigan has never been questioned since the treaty of Ghent, and every secretary of state since has held religiously to American sovereignty over Lake Michigan.

"Furthermore, the treaty would prohibit any further diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago of more than 1,500 cubic feet per second. The Illinois and Mississippi rivers must have at least 5,000 c. f. s. to insure a dependable waterway.

Penalized by Panama Canal.

"The middle west and the Mississippi valley are now penalized by the operations of the Panama canal and if the proposed treaty is placed into effect it will forever prohibit cheap waterway transportation in the middle west.

"Canada is our friend and we always expect Great Britain to be our friend but I, for one, do not propose to give Great Britain sovereignty over our lakes with indirect power to dry up the Mississippi valley.

"Instead of American ships carrying American products, all of our foreign export and import trade will be carried on by British ships if the proposed treaty goes into effect. At a time when we are building up our merchant marine we should have our own products hauled in American ships."

Predicts Diversion Victory.

Parsons predicted victory next session for his bill to continue the present rate of diversion of 5,000 cubic feet per second at Chicago after Jan. 1, 1939, when the flow will be cut to 1,500 cubic feet per second by court decree. The Illinois waterway, with the

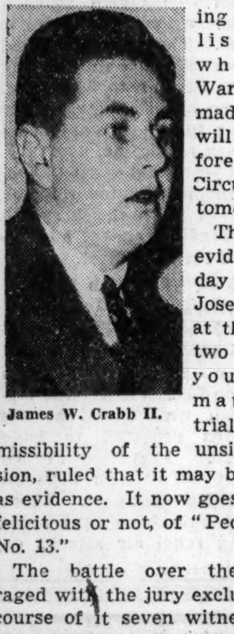
CRABB SLAYING CONFESSION TO GO BEFORE JURY

Ruling Given After 2 Day Battle.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



James W. Crabb II.

Pekin, Ill., June 1.—[Special.]—The brief, rather sketchy confession of the fatal shooting of Betty Collison Crabb which James Warren Crabb II. made March 12 will be read before a jury in Circuit court here tomorrow.

This became evident late today when Judge Joseph E. Daily, at the close of a two day battle in young Crabb's manslaughter trial over the admissibility of the unsigned confession, ruled that it may be introduced as evidence. It now goes by the title, felicitous or not, of "People's exhibit No. 13."

The battle over the confession raged with the jury excluded. In the course of it seven witnesses for the state told how Crabb made the confession, testifying that he did so in the absence of threats or duress.

Crabb a Surprise Witness.

In a surprise move by the defense, Crabb himself, the handsome son of nearby Delavan's leading banker, took the stand to say that his words of March 12 were put into his mouth by state officials.

Betty Collison Crabb, James' bride of five weeks, was shot to death early March 1 in the home of her father-in-law, Willis Crabb, after she and her husband returned from Delavan's first party in their honor. For twelve days following her death, young Crabb stoutly insisted she shot herself. On March 12, while held in the Tazewell county jail here on a murder warant, he confessed the shooting, asserting it was accidental. He later returned to his suicide story, which he now professes.

His mother, slender, patrician Mrs. Elizabeth Monroe Crabb of Bloomington, divorced first wife of Banker Crabb, even took the stand today in a futile effort to keep the confession out of the record.

Mother Tells of Daze.

A vivid, tense figure in a sports dress, her silver hair framed by a dark hat, she testified that when she saw her son the night of March 12, following the announcement of his confession, he was dazed and limp.

All he could do, as he leaned feebly against a jailhouse wall, she testified, was to repeat such phrases as "I loved Betty," "Suicide is such a disgrace," and "This is more manly." He sounded, she said, like a talking sleep walker.

But young Crabb, following her to the stand, said nothing of his daze, his limpness, or of suicide. Instead, a tall, almost chubby young man of 22 years in a dark blue suit, who constantly raised forked eyebrows above widely opened hazel eyes, he related—in a deep, resonant voice—how three state officials had told him what to confess.

Self-Confidence Deserts.

In his brief, thirteen minute direct examination by Defense Attorney J. M. Powers, young Crabb referred to the confession only as the "story." He spoke easily and with assurance. But under a sharp cross-examination as Special Prosecutor John E. Cassidy pressed him for more details of the "story," his self-confidence wilted. He nervously moistened his lips. He asked often for a repetition of the question. His answers became a steady stream of "I don't recall."

When, dismissed at last from the stand, he returned to his seat near his attorneys. He sat motionless for a few minutes, staring into space, his handsome face heavily flushed.

The gist of Crabb's direct testimony dealt with the "story" which he said three state officials induced him to tell and their words of inducement. The officials are T. P. Sullivan, chief of the state bureau of criminal investigation and identifica-

Turn on Charm to Land a Job, Grads Advised

The ideal combination in a young man or woman seeking employment is scholastic achievement and a pleasing personality. At least, most representatives of business concerns interested in the University of Chicago's June graduates are seeking that combination. And of the two personality seems to have a slight edge.

This was reported yesterday by placement authorities at the university. They hastened to add, however, that a plentiful supply of both education and charm doesn't automatically guarantee a job because only half as many organizations are recruiting employés this year as compared to last year. In fact, many concerns have cut their training courses to the minimum and do not need any of this year's graduates.

Sixty Per Cent Want Salesmen.

The majority of the opportunities for men are in the sales field, about 60 per cent of the inquiries being for salesmen. Accountants and statisticians are next in demand, and a few concerns want graduates with a general business background, preferring to train their new help for specific tasks.

Some comfort for top flight students may be found in the search by some companies for accountants with an exceptionally high scholastic rating. Pay offered for male help averages about $115 monthly according to Lowell S. Calvin, men's placement counselor.

Outlook Similar for Girls.

The prospect for women graduates is similar, with pay offerings averaging about $85 or $90 a month. Probable salaries range from as low as $75 or $80 to a top of $135 for secretarial work.

As in the case of the men, personality is more interesting to the prospective employer than either looks or grades. In fact, although the university's board of vocational guidance and placement, headed by Robert C. Woellner, always includes scholastic ratings in its reports, many employers don't ask for it.

Most of the women will start their business careers as stenographers, for which the demand is heaviest, and a few may land selling, personnel or editorial posts.

IN SPRING A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY TURNS TO LOVE--OF CHICKEN

The more Jack Hunsaker, 8 years old, thought about Dorothy Anne Rauch, 7, the more he thought it would be pleasant to pay her a return visit. Dorothy Anne had visited Jack and his great-aunt, Mrs. Martha Hunsaker, 13427 South Francisco avenue, Blue Island, Monday.

And every time Jack thought of Dorothy Anne he remembered what she had told him about having fried chicken every day and sometimes ice cream. It was Tuesday afternoon and Jack had been put to bed with a cold, but he didn't care. He started for Dorothy Anne's farm at Mokena, 10 miles east of Joliet in Will county.

Footsore, weary, and confused about his directions, Jack arrived yesterday noon at John Borucki's farm, a mile west of Mokena. When he heard the young man's story, Farmer Borucki drove him right home to Great-Aunt Martha. Even if he didn't see Dorothy Anne, Jack said it wasn't so bad. Farmer Borucki had given him some fried chicken.

MOM GIVES BROOD LESSON IN RIGHTS; POP DUCKS ISSUE

Mom and Pop Duck tied up Lincoln Park trafic yesterday to teach Baby Ducks Nos. 1 to 7 a lesson in standing up for their rights.

The ducks with their seven downy ducklings were waiting patiently for a break in the Lake Shore drive trafic south of Fullerton avenue when they realized that they were going to have a long wait. Mom Duck conferred a moment with Pop and then quacked a command. In squadron formation she led the family into the drive. Astonished motorists halted.

Pop Duck got excited and flew to the other side, but Mom and the babies waddled slowly and determinedly to rejoin him.

Court Process Servers Trail Roosevelt Son

Boston, Mass., June 1.—[Special.]—Boston's most expert and hard boiled process server will be on the trail of James Roosevelt, son of the President, when he comes to attend the wedding on June 18 of his brother, John. This was revealed today.

James is wanted as a witness in a Suffolk Civil court suit involving issues dating back to his days as a Boston insurance salesman. The plaintif in the suit is Arthur D. Cronin, insurance broker here. He alleges that an insurance commission which should have been paid to his firm in 1934 actually was paid to O'Brion, Russell & Co., an insurance firm with which James Roosevelt then was associated.

Seek James' Version.

Counsel for Cronin is anxious for James to tell what, if anything, he knows about the insurance sale and the collection of the commission.

A court summons for James Roosevelt has been in the hands of process servers for some time.

Officers with the papers were lying in wait for him at Ford Hall on a recent occasion when he was scheduled as a speaker there. But he cancelled his date, in order to go to the Mayo clinic, at Rochester, Minn., where specialists examined him for a stomach disorder.

The next chance for the process servers will be the John Roosevelt-Anne Clark wedding at Nahant.

It's News to Him.

James Roosevelt, however, is expected to accompany his father, the President, here. That will mean he'll be protected by a ring of secret service men and police. Betting odds today were 5 to 3 against the process servers.

From his home in Washington, James Roosevelt said Cronin's suit is "all news to me." He said he didn't think he knew anybody named Arthur D. Cronin, but added, "I know so many Cronins that I wouldn't want to say for sure."

"If I have met him," he said, "I don't remember him."

He appeared amused at the suggestion that the process might be served on him when he went to Massachusetts for his brother John's wedding.

Search Yields New Clews to Boy's Captors

Miami, Fla., June 1.—[Special.]—A suspect was under arrest and several possible clews in the kidnaping of little Jimmy Cash were uncovered by the authorities tonight.

Convinced that the boy, 5 years old, has been slain by those who stole him from his home in nearby Princeton Saturday night, federal agents broadcast the serial numbers of the $10,000 worth of ransom notes the child's father delivered at a lonely rendezvous.

Authorities hoped that an early finding of some of the ransom bills would provide a quick clew to the identity of their passers.

Member of Posse Seized.

A bald, portly carpenter, M. F. Braxton, 55 years old, was dramatically seized by federal men at Princeton, 25 miles south of here, this afternoon as he was about to set out with one of 26 posses which undertook a hunt for the abductors. He was hurried to the federal bureau of investigation offices here for questioning.

Braxton's wife said he had been at the Princeton filling station owned by the young victim's father, James Bailey Cash Sr., on the night of the kidnaping, but returned home and went to bed about 11 p. m. The boy was taken at about 10 p. m. while his mother was helping her husband close the general store they operate in conjunction with the filling station.

Unconfirmed reports said a relative of Braxton, a truck driver, and a soft drink stand operator also were held and that a fisherman was sought at Cape Sable, on the southern tip of Florida. Federal agents had nothing to say about the reports.

Two Youths Released.

Two youths were arrested by posse men and taken to Princeton handcuffed together when they refused to answer questions. However, Sherif D. C. Coleman ascribed their taciturnity to connection with a liquor still and ordered their release.

During the day's hunt by nearly 1,000 men, searching parties found the shoebox in which the ransom money was paid, a sheet of brown paper similar to that on which the ransom notes were written, sandwich wrappings, and a stick believed to be stained with blood.

Sherif's deputies reported they found the shoebox which had contained more than 1,500 small bills at the intersection of two roads where Cash tossed it from his car early yesterday in response to a prearranged signal of blinking automobile lights. Near the box was a piece of paper bearing a crude map of the area.

Look for Finger Prints.

The brown wrapping paper bore writing, but the words were not disclosed. The papers, the stained stick,

REDS TO FURNISH ARMS IN FIGHT AGAINST JAPAN

BY DONALD DAY.
(Picture on Back Page.)

RIGA, Latvia, June 1.—A nine point treaty between the soviet government and the Chinese republic has been signed in Moscow, it was disclosed today. The text has not been published, but it was officially stated that the agreement concerns additional soviet help for the Chinese in their war against Japan.

Soviet officials said the most important point of the treaty is that the Chinese government has promised to grant the soviet government exclusive privileges in China. The nature of these concessions was not disclosed.

Accepts Russia's Offer.

China also was reported to have agreed to accept Russia's offer to provide a number of expert advisers who will assist the Chinese in reorganizing their government and administration. One of the principal duties of the communist advisers will be to direct propaganda against Japan, train agitators, and strengthen military spirit among the Chinese.

The treaty was negotiated by Dr. Sun Fo, son of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, the "father of the Chinese republic." Sun Fo, who is president of the legislative yuan [council], ranks second to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of China.

He recently arrived in Moscow accompanied by a delegation headed by two generals, Mo Tsi-dan and Dan Min-lan. It was Sun Fo's second journey to Moscow this year. The first visit was in January, when he negotiated the preliminaries of the treaty. Foreign diplomats in Moscow said they believed the treaty will have an important bearing upon developments in the far east.

War Chiefs Join Parley.

Maxim Litvinov, soviet commissar of foreign affairs, took little part in the discussions. Instead his deputy, V. P. Potemkin, together with Klementi E. Voroshilov, commissar of war; Gen. B. H. Shaposhnikov, chief of staf, and V. M. Molotov, president of the Council of People's Commissars, conferred with the Chinese delegation. The discussions lasted more than two weeks.

Immediately after the formal signing of the document Voroshilov ordered Marshal Vassily Bluecher, commander of the soviet far eastern army, to fly to Moscow to assist in arranging for the dispatch of Russian military instructors to China.

It is said the treaty also specifies the immediate delivery of sufficient equipment to motorize two Chinese divisions and the sending of four squadrons of planes, totaling 72 machines.

Prepare to Send Arms.

A report from Moscow said Marshal Bluecher already has arrived in the soviet capital. It was said that after the conclusion of negotiations among Chinese military experts and Voroshilov and Shaposhnikov, Bluecher will return to his headquarters at Khabarovsk, Siberia, and supervise the delivery of munitions and the sending of technical experts to China.

Officials of the commissariat of foreign affairs, who have discussed the treaty with foreign observers, said that the soviet government has obtained small material advantages from the treaty. However, the political gains are considered an important diplomatic success. It is believed they will strengthen Moscow's prestige in the far east.

BLOCK JAP RESCUERS

SHANGHAI, June 2. [Thursday.]—(AP)—Chinese reported today their troops had blocked the efforts of Japanese to send reinforcements to a beleaguered Japanese division near Lanfeng, on the central front.

Capture of three villages north and east of Lanfeng kept the Japanese from lifting the siege of the division commanded by Lieut. Gen. Kenji Doihara, Chinese said.

Cheered by the appearance on the front lines of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese predicted the Lanfeng area would become a "second Taierchwang"—a repetition of the Chinese victory over Japanese forces on the Shantung province front on April 6.

On other parts of the 250 mile central front, where Japanese are attempting to gain full control of the east-west Lunghai railway preparatory to a push southward to the provisional Chinese capital at Hankow, Chinese gave ground slightly under heavy aerial bombardment.

In the Lanfeng area, Chinese ringing the Doihara division withstood fire from Japanese guns on the north side of the Yellow river and prevented Japanese from crossing to relieve their beleaguered comrades.

Chinese at Hankow said the situation east of Kaifeng, important railway point twenty-four miles west of Lanfeng, was stalemated because Doihara's division was too weak to break through encircling lines, but still too strong to be driven out.

Kaifeng, ancient capital of China, is the first major objective of Japanese driving westward along the Lunghai. Next is Chengchow, forty miles to the west, the junction point of the Lunghai and the Peking-Hankow railroad which leads south to Hankow.

As an aside on the war, river pirates reasserted themselves on the lower Yangtze, robbing the Dollar company river vessel Dollar and two lighter craft which were under tow. The pirates took more than 1,000 bags of rice and stripped the passengers of cash and valuables.

CRIPPLED VICTIM OPPOSES PAROLE OF ROBBER-THUG

Edward Fairweather, who is still crippled as a result of an attack by two robbers in 1933, said last night he was ready to go to Pontiac reformatory today to protest against the granting of a parole to George Nudo, one of his assailants, now serving a sentence of one to twenty years for the crime. The other robber, Tony Fortino, is serving a similar term.

"I have received a notice that Nudo is to have a hearing before the parole board and probably will be released," Fairweather said. "I have protested by letter, and if the board wants me to appear personally I'll get some one to drive me down there."

Fairweather, who lives at 8140 Maryland avenue, was slugged and kicked during the robbery, suffering a broken hip and ankle. Since then he has been unable to work.

100 MILE AN HOUR WIND SWEEPS SOUTH BRITAIN

LONDON, June 2 [Thursday].—(AP)—A lashing 100 mile an hour tornadic wind swept southern Britain early today, wrecking an army camp, razing show tents at Bournemouth's swank Royal Counties Agricultural show, and playing havoc with stands at the Epsom race course, scene of yesterday's Derby.

Lifeboats were called out in many southern ports to help distressed fishing boats, while warships rushed to aid yachts pounded by waves off Weymouth and Plymouth.

Army trucks were called to evacuate 800 troops when a gale flattened every tent in their camp at Manorbier, Wales. A balloon broke its moorings at Dagenham, where a test of London's air defense balloon barrage for checking attacking bombers is in progress.

La Porte County Seeks Funds to Repair Spans

La Porte, Ind., June 1.—[Special.]—La Porte County Auditor Roy Leets is puzzled on how to raise more than $20,000 to pay for replacing or repairing seven bridges and culverts washed away in heavy rainstorms May 18 and 19. County Surveyor John Kelley estimates the cost at $26,700 and the county has less than $4,000 in the emergency fund.

Three County Highway Police Officials Shifted

Chief Lester J. Laird of the county highway police department yesterday transferred George Le Greu from Morton Grove to Willow Springs; Fred Mulhausen from Willow Springs to Homewood, and Henry Andel from Homewood to Morton Grove.

RESTORE SEIZED YANK PROPERTY, U. S. TELLS JAPS

Cites End of Fighting in Area Still Held.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—In a sharply worded note the United States today demanded that Japan return American property in the lower Yangtze valley area of China to American citizens.

The note was presented by Joseph C. Grew, American ambassador to Japan, to Japanese Foreign Minister Ugaki at Tokio.

It complained that, although hostilities in that area ceased long ago, Japan still is occupying American property and refusing to allow American citizens to return to that area.

About 300 Would Return.

About 300 Americans have been waiting to return to their properties since the Sino-Japanese conflict shifted to other fronts, it was learned at the state department.

The American government is particularly incensed over the exclusion of Americans from that area because Japanese citizens have been permitted to circulate freely there.

"The problem of enabling American citizens in China to reënter and repossess their properties, from which they have been excluded by the Japanese military and of which the Japanese military have been, and in some cases still are, in occupation, is giving the government of the United States increasing concern," the note said.

Baptist University Involved.

The protest cited particularly the situation of the University of Shanghai, a large and valuable property, which is owned jointly by the Northern and Southern Baptist missionary societies.

"The premises of the university have been under continuous occupation by Japanese military and naval units since shortly after the outbreak of hostilities at Shanghai in August, 1937," the note asserted. "It is understood that the premises have been used by the Japanese for quartering troops and for military offices, and a portion of the campus for stationing airplanes and supplementing the runway for airplanes on the adjacent golf course, which has been converted by the Japanese into a flying field.

Says Buildings Were Looted.

"During the period of Japanese occupancy several buildings have been damaged and the majority looted . . . Repeated written and oral representations made by the American embassy at Tokio to the Japanese government and by the American consul general at Shanghai to the Japanese authorities there have not so far resulted in bringing about restoration of the premises to the rightful owners."

The protest said that in various places, in the lower Yangtze valley, American business men and missionaries have been prevented from returning to their places of business and stations, and are even denied casual access to those places.

Japanese Allowed to Return.

Many Japanese merchants and their families are known to be in the localities to which the Americans seek to return, the note asserted.

"In view of the fact that Japanese civilians are freely permitted to go into and reside in such areas," the note continued, "as, for example, at Nanking, where some eight hundred Japanese nationals, including a substantial number of women and children, are reported to be in residence—it is difficult to perceive any warant for the continued placing by the Japanese authorities of obstacles in the way of return by Americans who have legitimate reason for proceeding to the areas in question."

The note, handed to the Japanese foreign minister by Ambassador Grew, concluded with:

"My government is confident that the Japanese government cannot but concede that the infringement of and interference with American rights in China by the Japanese authorities involved in the situation to which attention is herein brought are contrary to the repeated assurances by the Japanese government that the American rights will be respected; that the Japanese government will take immediate steps, in complying with such assurances, to cause the return to their rightful owners of the premises of the University of Shanghai and other American property under the occupation of Japanese armed forces, and that the Japanese government will issue instructions to have removed the obstacles interposed by the Japanese authorities in China against return by American nationals to places such as those mentioned in the areas under Japanese military occupation."

CHINA ASKS LEAGUE TO STOP JAP BOMBING OF NONCOMBATANTS

GENEVA, June 1.—(AP)—China today asked the league of nations to take urgent and effective measures to halt what she termed Japan's savage and cruel bombardment of noncombatants.

The protest against "wholesale slaughter of human beings" in aerial bombardments, such as recent attacks on Canton, was addressed to the league assembly, council, and advisory committee on the far east, of which the United States is a member.

It recalled the league resolution of Sept. 28, 1937, saying the league then found there "could be no excuse" for aerial bombardment of open towns [towns behind battle lines] in China.

"Since the beginning of the Japanese military aggression in China not a day has passed without Japanese aircraft bombing Chinese open towns and inflicting a heavy loss of civilian life," the protest said.

CHICAGO CHINESE PARADE TODAY IN PLEA FOR FUNDS

Several thousand Chinese from Chicago and surrounding cities will assemble at Buckingham fountain at 1:30 p. m. today to march through the loop in a Solidarity day parade. The parade will be a preliminary to a fireworks display tomorrow night in Soldiers' field.

Representative Byron M. Scott [D., Cal.] will arrive tomorrow to participate in the stadium event.

Proceeds from the display, sponsored by the United Council for Civilian Relief in China, will be used to aid wounded and destitute civilians in war torn areas. Both events are planned as a preliminary to the national bowl of rice dinners which will be held in hundreds of American communities on June 17, to raise funds to aid the civilians.

JAPAN TIGHTENS HER BELT; FEEDS GUNS 2 BILLIONS

Five Million Spent Daily in Chinese War.

TOKIO, June 1.—(AP)—Japan is rationing herself with terrible sternness to pay for the war with China.

Presumably the poorest of the world's have nots, the nation has been blowing an estimated $5,000,000 daily through her guns and rifles since last July 7.

Experts place the total expenditure thus far at approximately $2,000,000,000.

People Foot the Bill.

The people are paying high taxes and are using their savings to buy government bonds. They are working longer hours, wearing synthetic clothing materials, and foregoing even the few luxuries they normally enjoy.

The need for American dollars is a powerful factor in Japan's precarious financial structure.

In the United States, where she buys most of her necessities, her purchases on credit have been restricted. She is paying cash for most of the airplanes, munitions, oil, cotton, and machinery she gets, and to do this she must buy dollars with her yen.

Nation's Exports Shrink.

At the same time she is meeting the interest on $316,000,000 obtained from American investors before the war began by bonds sold on the American market.

Adding a final touch to what appears to be a dark picture, Japan's exports have shrunk by some 20 per cent and commodity prices have risen.

Germany and Italy, Japan's anti-communist allies, are in no position to help her with credits because they need cash as badly as she.

There are four sides to the Japanese financial picture today: Heavy inroads on resources, greatly increased taxation, restriction of imports to necessities, and rigid control of domestic finance.

Japan Lives Off Reserves.

The nation catches a little rainwater in the form of gold production and some export revenue, but mainly it is living off its reserves and will not sight land until the Chinese war ends.

The empire's gold production, operating under full steam, is approximately $75,000,000 a year. From New Year's day to April 21 this year she shipped abroad $33,500,000 in gold for cash purchases—a drop in the bucket. A whole year's gold output would carry her only two weeks in the war.

Rigid import control started last October when the ministry of commerce and industry listed nearly 700 articles which could be imported only by special permission. Importers say such permission is almost impossible to obtain.

Inside Japan money is controled down to the last yen. The problem is to keep money from leaving the country except for absolute necessities.

NAZI AND ITALIAN PLANES LOSE AIR BATTLE IN SPAIN

Twelve Shot Down by Loyalist Pilots.

MADRID, June 1.—(AP)—Spanish government pilots won a bitterly fought air battle with Italian and German warplanes high over the eastern front today, an official government communique said tonight.

The announcement said that a large number of the Italian and German planes in the rebel service were challenged by the government craft, and that twelve were shot down during the engagement. The governments said five of its planes were lost, four of them within government lines.

Speed Up Teruel Drives.

HENDAYE, France.—[At the Spanish Frontier.]—June 1.—(AP)—The Spanish rebels' swift moving drive from Teruel south toward the Mediterranean today rolled government defenders back to within about 12 miles of Valencia province.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's troops struck deepest to the south, near Rincon de Ademuz, in the Guadalaviar valley near Valencia province's northwestern border.

Government reports indicated the speed with which the rebels were pressing both south and southeast from Teruel toward Valencia. The loyalists finally admitted the loss of Aldehuela, which is in a triangle between the Guadalaviar river and the Teruel-Sagunto highway which runs southeast from Teruel to the Mediterranean.

Advance in Mountains.

From Aldehuela, the rebels pressed on to Camarena, which is eight miles southeast of Teruel. Franco's main forces, driving down the Teruel-Sagunto highway, were beyond Sarrion, which is 23 miles southeast of Teruel.

On the mountainous front between Sarrion and Albocacer, the rebel offensive broke through government defenses, scaling difficult heights. A strong loyalist guard was unable to stem the rebel tide which reached Mount Golosa, a peak which is 5,500 feet high. The rebels claimed an advance averaging five miles along the sector from Sarrion to Albocacer.

Action on the short coastal sector from Albocacer to the sea at Alcala de Chisvert was negligible.

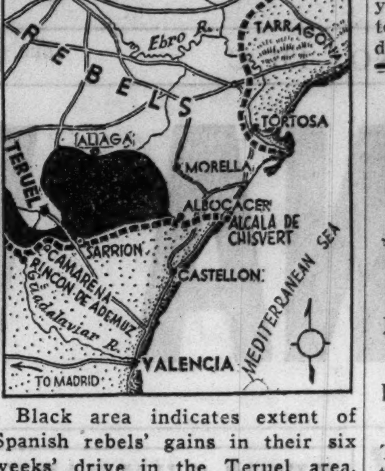
Gen. Franco yesterday visited Vinaroz, the ancient fishing town which was captured in the rebels' spring drive to the Mediterranean, and reviewed units of the rebel fleet.

Protest Sinking of British Ships.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—Sir Robert Hodgson, British agent general at Burgos, today protested Spanish rebel attacks on British merchant vessels in Spanish waters and at the same time was reported to have sounded out Gen. Francisco Franco on the subject of a truce between the rival Spanish elements. Three British vessels have been sunk since May 24 during rebel air attacks on Valencia.

Advance Teruel Line



Black area indicates extent of Spanish rebels' gains in their six weeks' drive in the Teruel area. The drive began on April 23 with the capture of Aliaga. Yesterday the front was almost a straight line from Rincon de Ademuz to the sea. Loyalists claimed yesterday to have won an air battle above the area. Loyalist territory is indicated by dotted portion of map.

BERLIN IN A RAGE AS CZECH SHOOTS 2 NAZIS IN A CAFE

Prague Is Assailed After New 'Provocation.'

BERLIN, June 1.—(AP)—The German press attacked Czechoslovakia anew tonight over a "provocative" incident at the troubled frontier town of Eger.

Eger, on Czechoslovakia's extreme western tip where the country juts far into Germany, was the scene of a cafe brawl last night in which two Sudeten Germans were wounded when a Czech army sergeant fired his revolver.

Some Nazi quarters responded with a bitter charge of "continued monstrous Czech provocations," and the Berlin press referred to the "intolerable situation" of the Sudeten Germans, a 3,250,000 German minority living in Czechoslovakia along the German border.

Called Act of "Drunken Czech."

In other quarters, however, the episode, one of a long series involving Czechs and Sudeten Germans in recent weeks, was viewed more calmly and was minimized as an act of "a drunken Czech."

The Berlin newspaper Nachtausgabe, taking a belligerent view of the new Eger incident, warned "London, Paris, and Prague to note that we are keeping a record of every incident, every murder, every shooting, every provocation, and every border violation, and that some day we will present a bill of responsibility to those who, whether in Prague or other capitals, have assumed command of the Czechs."

It was at Eger that on May 21 two Sudeten Germans were killed by Czech border guards when they failed to halt at a frontier post. The incident resulted in a rush of troops to the border and an overnight European war scare.

Blame France and Britain.

The Nachtausgabe accused England and France—termed "the justices of the peace in Czechoslovakia" — as "bearing without doubt the responsibility for the untenable situation."

The Eger affair was regarded by the paper as "proof of the systematic provocation of patrols dispatched by night to Sudeten German cities."

Other Berlin newspapers regarded the incident as "another example" of Sudeten German discipline in a situation which might lead to "unforseeable results."

Czech officials were investigating the incident to learn why the sergeant was permitted away from his quarters at so late an hour.

The Czech version was that the sergeant fired at the floor in self defense, while the German view was that the Czech officer fired when two Sudeten Germans shouted "Heil."

Inspect Fortified Areas.

At Prague an official Czech statement disclosed that Defense Minister Frantisek Machnik, accompanied by Jan Surovy, inspector general of the Czech army, inspected several fortified areas and military formations from May 29 to 31, and that members of a parliamentary control commission also inspected frontier areas. The statement did not disclose whether any new action would develop from these steps.

Czechoslovakia is expected to raise the period of compulsory military service from two to three years when parliament meets June 15. This would mean that a third annual contingent of from 70,000 to 100,000 men would be added to the two contingents which form the country's standing army.

UNITY FREEMAN-MITFORD.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—State department officials tonight said they had received no information concerning the reported detention of a Chicago youth and three companions in Czechoslovakia on suspicion of espionage.

Dispatches from Carlsbad, Czechoslovakia, reported that William Mueff of Chicago was detained temporarily with Miss Unity Valkyrie Freeman-Mitford of London, Phillip Stranklin, an English writer, and George Wollner, a Sudeten German [Nazi] deputy in the Czech parliament.

Mueff, who was reported to have appealed to the United States legation in Prague for aid in obtaining his release, said the four were detained when Czech gendarmes found an autographed picture of Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Miss Freeman-Mitford's luggage.

The girl, who is 23 years old and the daughter of Lord Redesdale, is a personal friend and admirer of Hitler, who is reported to have met her in a coffee shop in Munich in 1934. She wore a swastika to a Hyde Park, London, rally for loyalist Spain last April 10 and had to be rescued by police from a mob.

BRITISH TO EMPTY LONDON IF ENEMY RAIDS IT IN WAR

Ready to Move Millions to Rural Havens.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—Great Britain is preparing for war to the extent that it is ready to evacuate 3,500,000 persons from London to havens at least fifty miles away within seventy-two hours.

This was disclosed in the house of commons tonight by Geoffrey Lloyd, parliamentary undersecretary to the home office, during a debate on air raid precautions.

Lloyd said the government has worked out a plan with railway companies for the mass evacuation of almost half of Greater London's population of 8,400,000 in case of emergency. He announced plans also have been drawn up to take care of such refugees in rural encampments.

Buy Millions of Sandbags.

Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, announced the government has purchased 32,000,000 sandbags for use in air raid shelters and has ordered 275,000,000 more. He said 5,000 trailer pumps are being purchased for use in putting out fires and that shelters accommodating thousands would be erected in London's park system.

Previously Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told parliament that plans for immediate military conscription in event of war have been completed. He denied, however, that the plans included drafting industrial workers into war work wherever they are needed.

"The outlines of the scheme in the form of a draft bill providing for compulsory military service on the outbreak of war have been in an advanced state of preparation ever since 1922 and have been the subject of consideration by successive governments ever since that date," the prime minister said.

Admits Studying Scheme.

"No such scheme has been worked out for application of compulsion to industrial and other nonmilitary service, although from time to time consideration has been given to the question of how to make the most efficient use of the nation's manpower in wartime."

Chamberlain added that parliamentary assent would be necessary before any law could be passed for compulsory service in industry.

FRANCE TO PURCHASE MACHINERY FROM U. S. TO BUILD WAR PLANES

PARIS, June 1.—(AP)—France has drafted American brains and machinery to increase her first line fighting planes from 1,400 to 2,600 by next April.

Members of the chamber of deputies air committee disclosed today that the government hopes virtually to double French active war planes and has called upon American industry for aid.

The program involves an estimated expenditure of 3,500,000,000 francs [$94,500,000], of which 900,000,000 francs [$24,300,000] would go to buy American machinery for French aviation factories.

Of the prospective total of 2,600 planes, 900 would be pursuit craft and the remainder would be divided into other classes, including heavy bombers and scouts.

Air committee members said they were informed by Chairman Lucien Bossoutrot that in return for a recent order of 100 Curtiss pursuit planes American manufacturers had agreed to send engineers to France to advise the air ministry.

Bossoutrot said European war threats made it necessary to enlist American aid.

BILL TO DRAFT MONEY IN TIME OF WAR DOOMED

Senate Leaders Hold No Hope for Passage.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Senate leaders today declared that there is no chance of passing at this session of congress the bill of Senator Josh Lee [D., Okla.] providing for forced loans in time of war or during so-called emergencies arising from the imminence of war. Senator Lee's bill has been reported favorably by the military affairs committee and is on the senate calendar.

The proposal to draft the use of money in war emergencies is doomed, according to all indications, along with the various other wealth conscription measures pending in both houses of congress. The house military affairs committee has reported favorably a bill by Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] to draft labor and industry and set up a totalitarian state in the event of an emergency arising from the threat of war. A minority report condemned it as a "blue print for fascism."

All Measures May Die.

These and all similar measures will die when the 75th congress adjourns sine die, unless there should be a special session between now and next January, leaders declare.

Senator Lee's bill provides for the taking of a census of the wealth and financial obligations of every person in the United States whenever congress shall declare war or shall "declare that the imminence of war has created an emergency which in the judgment of the President is sufficiently serious to necessitate an increase in the military establishment by the drafting of man power."

Based upon this census, the President would cause to be prepared a list setting forth the net wealth of all persons and the portion thereof subject to the borrowing power of the government.

Graduating Borrowings.

The borrowing portion of the individual wealth would be graduated from 5 per cent of the portion in excess of $1,000, and not in excess of $10,000 up to 75 per cent of all over $100,000,000. For these forced loans, the government would issue bonds, payable in fifty years and bearing interest of not more than 1 per cent.

The President could accept, in lieu of cash, property or services in payment for the bonds. Also, he could accept the notes or other obligations of the citizens, which would bear interest at 6 per cent, and on the security of such property or notes he could issue currency or other obligations of the United States.

Bill Provides Penalties.

The bill provides penalties of imprisonment for not more than two years and a fine of not more than $10,000 for the making of false statements in connection with the census. For failure to purchase the allotted quota of bonds, the penalty would be a maximum of five years imprisonment and a fine of $100,000.

Lee's bill is opposed by both the army and the navy and by the treasury department. Louis Johnson, as acting secretary of war, told the committee: "It is the belief of the war department that any war, to be prosecuted successfully by this nation, must have the support of the people, financial as well as moral and physical, and that with such support, forced loans such as provided in the bill S. 2911 would not be necessary.

Department Against Bill.

"The war department therefore is of the opinion that the bill is not in the interest of the national defense and recommends that it be not enacted into law."

The treasury department said it would be impossible to administer the measure successfully because of the difficulties of determining such things as the "net wealth of the nation," the "gross wealth and financial obligations," and the "net wealth of each person covered by such census."

"The indefiniteness of these terms is obvious," Secretary Henry Morgenthau said.

Important Points in Florida Kidnaping

After Jimmy Cash, age 5, was kidnaped from his home in Princeton (1) his father made two auto trips (2) to make contact with abductors. He finally tossed out $10,000 in cash, which is now the object of a search (3), while government agents direct a hunt for the kidnapers from their headquarters (4).

HUNT FOR BILLS PAID TO RANSOM KIDNAPED BOY, 5

Quiz Suspect; Florida Posses Find Clews.

and the shoebox were sent to Miami for examination for finger prints.

The posses were called in after sundown, Sherif Coleman explaining that the presence of rattlesnakes made it dangerous for the men to prowl the palmetto thickets and citrus groves after dark. The men were ordered to report again at 7 a. m. tomorrow to continue the hunt. Volunteer divers were asked to report with equipment tomorrow, ready to search water filled pits where limestone has been quarried.

Meantime laboratory technicians have been examining the three notes left by the kidnapers. Cash found the first note pinned to the door of his brother's nearby home. It directed him to go to the home of a Negro south of Princeton. There he found detailed instructions for contacting the kidnapers on a drive through the countryside.

When Cash failed to meet the abductors on his first drive, some one, apparently one of the kidnapers, tossed through the window of his home a stone tied to a third note which instructed him to make a second drive over the route when the crowd about his home had diminished. On the second drive Cash delivered the ransom.

Admits Extortion Attempt.

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—While authorities pressed an intensive search for the kidnap slayers of Peter Levine, 12 years old, in the belief they were habitues of the abduction scene, federal agents in Detroit announced today that a man held there had admitted an attempt to extort $20,000 from parents of the victim.

The Detroit prisoner is William Morrell, 48 years old, an itinerant upholsterer. He was arrested last night in a rooming house in Charlevoix, Mich. Federal agents said he had been sought for three months, during which he was trailed through Indiana and Michigan.

John S. Bugas, chief federal agent at Detroit, said there was no suspicion that Morrell had any part in the abduction of the boy, whose body was found Sunday in Long Island sound. Morrell's wife and two daughters live at Cadillac, Mich.

A high police official of New Rochelle, N. Y., where Peter Levine lived, said he is convinced the boy was stolen and slain by persons thoroughly familiar with the Long Island sound shore in the vicinity of New Rochelle. The official expressed the belief the kidnapers were residents of the boy's home town or the immediate vicinity.

MAYOR OF JOHNSTOWN FACES HEARING TODAY ON BRIBERY CHARGE

Johnstown, Pa., June 1.—(AP)—Mayor Daniel J. Shields and Councilman Fulton I. Connor will be given a hearing tomorrow on charges of bribery, extortion and malfeasance in office growing out of the creation of a special police force during the Bethlehem Steel company strike last summer.

An information filed last night by County Detective John F. Carroll at the direction of District Attorney Stephens Mayer accused the mayor of having accepted $36,449.50 contributed by the company to preserve law and order during the C. I. O. walkout in June.

The information charged Connor, a treasurer of the Johnstown citizens' committee formed to maintain law and order during the strike, with having received $25,000 from Francis C. Martin, chairman of the citizens' committee, and C. R. Ellicott, general manager of Bethlehem's Cambria plant.

TAVERN OWNER KILLS DELIVERY DRIVER IN ROW

Joseph Fanning, 38 years old, a delivery driver, was shot and killed last night by Michael Visich in the latter's tavern at 6956 Wentworth avenue. Visich was arrested by Acting Captain Walter Healy of the Englewood police.

Frank Mendyk, 674 North Peoria street, said he and Fanning had stopped in for a few beers, when Visich suddenly began cursing the men's employer. When they objected, Mendyk said, Visich swung at them with a pick handle.

Mendyk said he and Fanning picked up two chairs to defend themselves, whereupon Visich seized a revolver and fired two shots at Fanning, killing him. The tavern owner declared the men had tried to rob him. Fanning's body was found behind the bar, where, another witness said, Visich had dragged it in an attempt to bolster his robbery story.

flow thus reduced, will dry up in a few months, he asserted.

"Such an uproar will go up from the middle west when the results of the cutoff become apparent that congress will act quickly to cure conditions," Parsons said.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] said that a 1,500 foot diversion will not maintain a 9 foot channel in the Illinois waterway.

"The senators who are interested in the development of the Mississippi," he added, "are never going to agree to let a commission fix the amount of water that can be diverted from the Great Lakes into the river."

Senator Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.] approved the provisions for developing water power on the American side, but declined to approve financing of the construction on the Canadian side.

Hits "All-British Canal."

Senator Royal S. Copeland [D., N. Y.] called the project an "all-British canal," built mainly at American expense.

Mr. Roosevelt never has ceased to exert his influence for the revival of the St. Lawrence project for the purpose of carrying out water power development plans, initiated when he was governor of New York. His coadjutor from the start has been Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York state power authority, under which the estimated 1,100,000 horse power of electric current would be developed on the American side. The treaty was not dispatched to Canada until Walsh had given it his approval.

MINTON SEEKS FUNDS FOR QUIZ ON NEWSPAPERS

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], successor to Justice Hugo L. Black as chairman of the senate committee created to investigate lobbying activities, is expected to receive $15,000 of the additional appropriation of $25,000 which he requested. Well informed sources in the senate said that Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], chairman of the committee to audit and control the senate's contingent expenses, had agreed to give Minton that amount.

Minton intends to use the additional appropriation for an investigation of newspapers. He has denounced the press for criticizing the Roosevelt administration and introduced a bill to make it a felony, punishable by two years' imprisonment, a $10,000 fine, and six months' suspension of publication, to print anything "known" to be untrue.

AT 61, HE'S 1ST TO WED IN JUNE IN MARRIAGE COURT

To William Brill, 61 years old, a widower, and Mrs. Marie Turner, 31, a divorcée, went the distinction yesterday of being the first couple to be married in the county building Marriage court in June. They had obtained their license May 20, but had waited until yesterday for their wedding. Brill lives at 23 North Menard avenue. Sidney Summerfield, chief clerk in the marriage license bureau, said the state hygienic marriage law kept down the usual rush of couples to be married June 1.

The number of licenses issued yesterday was 137, a comparatively light day, Summerfield said.

President Asks Power to Rule Pump Spending

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Ignoring repeated protests in the senate against the use of relief funds for political purposes, President Roosevelt today demanded that the pending 3 billion 247 million dollar spending and lending pump priming appropriation be approved without restrictions to permit the greatest possible flexibility of administration.

In a letter to Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.], manager of the bill, Mr. Roosevelt also indicated that he wanted the bulk of the money put into circulation this summer and fall, which would mean before the congressional elections are held in November.

"It is obvious," he said, "that undertaking projects next winter or spring will not contribute to the serious necessities of this summer or autumn."

Senate Holds Night Session.

In the first night session on the pump priming bill, the senate tonight approved without a record vote a committee amendment providing $212,000,000 for so-called price adjustment payments to farmers. These subsidies will supplement the bounties now being distributed at the rate of $500,000,000 a year under the soil conservation act. The amendment, as modified on the floor by Senator Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.], its author, limits its payments to 10 cents a bushel on wheat, 5 cents a bushel on corn, 2 cents a pound on cotton, 1 cent a pound on tobacco, and 1-5 of a cent a pound on rice.

The senate also voted to increase from $25,000,000 to $100,000,000 the lending authorization for the rural electrification administration. Funds for this authorization will come from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, whose lending limit recently was increased by $1,500,000,000.

Condemn Political Use.

For a week Democratic senators who have been marked for political extinction because of their opposition to one or more administration proposals have condemned the juggling of relief appropriations to influence elections. The immediate cause of the controversy was the interference of WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins in the Iowa Democratic primary.

The opposition Democrats are urging amendments to earmark the entire appropriation of 865 million dollars in new money for the Public Works administration, 450 million to go for PWA projects previously approved, 325 million for flood control projects heretofore authorized by congress, and the remainder for the army housing program. Privately, however, the opposition leaders say they have little hope of placing such restrictions on the appropriation.

In his letter to Senator Adams, Mr. Roosevelt said the unemployment situation had grown worse since he proposed his pump priming program in a message to congress six weeks ago. If the government is to relieve unemployment, the time element, he said, is an essential to success.

Asks Emergency Powers.

"Furthermore, it is hoped that private industry and finance, because of deferred needs and lessening inventories, will be in a position a little later on to increase private employment," the President added. "Emergency employment, therefore, should come right away instead of being deferred to a time when it may synchronize an increase in private employment.

"It is the gap existing now that we want to fill. Therefore, I greatly hope that the emergency appropriation bill in its final form will put no restrictions on the immediate starting of works projects and that it will make possible the selection of those projects which can be got under way most speedily.

"To this end, flexibility of actual administration is essential. I cannot too strongly point out that there is unanimous agreement in the executive branch of the government that the appropriation, flexible in administration, should have as its principal objective putting the greatest number of unemployed to work in the shortest time."

Administration leaders in the senate reversed themselves today with respect to the amendment of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] to set aside 150 million of the 1 billion, 425 million eight months WPA appropriation to be used in emergencies for direct relief. The appropriations committee had earmarked only $50,000,000 for this purpose. Vandenberg's amendment was overwhelmingly defeated yesterday, but today Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], the majority leader, offered an amendment to permit the WPA to use any amount for direct relief. Barkley finally placed a limitation of 125 million in his amendment and it was adopted.

Senator Vandenberg offered the amendment to meet emergency conditions in large industrial centers. Barkley explained that thousands of coal miners in his own and other states were idle and that it might not be feasible to locate a sufficient number of work projects in their vicinity to take care of them. Also, he said, he had been advised that it would be necessary for the Surplus Commodities corporation to purchase large quantities of supplies for direct relief requirements.

Warns of Rising Taxes.

Senator Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.] warned the senate in a discussion of the spending program that the country is faced with "crushing taxation, inflation or repudiation." Senator Tydings explained that 3½ billion dollars of the government's annual revenues of 6 billion dollars now come from miscellaneous taxes paid by the masses of the people, while income taxes and corporation taxes make up the remainder of 2½ billion dollars.

Senator Tydings presented figures compiled by the department of commerce showing that from Jan. 1, 1929, to Dec. 31, 1935, all private enterprise, including agriculture, paid out 23 billion, 529 million dollars more than it took in.

"In the meantime," he said, "the government also has been spending more than it has been taking in, and the national debt has soared from 20 billion to approximately 40 billion dollars.

Puts Jobless at 14 Million.

"Now we have 14 million people unemployed. All agricultural prices are down. It is important that we know these facts, for after nine years of depression, we must face the unvarnished truth, in order to move along safely from this point. It is obvious that business cannot contribute in the future as it has in the past, for neither agriculture nor any other branch of our American business has the money. It appears, therefore, that the one thing left is government credit, and how far we can use that up by borrowing against the future is a problem for us all to think about."

ROMANTIC ROBBER MEETS VICTIM THIRD TIME--IN COURTROOM

The girl with whom Arthur Trygg fell in love at first sight met him in Felony court yesterday. And she identified him as the romantic bandit who wooed her while holding her up on two occasions in a Western Union telegraph office at 2655 North Clark street. She's Miss Clover Doremus, 26 years old, the office manager, who didn't fall in love with him.

Clover Doremus.

Judge John J. Rooney held Trygg to the grand jury on three charges of robbery, and set bonds at $30,000. Trygg is 26 and a parolee from Joliet penitentiary. He was arrested last Thursday when, police say, he was returning to hold Miss Doremus up a third time.

WOUNDED BANDIT'S BOND $20,000.

Henry Sebelik, 18 years old, 1809 West Ohio street, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $20,000 by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the Boys court yesterday on four charges of robbery. Sebelik was shot and captured May 18 after he had robbed a filling station attendant at 1339 Hubbard street of $30. Other victims have since identified him.

Don't Be Fooled About Constipation!

Many people, when constipation hits them, just reach for the medicine shelf, dose up with a physic, and try to forget it—till the trouble comes back. And come back it usually does—more and more often—till you get at its cause.

If you eat what most people do—just bread, meat, potatoes—chances are just this fact causes your trouble: lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

If that's the reason for your trouble, what you need is a good dish of crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars." Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ASSEMBLY FIGHT STIRRED BY CITY MANAGER BILLS

Foes Oppose Loss of Power in Wards.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—[Special.]—Legislative proponents and opponents of the city manager plan assembled their forces today for what promises to be the most intensive battle of the special session. Their strength will be tested in the house of representatives next week.

Proponents were defeated 79 to 39 last night when they tried to advance the enabling legislation. They face another fight next Wednesday when their bills will be before the municipalities committee. Most of the big lobby that has been besieging Gov. Henry Horner and the legislators will be on hand.

Chicagoans Lead Fight.

According to literature of the Chicago City Manager committee, which is directing the lobby, more than 100 civic bodies, churches, and clubs have indorsed the plan to allow cities to determine, by referendum, whether they shall adopt the council manager form of government.

The lobbyists made a determined drive toward their goal at the regular session last year but failed. In the interim before the calling of the special session ten days ago, they flooded the governor with telegrams and requests that it be included in the special call. In the face of this barrage, Mr. Horner acceded.

Horner's message said he felt cities should be allowed to decide if they wished to change their form of government.

Referendum Is Requested.

In outline, the key bill in the series of five—which are being handled in the house by Drennan J. Slater [R., Evanston]—provides that Chicago, for example, by a referendum could supplant the present council of 50 ward aldermen with nine men elected at large.

These nine would appoint a city manager, who need not be a Chicagoan nor a resident of Illinois, who would be the chief executive officer and the exclusive head of the administrative branch of government. A mayor would be elected from the council but the city manager would remain the nominal head of the municipality.

Leaders of the Chicago Democratic bloc were joined last night by a number of downstate Democrats and by Republicans from all parts of the state in sending the bills to the municipalities committee.

Aldedman Needed, Says Maypole.

Two of the Chicago leaders made known their stand today. One of them was Senator George M. Maypole of Chicago, a former alderman.

"I served in the city council for fourteen years," said Senator Maypole, "and I know how essential it is to the people of any ward in Chicago to have some one in public office to whom they can properly go with their problems.

"I also am opposed to the idea of having selected, by any such small group as nine councilmen, an individual who can be brought to run the city of Chicago, with virtually complete authority, from any part of the United States."

In the house Representative James P. Boyle of Chicago, chairman of the appropriations committee, echoed what Maypole had said.

Senate Bills Identical.

The senate also has an identical set of city manager bills under consideration, which were introduced by Richard J. Barr [R., Joliet], and Richey V. Graham [D., River Forest]. They were referred to the committee on corporations and municipalities last night.

The house advanced to third reading the legislation required to expand Chicago's airport. Passage tomorrow is likely. Two measures allow relocation of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad track to provide adequate landing space for larger planes.

The former Chicago theater man agreed to pay his wife $1,400 a month as long as his gross income is $3,000 a week; $10,000 in cash and $15,000 in three instalments. They were married in 1934.

HUNGARIANS TOLD TO DEVELOP ARMY AS A SAFEGUARD

BUDAPEST, June 1.—(AP)—Airing Hungary's grievances over the question of her minorities in Rumania, Jugo-Slavia, and Czechoslovakia, Foreign Minister Kolomon von Kanya told parliament today that the Hungarian army must be developed "at all cost" as a safeguard against aggression.

Hungary, he said, believes in friendship with Germany and Italy. He asserted the international position of these countries was much stronger than that of league of nations adherents. He termed it a result of the Rome-Berlin axis that league supporters are being pushed increasingly into the background.

As for Hungarian minorities abroad, Von Kanya said Hungary was prepared to negotiate separately on the question with the countries involved. Referring to the recent Czech military mobilization, he said Hungary considered the step as nothing short of an unfriendly act, adding that "a difficult situation" was averted through "Hungarian calmness."

PROPOSE LITTLE WPA FOR STATE AS RELIEF PLAN

Bills Are Submitted to Senators.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—[Special.]—Bills to establish a state-financed little WPA for reliefers who can work, and transfer all others to local pauper rolls were introduced today in the senate by the legislative committee which is seeking a permanent relief setup.

Secondary in interest, since the legislature last week ended the immediate relief funds crisis with a $4,500,000 state appropriation, was the continued struggle over more money for the unemployed. A bill was introduced in the senate to remove the limit on local tax levies for relief.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and Gov. Henry Horner were invited to appear tomorrow before the house committee of the whole to tell what Chicago and state funds may be diverted for the indigent.

Theory Is Explained.

The little WPA bills embody the recommendations of a committee headed by Senator D. T. Woodard [D., Grayville]. These attracted wide attention when published recently. Senator George C. Dixon [R., Dixon] explained the underlying theory of these measures.

"We must separate the permanent, unemployable relief clients from the shifting mass of jobless who are able to work, if we are to get anywhere," Senator Dixon said. "They present different problems and require different handling."

After abolishing the Illinois Emergency Relief commission the bills would establish a work relief division within the state department of public welfare. This new division would supervise work relief committees in each county, headed by superintendents who may not be professional social workers.

Direct Relief for Idle.

Employable reliefers would be assigned to projects devised by the county committes. State funds would be used to pay wages, and also for materials and equipment for either state financed or federal WPA projects. Only when projects are lacking could direct relief be paid for from state funds.

Work relief wages must be based on living standards prevailing in the county where they are paid, the bill states.

All reliefers found by physical examination to be unfit for work would be placed on rolls of the township supervisors, who would have an entirely free hand so far as outside supervision goes.

Seek Decentralization.

"For years we have been trying to break away from central domination of our relief," Senator Dixon said. "Even under the plan put into effect two years ago, and in cases where townships receive no state relief funds, they are compelled to make red tape reports to the IERC."

The bills fail to provide for closer relationship of relief and public employment agencies, to get reliefers back into private work. Sponsors said this would be left up to the proposed state work relief department.

Senator Dixon predicted the bills will find favor with the majority of legislators. In substance, the legislative committee plan differs from one prepared by Gov. Horner's citizens' committee in that it would separate reliefers who can work from unemployed.

Predicts More Complication.

A relief official commented that the legislative committee plan would further complicate the relief structure by adding 102 county administrative units to the 1,452 township units now existing.

"We believe that limiting the township supervisors to the use of their locally raised taxes will force economy," said Senator Woodard.

Mayor Kelly is opposed to the bill making possible unlimited increase of the present city relief tax levy of 30 cents a $100 of assessed property valuation. Real estate, no longer a good investment, he said, cannot stand the strain of additional taxes.

Kelly Seeks More License Fees.

Mayor Kelly desires to stave off any such unwelcome measure and has had several conferences with the governor on a licensing bill. They will meet tomorrow to plan enabling legislation which, the mayor believes, will produce in the neighborhood of 3 million dollars annually in fees from certain industries doing business in Chicago.

City Controler Robert B. Upham will be on hand tomorrow to help the mayor convince the house committee that Chicago has reached the bottom of the barrel and that no more city funds can be diverted for relief.

Two hundred relief clients, who did not obtain an audience from either house today, sat around the legislative halls after these bodies adjourned. Most were from Vermilion county.

CHARGE RED TAPE BLOCKS AID FOR JOBLESS IN CITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—[Special.]—A report charging that red tape and lack of coöperation between the Chicago Relief administration and the Illinois State Employment service have prevented the service from doing much to find jobs for Chicago relief clients has been in the hands of Gov. Horner for over a month, it was learned here tonight. The report was made by the Illinois Council on Public Assistance and Relief, members of which were appointed by the governor.

The employment service is supported by the state and is supposed to aid any unemployed job seeker, whether or not he is on relief, without charge. CRA rules provide that all able bodied persons on relief must register with the service so they will be available for jobs.

Method Called Ineffective.

The council report was said to state that this method of finding jobs for those on relief was ineffective under the present complicated arrangements between the two agencies. The report was also said to state that coöperation between the CRA and the service is more of a gesture than a real move to work together.

The report was based on a survey of more than 500 cases chosen at random and studied by council investigators working in the employment service and in CRA offices. The investigators found that nearly a third of the cases they chose either had never reached the service's files to become available for jobs, or had gotten into files which showed them as not seeking work. Here is how the system is supposed to work:

John Jones applies at a CRA office for relief. The social worker decides whether Jones is employable [between the ages of 18 and 65 and without physical defects that would make him unfit for work] or unemployable. If Jones is deemed employable the social worker makes out a record on him in quadruplicate.

How System Works.

The social worker keeps one copy and sends the other three to state employment office. The office in turn sends Jones one of the slips telling him to call and register. When, and if, Jones registers one of the two remaining slips is sent back to the social worker.

If Jones fails to register within two weeks the social worker is supposed to stop his relief. If Jones has registered there is supposed to be a card for him in the files of job seekers in the employment offices.

Too many of these ifs and suppositions are not fulfilled, the council reported to Horner. The slips are lost or misrouted in many instances, the report said.

The report also was said to have charged that differences between CRA and employment service workers as to whether persons could be considered employable caused trouble and confusion.

Suggest Standard Procedure.

A recommendation that employment representatives be placed in each of the CRA offices was included in the report. This, the report said, would serve to standardize procedures, bring home to those on relief that they should seek a job, and cut down the vast amount of paper work which causes a great percentage of the error at present.

Heads of the CRA now are considering establishing a central office to which all applicants for relief would apply. If this were done the employment service functions, under tentative plans, would be carried out for those on relief in the central office.

State employment executives are said to oppose placing their employés in the relief offices. These men have often expressed the opinion that joining the two offices would hurt the ability of the service to obtain jobs.

BLAMES U. S. OFFICIAL IN DISAPPEARANCE OF SPY RING WITNESSES

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—Disappearance of two of the most important witnesses in the investigation of an international spy ring here was blamed on United States Attorney Lamar Hardy today by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation.

Hoover's accusation, in the form of a terse statement issued through Reed Vetterli, head of the F. B. I. office here, said:

"There is not the slightest scintilla of truth in the report of a shakeup in the New York office of the federal bureau of investigation. The responsibility for the disappearance of Dr. Ignatz T. Griebl and the witness Werner G. Cudenberg is the responsibility of the United States attorney and not of the F. B. I."

It was learned Hoover has taken the position that his bureau's responsibility for the witnesses, both of whom left this country on German liners, ended after they had been turned over to Hardy's office.

Free the Railroads!

Too greatly burdened for their own and the nation's good, our American railroads today seek:

Freedom—

From subsidies to competing carriers; restrictive and expensive railway legislation; perpetual rate reductions for early land-grants; toll-free and unregulated water transportation; government operated barge lines; excessive taxation; expense of separating grades and changing bridges to benefit competitors.

Freedom—

To make rates that will move more traffic; revise rates of pay to increase employment; carry through labor hearings on full equality with employes; consolidate and co-ordinate by negotiation; operate equally with others on highways and waterways.

The complete program thus summarized is available in booklet form. Write me at Chicago for your copy.

Its Admission Is Ordered After 2 Day Battle.

Quotes Words of Officials.

Sullivan, James testified, said to him:

"Jimmy, I think Collison [L. Glenn Collison, father of the dead girl] is a dirty rat for swearing out that warant against you. I know you're not a murderer. I want to help you. I am your friend, and I can get you out of this mess, if you will go along with me and agree to my story, which is that you and your wife were scuffling and the gun went off."

Piper, young Crabb asserted, said to him:

"Jimmy, you no doubt resent Catherine [his stepmother] being there and having ousted your mother, and this will be a good chance to get even with her. Say that she did it."

And Russell, Crabb testified, tried still a third tactic.

"He said," Crabb related, "that my mother was outside going crazy and that I surely wouldn't want her in an insane asylum and that if I would agree to his story they would save my mother from going crazy, and the inquest would be reopened and I could go home."

Cassidy Starts Quizzing.

Prosecutor Cassidy began his cross-examination by asking James what time Sullivan made his statement to him.

"About 4 or 4:30," Crabb replied.

Q.—Was that the only thing that Sullivan said to you that day? A.—[Firmly] What do you mean?

Q.—That "Jimmy, I think Collison was a dirty rat — — ?" Did he say anything else? A.—He repeated that quite a few times.

Q.—How many times? A.—I don't recall.

Q.—Half a dozen times? A.—Probably.

Q.—Ten times? A.—I couldn't count.

Q.—What is your best judgment as to the number of times? A.—He told me that probably a couple of times.

When an audible titter arose in the courtroom Cassidy whirled around and protested to the court that it was "too delicate and material an issue" for laughter. The court agreed, and admonished the spectators.

Q.—Did he always use the same words—that Mr. Collison was a dirty rat? A.—That was the main theme, or—substance.

Alone in Room, He Says.

Q.—Was there anybody besides you that heard him say it? A. [firmly]—Mr. Sullivan and I were the only ones in the room.

Similarly with the quotation from Piper, Crabb testified it was made "quite a few times." He did not know how many.

Q.—On any of these occasions when he said that was there anybody within the hearing of Mr. Piper besides yourself? A.—No, sir, Mr. Piper and I were alone.

Of Russell's quotation, Crabb said he "wouldn't know" how often it was repeated. Possibly ten times, he said. Again, they were alone, he added.

Q.—Did Mr. Russell say anything else to you? A.—That was his main substance, the main theme.

Q.—Did Mr. Sullivan say anything further to you with respect to the story that you have related? A.—That was his main theme.

Q.—Did he add anything at any time? A.—Not that I recall.

Q.—Did Mr. Piper say anything further? A.—That was the main theme of his—grilling.

Witness Turns to Judge.

When pressed for details as to what Piper had said young Crabb faced Judge Daily and said, "He said to say there was a scuffle and during the scuffle the gun went off."

Q.—Did he give any other details? A.—Just to say the gun was in my hand.

Q.—You must have a fairly vivid recollection of what happened, haven't you? A. [plaintively]—I don't know what you mean.

Q.—But you can recall what he said to you, can't you? A.—Not all of it.

Q.—Can you give any further details? A. [patiently]—That was the substance of it.

Goes Over Details of Story.

Cassidy, going over part of the shooting point by point, as outlined in the confession, asked Crabb just what points Sullivan had suggested. Crabb's usual answer was, "I don't recall." He often interspersed this with a request that the question be repeated, saying, "I can't hear you, Mr. Cassidy." He remembered quite well, however, he said, with a loud and distinct enunciation of each syllable, that he was not "treated like a gentleman."

Each of the three officials quoted by young Crabb then was recalled for rebuttal, following which Defense Attorney Powers read a thick brief of objections to the admissibility of the statement.

State's Attorney Quizzed.

The morning session opened with the testimony of State's Attorney Russell, one of the seven present at the Tazewell county jail when James' alleged confession was made. Russell, a rather small man with dark eyes shining from behind his spectacles and a slow, drawling voice, corroborated the testimony of six witnesses yesterday that the confession was voluntary.

On cross-examination, Defense Attorney Powers sought to make an issue of the fact that the warant for James' arrest ordered that he be taken forthwith before a magistrate.

Q.—Did you ask the sherif to take Mr. Crabb before a magistrate? A. [yawning]—No.

Q. The reason you didn't was you wanted to question him, wasn't it? A. [noncommittally]—We wanted to question him.

Q.—You approved what the sherif did? A.—I didn't make any expression of it that I know of.

Evokes Courtroom Laughter.

Q.—You didn't want his attorneys to see him? A.—Well, they'd been with him about 10 or 12 days. I didn't think it was necessary. [At this the courtroom laughed gayly.]

Q.—You assumed from the beginning that he [James] wasn't telling the truth? A.—Yes—I didn't believe him.

Later the defense sought to make Russell admit he had attempted to work on young Crabb's finer sentiments to make him change his original story. Russell denied this.

Q.—Didn't you tell him his wife was in a suicide grave and he'd be better off if he said it was a scuffle and an accident? A.—Not exactly that, no.

Q.—Did you say it was too bad to let it go that his wife committed suicide? A.—No.

Q.—You told him he didn't want his mother to go crazy, didn't you? A.—No.

Special Prosecutor Cassidy then arose.

"That's the extent of the proof, your honor," he told the court.

HOUSE PASSES NEW FOOD AND DRUG MEASURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—A measure supplanting the 32-year old pure food and drug law was passed by the house today without a record vote. The senate has passed a similar measure, and differences between the two bills must be worked out in conference unless the senate accepts the house version.

An attempt to put more teeth in the measure was defeated. Representative Carl Mapes [R., Mich.] sought to strike out of the bill a section permitting district federal courts to enjoin enforcement of food and drug orders promulgated by the secretary of agriculture.

Proposes Appeals System.

As a substitute he offered an amendment providing for a system of appeal from agriculture department orders similar to that permitted for appeals from National Labor Relations board orders.

Representative A. W. Robertson [D., Va.] fought the Mapes amendment, asserting that it would place all manufacturers of food and cosmetics "at the mercy of the department of agriculture." The Mapes amendment was beaten, 57 to 34.

Provides for Tests.

The bill brings drugs, therapeutic devices, and foods under regulation of the department of agriculture. It prohibits alteration or misbranding of cosmetics, 94 foods and drugs, requires adequate tests of products before they are placed on the market, provides for license restrictions to control bacterial contamination of foods, requires warning labels on habit forming drugs, and provides for factory inspection.

CINDER MARKET BUOYANT AFTER A LOVE MERGER

Bransfields Agree to 30 Day Truce.

James F. Bransfield and his wife, Clara, known as rivals in the cinder business and as the Battling Bransfields for their tilts in the divorce courts, agreed last night to a thirty day truce in an effort to recapture the happiness that once was theirs.

At the suggestion of Judge John J. Lupe they are going to live together again for that period and see if they can forget their marital difficulties. And Judge Lupe warned: There must be no talk of business.

Each Runs a Business.

Bransfield is head of the James Bransfield Cinder company. His wife operates a similar business under the name of the Bransfield Cinder company.

Mrs. Bransfield filed suit for separate maintenance, asking an accounting of her husband's business and sufficient alimony for herself and their three children. Bransfield, through his attorney, Norman Becker, accuses his wife of taking his best customers for her cinder business.

Talk It Over with Judge.

Judge Lupe's idea was that a reconciliation, besides solving their domestic troubles, would end their business worries by combining their cinder companies. So yesterday Mrs. Bransfield, her attorney, Daniel Nagle, the Bransfield children and Bransfield with Attorney Becker talked things over with Judge Lupe in his court chambers.

After a three hour session the Bransfields walked out arm in arm. As they beamed Judge Lupe told of the 30 day trial reconciliation. Bransfield, he said, is to court his wife again, while she is to cook the dinners he likes best. But business conversation is taboo.

Judge Lupe added, however, he would hold Mrs. Bransfield's separate maintenance suit—just in case.

Appeals Court Considers Ousted Principal's Plea

The Illinois Appellate court here yesterday took under advisement oral arguments in the mandamus suit of William T. McCoy, ousted principal of the Bowen High school, against the board of education for reinstatement. McCoy is appealing the ruling last October of Judge John J. Lupe, who dismissed his bill.

37,086 MEASLES CASES SET NEW RECORD FOR CITY

A total of 37,086 cases of measles was reported in the first five months of this year compared with 1,277 in the same period in 1937, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said yesterday. In 1935, the previous record year for the disease, there were 21,165 cases up to Jan. 1. There have been 38 deaths from measles this year, while in 1935 there were 65 deaths in the first five months. The prevalence of the disease is now decreasing, however. In May 1,481 new cases were reported, fewer than in any preceding month this year.

MEI-MEI SITS FOR SCULPTOR, FINDS IT BORING

Mei-Mei, panda ingénue at Chicago Zoölogical park, Brookfield, has turned model. Robert Bean, assistant director of the zoo, said yesterday that she is being sculptured by Deno Buralli, a Michigan artist, and that the clay model will be presented to her captor, Mrs. William H. Harkness, when the latter returns from the orient. Mei-Mei, apparently bored, has sat rigidly still for the artist, who says his ceramic panda will be ready by the time Mrs. Harkness brings back two new baby giant pandas to join Mei-Mei at Brookfield.

TVA IN NEBRASKA TURNS RICH FARM LANDS TO SWAMP

Engineering Twists Beset $11,000,000 Project.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, Neb., June 1.—[Special.]—The Loup river hydro project appears to have turned into an $11,000,000 nightmare for many farmers hereabout. It is one of the three Nebraska power projects which are financed by PWA to the total tune of $52,000,000. Its power plant here is running but with no market for its current as yet.

The project is beset with engineering difficulties. One is the silt in the river, which gives a thick soupy consistency to the stream and hypothetically is to be sucked out of the water by a dredge. Another is the difficulty in keeping the water in the project's channels. It wanders over the landscape.

The water leaks through the porous sandy soil until rich farm lands near Babcock reservoir have been turned into swamps. Cellars of farmhouses are flooded, and the district has a squad of pumpers who tour the seepage areas to pump cellars dry two or three times a day.

Barns and Elevators Shut.

One sees watergauges in farm house basements, set up by the district to show the water stages. Barns and elevators are closed in parts of the swamped region, groves of old trees are tumbling in places, unable to stand in the mud. Rubber boots and high galoshes are part of the housewives' costume.

To drain the leakage from its channels, the Loup district is building two drainage canals flanking Babcock reservoir. The water level in the lake has been lowered to reduce the pressure. But still the water bubbles up a mile and more from the reservoir.

District officials say the silt is beginning to seal the leaks and they take an optimistic view, but swamped farmers express themselves quite decidedly to the contrary. They seem to think the more abundant life filled with kilowatts extracted from a silt filled stream has a strong taste over the palate.

Tour Made of Region.

This observer made a 92 mile tour of the project and talked with farmers injured by the seepage. The Bailey farm, south of the reservoir, lies between the lake and the new drainage ditch which the district is building to drain off the leaks from its project. The new ditch skirts the Bailey farm, and although it is filled with water, the corn fields and meadows are still flooded. As to damages, the idea seems to be to laugh it off. "They say they have no money for damages," said the farm matron.

Next the farm of Edwin Loseke, north of the reservoir, was visited. The farmer was plowing a rich bottom field and halted as he swung his four horses around.

Calls Project Cockeyed.

"Seepage?" he said. "Well, that hydro project is drowning me out. Look at those furrows. I'm so cockeyed mad I'm plowing crooked furrows, but they're not as cockeyed as the Loup power project. This land, the Shell creek bottoms, is some of the best in the state. It grows stuff that takes prizes at the state fairs. Look at it now. That field over there is so muddy it can't be worked. Hit it with a plow and the water gushes forth like Moses smiting the rock.

"Over yonder is a farm where the seepage has brought a white deposit on the land that looks like alkali. The men in town on the district board are all right, but wouldn't you think the engineers would have known better? My basement is flooded, and last winter my furnace was put out of commission. And how is one going to collect damages when the district says it has no money?"

Up at the house, Mrs. Loseke put on rubber boots and led the way into the cellar. Early in the day it had been pumped out, but the gauge showed two inches on the floor. The stove for canning could not be used.

"It's injuring the foundations of the house," said Mrs. Loseke. "They pump it out daily, but you see it still running in. If this keeps up a farmer will need to be an amphibian to get along. And for a few silly kilowatts! When you write it up, pour it on strong."

Down the road a bit the celler of Fred Schwank's home was filled with water up to the window sills. The farmer's automobile was parked on the road outside his entrance, on account of the mud. It had not been inside for three months. Access to the place was over boards. It had been a pleasant home in a grove; now it is a house in a swamp.

Cellar Continues to Fill.

"They don't pump the cellar out any more," said Mrs. Schwank. "They used to pump it three times a day, but it kept coming in. We've lived here twenty-three years. We had a fine basement with a separator, a stove, and good storerooms. Now the water comes out of the windows sometimes. You can imagine what it has done to the house foundations.

"The barn has got water in it and we've closed it up. We can't let the cattle out of the regular gate, because they'd be mired. On our lowlands the water sometimes bubbles up in jets. It doesn't seem right for farms to be treated like this, for a little electricity."

A bit further along, Mrs. Ed Asche put on her galoshes and led the way into the basement, well laid out with rooms. The water was three inches high.

"Every morning and afternoon the district pumps the cellar out," said Mrs. Asche. "The water is wrecking the foundations. Look at the high water mark on the wall. It was almost up to the firebox of the furnace. We've had water here for nine months. Can't plant a garden, can't even hoe the ground up. Corn and alfalfa fields are inundated.

"Look at these ash fire logs. They've been so long in water they're sprouting leaves." [Believe it or not, the logs had green sprouts from the bark a foot and a half long.]

A mile or so north of Babcock reservoir the Jacob Gottberg place was visited, a lovely farmstead hedged by trees.

"The district pumps us out every day," said Mrs. Gottberg. "There's about a foot in the basement now. They've put in a gauge to show how high the water gets. You can imagine what this seepage has done in the fields. Wouldn't you think the engineers would have foreseen this? And lots of farms are worse hit than this one."

Resembles Florida Swamp.

Along the road about a mile north of the reservoir, the E. L. Mueller farm, now largely a morass, was visited. With a few alligators and palmettos it would pass for a Florida swamp.

"No better land in the state than this Shell creek valley," said Mr. Mueller, "until this Loup power scheme came projecting along. I'm able to put in only 30 acres of corn this year, where usually I would plant 200 acres. The place is full of sink holes. It's dangerous to keep cattle in some fields. The cess pool is caved in.

"The district has put in a pump, and the basement has to be pumped every three hours. In my elevator, the water is more than two feet high and I can't get grain in or out. My sileage is all spoiled. I had a farm which would make glad the heart of any farmer. Now you can see it's a swamp. And just to squeeze a little electric juice out of some water that doesn't want to stay where they put it. It's enough to make the most patient farmer cockeyed, isn't it?"

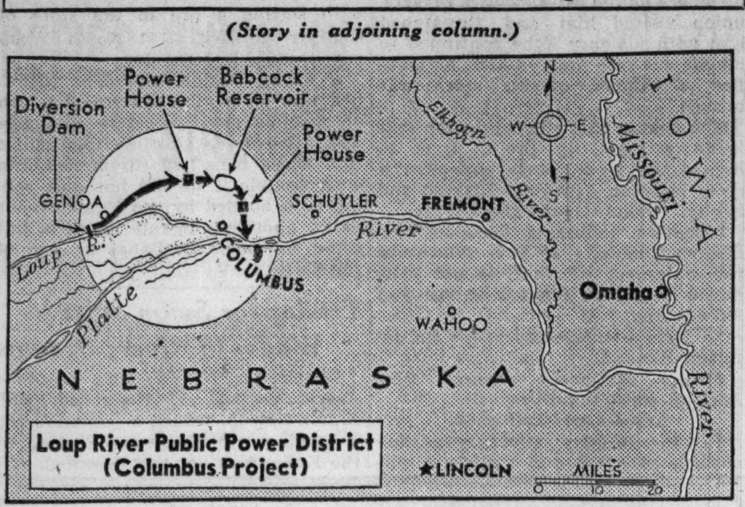
Farmer Mueller led the way to a grove of trees. Some of them had tumbled over. Others, heavy with foliage, had sunk into the swampy mud and were leaning. He spoke of spots where in the winter, when ice was in the ground, the seepage had bubbled up and had made rounded cones of earth a foot high. A slough to the north of the reservoir is to be turned into a second drainage ditch by the district in the hope of collecting its leakage.

At one end of Babcock reservoir, where men were fishing for catfish, one farmer gestured toward seepage areas and echoed the views heard along the route.

"If this is to be part of a little TVA in Nebraska, it's screwy," he said. "They think more of a kilowatt than a farmer. And if the engineers weren't able to make this little Loup project work right, how efficient would they be in running all the public utilities in Nebraska, which they aim at? These ruined farms make it look like a cockeyed flop."

Power Dream Becomes a Nightmare

(Story in adjoining column.)



The circle marks the area in Nebraska in which the Loup river power project, financed by PWA, has caused farmers no end of worry. The arrow shows the direction of water diversion, which has caused engineering difficulties. The water wanders over the sandy countryside, turning farms into swamps and flooding farmhouses.

AIR TEST OF CLIPPER IS PLANNED TODAY IF ENGINES ARE O. K.

Seattle, Wash., June 1.—(AP)—A gigantic flying boat designed to make possible mass travel over Atlantic ocean airways, rode at anchor tonight in Seattle's Elliott bay. Tomorrow pilots may test its great orange and silver wings, on which are mounted four 1,500 horsepower engines.

The first flight of the forty-two and a half ton Atlantic Clipper was delayed until Eddie Allen, test pilot, satisfied himself that the motors, designed to carry a maximum of seventy-two passengers on ocean voyages, were turning over as they should.

The famous DO-X which flew the Atlantic was much heavier than the Clipper, but it did not prove to be capable of long and regular transoceanic flights. Engineers of the Boeing Aircraft company, which built the Clipper, expressed confidence it would fly up to specifications.

TAX PENALTY ON; LAST DAY'S RUSH NETS 6 MILLIONS

Approximately 6 million dollars of 1937 property taxes was paid at the office of County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer yesterday, the last day for making payments before the 1 per cent monthly penalty is added. Yesterday's payments brought to $38,500,000 the total 1937 taxes collected in the main office at the county building. This does not include payments received by township collectors nor a substantial part of mail payments.

The collector's office will begin tabulations today of the last minute mail payments, which are reported to be unusually large this year. A final report on total 1937 collections before the deadline will be made next week. The June 1 penalty date brings the county within one month of a normal collection date, the nearest approach to the regular May 1 schedule since a fourteen months lag in billings resulted from the 1928 tax muddle.

TEACHERS' UNION REBUFFED IN PLEA FOR RECOGNITION

Johnson Refuses to Agree to Fixed Meetings.

Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson refused emphatically yesterday to recognize the Chicago Teachers' union as sole representative of the 14,000 teachers in the public school system.

In addition, he refused to agree to fixed monthly meetings with the union's delegation and announced instead that beginning next fall he will hold regular conferences with a group that will represent all teacher organizations. The purpose will be to adjust differences that may arise between the teachers and the administration and to give the administration the benefit of the teachers' viewpoint.

Dr. Johnson's statement was made to a union delegation headed by John Fewkes, gymnasium teacher at the Tilden Technical High school and president of the union. Fewkes immediately objected.

Demands Bargaining Power.

"All the 8,500 teachers who belong to the union feel that it should represent all the teachers in the system," he said. "Conferences such as you suggest would be similar to company union dealings. The teachers would be afraid to disagree with you."

"Has any one been fired for disagreeing with me?" Dr. Johnson asked.

"It is not a question of being fired. Teachers are concerned with their promotions."

"I welcome suggestions, but I reserve the right of making final decisions. And I want to meet all organizations. Every teacher should belong to some professional organization, whether it be a kindergarten teachers' club or the union. But I will not discuss school matters with one group as against another group, or as against teachers who belong to no group."

Experts on Both Sides.

"You could get an unbiased viewpoint from our group."

"I am not so sure. You don't consider yourself an educational expert, do you?"

"No. But we have our expert committees."

"And so have I. Plenty of them," said Dr. Johnson dryly.

In closing this phase of the discussion, Dr. Johnson stated that the teacher conferences of next fall will be similar to the teacher council groups of several years ago. These were discontinued under the economy budget during the depression.

The committee then asked that Dr. Johnson recommend to the board of education a system under which teachers would be granted ten days of sick leave with full pay each year. This would be allowed to accumulate, if not used, to a total of sixty days, of which a teacher might take advantage during a serious illness. The delegation asked in addition that the teachers be allowed twenty days' sick leave at regular pay, less wages paid to substitutes.

Johnson to Seek Sickness Pay.

Dr. Johnson said he would ask the board to grant the ten day cumulative sick leave with full pay, but not the additional partial pay period, adding that if each teacher in the system should take ten days' sick leave next year it would cost 12 million dollars.

Fewkes replied that the teachers would not take time off unless really sick. Dr. Johnson's counter proposal, he said, would have to be referred to the union before being accepted.

The superintendent stated in reply to another request that there will be no further extension of certificates issued to persons who have passed high school teacher examinations, but who have not been called in as substitutes. Unless the applicant is called in his certificate lapses after three years.

Besides Fewkes, the delegation included five teachers, Joseph Keenan, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and Kermit Eby, executive secretary of the teachers' union.

APPROVE CODE'S CHAPTER DEALING WITH HOSPITALS

The city council subcommittee on the building code yesterday recommended for passage by the full committee on building and zoning the chapter of the new Chicago building code dealing with hospitals.

The committee made no major changes in the chapter as it was drafted by Mayor Kelly's commission of experts. The chapter contains two changes from the provisions of the existing code. It permits hospitals up to seven stories, or 80 feet, high to be of semi-fireproof construction, whereas the old code demanded fireproof construction in all such institutions more than two stories high, and it requires an emergency electric lighting system with storage battery power for operating rooms.

A subcommittee headed by Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st] will meet today in the city hall to consider reduction of the present fire limits by placing additional territory in the provisional fire limits. Under a chapter of the code now awaiting passage, frame houses are permitted in provisional fire limits. They are forbidden within the fire limits. The provisional limits now embrace only about 3 per cent of the city's area.

CHARGES C. I. O. MILK UNION IS COMPANY RULED

A. F. L. Attorney Fights Injunction Plea.

Charges that a new union organized among employés of cut rate milk companies by the Committee for Industrial Organization is in fact a company union were made yesterday before Charles A. McDonald, master in chancery of the federal district court. Master McDonald is hearing the plea of the C. I. O. union and the milk companies who employ its members for an injunction restraining from violence the Milk Wagon Drivers' union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

On cross-examination of Nicholas P. Kost Jr., president of the Amalgamated Dairy Workers, the C. I. O. unit, Attorney David Riskind for the A. F. of L. union, brought out that Kost is a nephew of Joseph Kaiser, president of the Lake Valley Farm Products company, and lives in the same building with Kaiser. The Lake Valley company employs members of the Amalgamated union and is a plaintif with that union in the injunction suit.

Attorney Arthur H. Seelig, representing the milk company and the C. I. O. brought out in rebuttal that most of the members of the Kost family are in the milk business, and that Kost's father, Nicholas Sr., has been a member of the A. F. of L. union for many years.

Known as Vendors.

The driver members of the C. I. O. union are what is known in the milk business as vendors. They buy milk at wholesale from the cut rate dairy companies and sell it to stores, which retail it at prices below those charged for home delivered milk by the companies employing A. F. of L. drivers.

Jesse Wilson, owner of a cut rate milk store at 2815 North Troy street, testified at yesterday's hearing that members of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union visited him and threatened him with violence if he continued to handle cut rate milk. Later, he testified, a window of his store was broken.

The charge that the injunction suit is an attempt by the C. I. O. to harass the A. F. of L. provoked a clash between Attorneys Riskind and Seelig. Riskind made the charge.

"That's a deliberate, lousy lie," exclaimed Seelig. "If you will make the statement where it is not privileged I will be pleased to sue you for slander."

"I have witnesses to prove it," retorted Riskind.

In the Felony court yesterday charges of arson and malicious mischief against Harry Banas, 2529 Wayne avenue, a member of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, were continued to June 16. Banas is charged with setting a fire in the store of Charles Gottlieb, 3144 North Western avenue, last Sunday.

A filling station attendant identified him as having purchased a can of gasoline shortly before the fire was discovered. Gottlieb told police that three men had threatened him with trouble if he did not quit selling milk bottled by the Meadowmoor dairy, another cut rate concern, but could not identify Banas as one of the three.

Does Your Breath Broadcast—"I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

Most people who wear plates or bridges suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing cannot prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing can stop "denture breath"—and that's Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists. Users say it's a blessing.

Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic

Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

AUTO WORKERS' UNION BALANCE DROPS IN YEAR

Expenses Exceed Income During Last of 1937.

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—[Special.] —The United Automobile Workers of America took in $822,899 during the last half of 1937 and spent $1,068,789, according to the semi-annual report made to the organization's 5,000 odd locals.

From June 30 to Dec. 31 the union's treasury balance fell from $428,779 to $182,889 Of the December balance, $103,953 was in United States government bonds, held in a reserve fund.

Biggest item in the disbursements was $218,294 in salaries of organizers and office employés. Expenses for organizers and office employés totaled $127,571.

C. I. O. Gets $82,531.

The C. I. O. got $82,531 in per capita taxes and $77,955 was spent in publishing the International's newspaper.

Next biggest item was $73,904 spent during the period on the drive to organize workers in the Ford Motor company. Results of this drive did not show on the union books since the initiation fee in the case of Ford workers has been waived.

A total of $74,836 in initiation fees for other workers, at $16 per worker, was reported.

The union contributed $36,000 to the C. I. O.'s unsuccessful political campaign in last year's municipal elections here, the report showed.

Air transportat'n, mainly for officers	4,593

President Homer Martin's salary was $1,961, and $2,794 was paid him for expenses.

Richard T. Frankensteen, vice president, was paid $1,739 salary, $1,482 expenses; Wyndham Mortimer, vice president, $1,827 salary, $2,476 expenses; Ed Hall, vice president, $1,846 salary, plus advance of $200, and $1,683 for expenses.

Walter N. Wells was paid $1,904 salary, $1,546 expenses; and R. J. Thomas, $1,230 salary and $552 expenses. Both are vice presidents.

Addes Issues Report.

George F. Addes, secretary treasurer, who issued the report, received $1,904 salary and $1,403 for expenses.

Expenses for regional offices in Illinois and Wisconsin were listed at $5,208.

A payment of $7,000 to the Workers' Alliance of America was reported.

In the receipts column $565,002 in per capita tax payments was listed, indicating about 269,000 paying members. The membership figure, however, probably does not reflect the true condition, since members are excused from dues paying during unemployment.

Next to the per capita tax and initiation fees the biggest item among receipts was $70,278 in the form of an international assessment, which apparently referred to the special assessments ordered for financing the Ford organization drive.

Big Jim Goes on Warpath; His Prized Plug Hat Stolen

Grand Canyon, Ariz., June 1.—(AP)—Big Jim Gwetva, aged Supai Indian sub-chief, was on the warpath today. Someone stole the silk hat President Theodore Roosevelt gave him many years ago when he visited the canyon.

VOTE TO RETURN TO WORK IN CASE COMPANY PLANT

Rockford, Ill., June 1.—[Special.]—Members of local 378, United Auto Workers of America tonight voted to return to work at the J. I. Case company factory tomorrow morning and continue working while their union bargaining committee negotiates a settlement on disputed points with company officials.

The men have been idle since April 25, when the company closed the factory after U. A. W. A. sought to bar nonmembers from working. Nonmembers, including men affiliated with federal union No. 21196, an A. F. of L. unit, have been working since a week ago Monday, when police and deputy sherifs broke through a U. A. W. A. mass picket line with their fists.

Earlier today several hundred U. A. W. A. pickets, including wives and children, blocked the gates of the factory for several hours following the withdrawal of police officers and deputy sherifs from the plant last night.

They withdrew, however, to permit approximately 400 workers to enter the gates at the request of Sherif Paul F. Johnson. Only a few office workers and foremen were permitted to enter the plant this morning.

SENATE PUTS O. K. ON HUGE HIGHWAY FUND

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—Legislation authorizing new federal highway expenditures of $357,400,000 for the fiscal years 1940 and 1941 won final congressional approval today when the senate adopted a conference report previously accepted by the house. Also authorized was the expenditure of $150,000,000 of old, unused appropriations. The measure now goes to the White House.

Senator Carl Hayden [D., Ariz.] said the bill carried $158,500,000 in new authorizations for 1940 and $191,000,000 for 1942.

BUILDING OWNER DEFIES UNION IN LABOR SQUABBLE

Tends Property Himself Despite Pickets.

Nine years ago J. Marshall Peer contracted for the erection of a six story apartment building at 6146 Kenwood avenue. In the course of construction it developed that he would need $50,000 more to complete the structure.

Several of the contractors agreed to incorporate with him in order that materials and labor might be available to finish the building on time. Peer later was to acquire their equity.

Keeps Controling Interest.

While the apartment house was still new the depression began and because of low rents the property was for a time in the hands of a receiver. A year ago Peer rescued it, retaining the controling interest.

Early this week a picket appeared, representing the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, which holds that Peer is violating union regulations by operating the building's heating plant. Peer admitted he does this with the help of his two sons, Jack, 19 years old, and Homer, 17, but contended he is within his rights, since he is, to all purposes, the owner.

The union disagreed with this position, holding that since the building is incorporated—since there are other owners—Peer is in effect an employé. As such, the union contends, he must either join the union or hire a union janitor to run the boiler room. Peer refused to do this.

On the following day two heavy set men took their stand at the rear door of the building and warned union milk, laundry, and ice drivers to make no deliveries there. They obeyed the orders.

Tenants Back Him.

"This is silly," said Peer last night. "Even if I hired a union man I wouldn't let him touch the oil burners and the boilers. I am an instructor in physics at Hyde Park High school and I know enough about these things to insist on supervising the job myself. Besides, it is fun to apply my knowledge of the science.

"My tenants are with me 100 per cent and between us we have evolved a plan that will make the building independent of the union. We don't need union ice here, having electrical refrigeration, and my tenants have agreed to carry home their milk.

"That leaves only the laundry. I am taking steps to install modern equipment in the basement. This not only will solve our problems, but will add to the apparatus I can use in experiments in applied physics."

TOUCHES LIGHT SOCKET; KILLED.

Fred Baches, 51 years old, 1701 North Harding avenue, was killed yesterday when he touched an electric light socket while delivering coal in the basement of a house at 1433 North Ridgeway avenue.

TURN ON TIMED TRAFIC LIGHTS FOR WEST SIDE

46 Miles of Streets Put Under Control.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Chicago park district yesterday afternoon switched on 46 miles of progressively timed trafic light signals, covering all of the main boulevards of the west side. This completed installation of $80,000 worth of control equipment during the last six months.

Theoretically, the average pace of west side boulevard travel will be stepped up 50 per cent by this improvement. In practical application, Otto K. Jelinek, trafic engineer for the park district, said he thought the pace will be advanced as much as 30 per cent.

Adjustments to Be Made.

"The improvement in trafic conditions will be gradual while we are adjusting the timing of the lights during the next three months," said the engineer. "However, there should be a perceptible benefit imemdiately.

"Six months ago, most of the trafic lights on the west side boulevards operated independently. After getting a green at one intersection, a driver might be stopped in a block by a red. We have tied these lights together and and synchronized their timing so that by driving at posted speeds a driver can progress without being stopped.

Can't Always Keep Up.

"On the inadequate east and west boulevards, the new light system will be of benefit, but a driver will not always be able to keep up with the progressive timing as calculated on blue prints. He may be blocked by cross-trafic at intersections without lights or he may be caught in a crowd unable to keep up with the green signals.

"The park district recognizes that this improvement is merely an expedient. We have proposed further immediate relief from delays and congestion by establishing one way trafic on two parallel streets from the city limits on the west to Grant park, a proposal now pending before the city council. We also appreciate that the west side needs a major, modern facility for moving masses of motor trafic."

On the north side, Lake Shore drive trafic was rerouted in Lincoln park yesterday to accommodate construction of connections for the new and third driveway between Belmont avenue and Grace street.

Taxi Driver Sent to Jail for Fleeing an Accident

Accused of fleeing the scene of an accident, David Harris, a colored taxicab driver living at 344 East 43d street, was sentenced to five days in jail yesterday by Judge Stephen Adamowski in Safety court. Police said Harris fled on foot last Sunday after colliding with two passing cars and crashing against a parked automobile in front of 5444 Michigan avenue.

LAUNDRY TRUCK HELPER KILLED AS CARS COLLIDE

Patsy Mazzio, 17 years old, of 1125 South Kedzie avenue, was killed yesterday afternoon when a laundry truck on which he was a helper collided with an automobile at Polk and Carpenter streets. The drivers, Samuel De Pasquale, 714 South Kilbourn avenue, and George W. Raxworthy, 719 Norton street, were uninjured.

Mrs. Josephine Martin, 91 years old, who lived at 4810 North Kenneth avenue, died in the Belmont hospital yesterday shortly after she had been struck by an automobile in front of 4788 Elston avenue. The driver of the car was Mrs. Dorothy Stibal, 3605 North Albany avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 346 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 265 were killed in Chicago, where 7,286 were injured in the same period.

Rail Crossing Accidents Cost 1,875 Lives in 1937

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission reported today that 1,875 persons were killed and 5,136 injured in railroad crossing accidents last year, the largest number of casualties since 1930.

LAY RIDE KILLING TO RACKETEERS; GIRL TELLS TRAP

Will county authorities yesterday were looking into a theory that Fred Vanucci, 3301 Harrison street, a former convict, was slain because of some connection with the slot machine and alcohol rackets.

The body of Vanucci, who was 31 years old, was found in a ditch three miles northeast of Crete on Tuesday. His hands were bound and he had been shot twelve times. His automobile was found five miles away.

Miss Elvira Langebartels, daughter of a farmer living on the Goodenow road east of Dixie highway, told the investigators that she had seen a car resembling Vanucci's forced from the road near her home by a second automobile Monday evening. A woman was riding in the Vanucci car, she said, and three men were in the other.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

SUCCESS BY FORMULA

By CALEB

FEW THINGS are more vivid and impressive in their operation than modern open hearth furnaces, the heart of great steel mills where the sinews of modern industry begin to take shape.

They are, in effect, huge caldrons into which go iron, scrap steel and alloys to melt and seethe for hours under great open flames that hold temperatures up toward 3,000 degrees of solid heat.

The steel furnace charge begins with iron. Back and forth in front of a long battery of furnaces, an electric car charges to and fro, with jangling warning bell and rumble of powerful motor. A long steel finger projects from the car, ending in a shallow dipper carrying ingredients for the batch. The finger is thrust into the bright-pink, hungry maw of the furnace and the contents dumped from its dipper.

Many kinds of steel are made today and the minute variations in formula specified by engineers, calculated by patient metallurgists, and proven by chemists are as vital and important to highly specialized industry as the steel itself.

No less than fifty-two kinds of steel are used today in making a single automobile in one Detroit plant. Each steel is planned for a highly specialized job—to do it better, longer and more safely than it could be done by a standard, older type.

Hence, a touch of nickel, chromium or other alloy in a steel furnace charge may mean the difference between a valve stem and a rear axle. Either type of steel—lacking the one small but essential ingredient—would fail miserably in its work.

I am convinced from hearing experienced and able men trained to appraise their associates, that often the absence of some important ingredient—perhaps a very small amount of it—stands in the way of an individual's success.

Most of us, at least in adulthood, are inclined to accept ourselves as we are. We rarely think of the increasingly exacting world around us. We do not humbly inventory the requirements of our job and seek to change ourselves even slightly in order to better fill them.

That is unfortunate. A mother or father, a salesperson or scissors grinder, a school teacher or truck driver usually can serve the world better (and hence himself) with the addition of a little alloy to the old makeup—an alloy, perhaps, of new information, good humor, patience, friendliness, industry or loyalty.

DON'T SCRATCH, SOOTHE THE IRRITATION

Quick relief from the maddening itch of eczema, psoriasis, poison ivy, and irritation about the rectum or personal parts is obtained by applying an ointment called Resinol. Leave it on over night. It lessens the desire to scratch, and eases the irritation.

The soothing effect of Resinol takes the sting out of the irritated parts and makes you comfortable. The skin heals sooner, too, with the help of Resinol.

The oily base of Resinol Ointment is ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action. Bathing the affected parts first with Resinol Soap hastens the effectiveness of Resinol Ointment. Try this treatment today.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CAVALRY TO GET PRACTICE UNDER FIRE OF PLANES

Fort Sheridan Unit Starts Training March.

Troops of the regular army cavalry stationed at Fort Sheridan were scheduled to begin their annual training march early this morning, leaving the fort at 6 o'clock for Camp Custer, Mich. The cavalrymen are due at Custer on June 11.

Regular army planes stationed at Chicago airport will simulate attacks on the marching troops to give the horsemen practice in meeting and defending themselves against such attacks. Planes from Scott field, near Belleville, Ill., are scheduled to join the Chicago planes in the attacks.

Short March for Today.

A short march is planned for this morning, with the troops making camp at noon near the intersection of Harlem and Touhy avenues. The cavalrymen who make up the first squadron of the 14th cavalry will be accompanied by a motorized supply train.

Lieut. Col. Wilfrid M. Blunt, commanding the squadron, said the supply train will be used on daily trips from either Fort Sheridan or Camp Custer, rather than have the men carry their own rations.

Route for Rest of March.

Tomorrow the men and horses will march south in Harlem avenue to 79th street and east in 79th street to the Golfmoor Golf club, where they will make camp for the second night. On succeeding nights the bivouacs will be as follows:

June 4, Shabbana woods [south of Calumet city]; June 5, stream three miles east of landing field on route 6; June 6, La Porte, Ind.; June 7, Dayton, Ind.; June 8, Dowagiac, Mich.; June 9, Lawton, Mich.; June 10, Kalamazoo, Mich., and June 11, Camp Custer. Each day's march will be about twenty-five miles.

The squadron will spend most of the summer in training at Custer.

50,000 Magazines Seized on Charges of Obscenity

Acting on warants obtained by the Illinois Vigilance association, police yesterday raided the offices of two companies handling magazines, arrested two men, and seized 50,000 copies of various publications. Oscar A. Smith was seized in the warehouse of J. O. Stole & Co., 245 East Grand avenue, where most of the magazines were found, and Joseph Lucas in the office of the Webb-Linn Printing company, 551 South Sangamon street. Both men were charged with possessing and distributing obscene literature.

Sings in Hospital

MISS MARGUERITE HUESTIS.

Six years ago Marguerite Huestis, 5408 Shields avenue, was 10 years old and cried because she couldn't enter the Chicagoland Music Festival vocal contest. The rules said you had to be 16. Several days ago the festival headquarters received her entry, but no photograph, as requested. When asked for one by correspondence she replied:

"I'm sorry to say it will be impossible for me to come to Tribune Tower for my picture. I'm at the Presbyterian hospital. You might come out here and take my picture. I keep the rest of the people in the ward entertained by my singing."

Yesterday afternoon a TRIBUNE photographer visited Marguerite, who hopes to sing on Saturday night, Aug. 20, before 100,000 people in Soldiers' field at the festival concert.

SNITE TO RETURN TO CITY IN IRON LUNG TOMORROW

Frederick B. Snite Jr., infantile paralysis victim, left Miami, Fla., in a respirator, bound for Chicago. He is due to arrive at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Immediately he will be taken to Albert Billings hospital for an examination to determine his progress since he was in the hospital last year. After some ten days he will be taken home to 909 Ashland avenue, River Forest, for the summer.

Accompanied by his parents, his sister, Mrs. Terrence J. Dillon, and Mr. Dillon, and by attendants, he will arrive on the Dixie Limited of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway in the Dearborn station. The party occupies three special cars. A specially equipped moving van will take young Snite, now 27 years old, to the hospital.

Definite progress has been made by Snite since he left here last October, friends of the family said.

WIND, LIGHTNING AND HEAVY RAIN STRIKE CHICAGO

Showers Leave Suburban Basements Flooded.

Many parts of Chicago and its suburbs yesterday were knee deep in June—June rainwater. In two heavy showers, one in the early morning and the other in the afternoon, a fall of 1.25 inches was recorded in the loop and .96 inch at the gauge at the University of Chicago.

The afternoon rain, which lasted only twenty-four minutes, was followed by reports of flooded basements in Oak Park, River Forest, and other western suburbs. The rain was accompanied by sharp lightning and a wind that reached a velocity of forty-two miles an hour.

Electric Wires in Street.

Lightning struck a chimney of the Westlake hospital, 612 North 12th street, Melrose Park, and several residences in that area, but no fire resulted. Trees were blown down at Foster avenue and Broadway and electric wires fell into the street.

Clarence Schieler, manager of a filling station at 19th avenue and Madison street, Maywood, was knocked to the ground and cut on the ear when he was struck by flying débris as lighting split open the side of the station.

Two Rescued in Boat.

After the storm had subsided a sailboat carrying two youths was reported in distress a half mile off 39th sailboat was reported in distress a half mile off 39th street. The Jackson Park coast guard rescued Roy Dufour, 16 years old, 4081 Oakland Crescent, and William Terrill, 16, of 4219 Lake Park avenue, the boat's two passengers.

Humid heat, especially in the downtown area, had been oppressive for several hours before the storm broke. At 1 p. m. the humidity was 79 per cent, with a temperature of 75 degrees—about 30 per cent above normal. The maximum temperature for the day was 77 degrees at 1:50 p. m.

Fair and cooler weather was forecast for today.

PAINTER SHOOTS SELF; DIES.

Raymond H. Petersen, 35 years old, head painter at Northwestern university, fired a bullet through his heart yesterday in his home at 519 Asbury avenue, Evanston. He was dead when a physician arrived.

HUNT JOSEPH WEIL, 'THE YELLOW KID,' IN OIL STOCK SWINDLE

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—(AP)—The trail of Joseph Weil, "The Yellow Kid," turned to Springfield today when Mrs. Margaret Gunnett identified a picture of the internationally known swindler as a man to whom she paid $100 for oil stock.

Springfield detectives, suspicious of a man who cashed Mrs. Gunnett's check at a local bank today, later identified him from police circulars as Weil. They were unable to find any trace of him later.

Mrs. Gunnett said the man posed as a wealthy Chicago physician interested in oil who had promised to buy her several shares.

EARNS $124 BUT NEGLECTS CHILD; GETS 6 MONTHS

Judge John J. Lupe yesterday sentenced Ellis J. Greep, cartage contractor, to six months in the county jail for being $58 in arrears in payments to his estranged wife, Leonda, for support of their adopted daughter, Edythe, 4 years old.

The judge was particularly angered when Greep, of 7156 Cottage Grove avenue, admitted that of $124 he earned during moving week he had given only $6 for care of the child. He had been ordered to pay $8 a week for her care. Greep and his wife, who lives at 6909 Anthony avenue, have cross bills for divorce pending.

JAILED 30 DAYS ON DOPE CHARGE.

Mrs. Frances Bennett, 27 years old, of 1125 Washington boulevard, who was arrested with a quantity of heroin in her possession, was sent to the county jail yesterday for thirty days by Judge Joseph B. Hermes.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes these little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

Can You Afford to Feel RUN-DOWN?

Try MALVAZ at OUR RISK!

Every man knows that his business, his home life (even his golf game) suffer when he feels run-down—his nerves "on edge." Every woman knows that her beauty, charm and happiness depend upon freedom from fatigue, worry and frazzled nerves.

Do you feel run-down, pepless, jittery . . . are you losing your appetite . . . tired all day yet can't sleep at night? Thousands of other Chicago men and women have discovered in MALVAZ a simple, pleasant way to help maintain a normal, healthy tone in the body and nerves. It's the scientific food-drink—so rich in nourishing, vitalizing elements—that doctors and dieticians all over the city are recommending as the ideal "builder-upper" for run-down, neurasthenic and convalescent cases.

Beware of the dealer who, by persisting in substituting something "just as good" when you insist on MALVAZ, shows that he is undoubtedly more interested in his profit than in your health. Just remember that there are three grades of malt, but that MALVAZ is made from the finest fancy BARLEY MALT only, flavored by the finest fancy HOPS obtainable. We pay premium prices to get this quality because it puts MALVAZ in a class by itself.

Try MALVAZ today . . . at our risk! If, after drinking several bottles, you are not fully satisfied, we will refund all the money you paid. Phone CANal 6500 for your carton . . . now!

Beaten Unconscious; Rape Attempt Foiled.

Police of northwest side stations sought last night a broad shouldered man of medium height who assaulted Mrs. Rose Weinberg, 45 years old, widowed mother of an 11 year old son, in Humboldt park yesterday morning.

Mrs. Weinberg was on her way from her home at 1339 North Spaulding avenue to the Von Humboldt school, where she is employed as a WPA clerk, when the man seized her. Dragging her to a clump of bushes, he struck her repeatedly on the face and body and tore off some of her clothing.

Rape Purpose of Attack.

Apparently rape was the motive of the assailant, but physicians at the Lutheran Memorial hospital, where Mrs. Weinberg was taken after a passerby found her unconscious, said she had not been raped. She was suffering severely from bruises and from shock.

Police said they had questioned a number of park loiterers, but had no clews to the attacker's identity except the description furnished by Mrs. Weinberg.

To Reënact Another Sex Crime.

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan is to take Robert Nixon, colored, confessed killer of Mrs. Florence Castle Thompson, to a room in the Devonshire hotel today and let him show how the crime was committed. The portrayal of the crime, which was committed in 1936, was postponed yesterday.

Nixon, who has admitted slaying Mrs. Florence Johnson with a brick in her home at 4631 Lake Park avenue, is suspected of several other killings of women. He will be questioned about the death of Miss Anna Kuchta, student nurse at the Chicago hospital.

SEIZE 3 MORE IN ROBBERY GANG OF YOUNG HUSBANDS

CRIMINAL COURT.
William Chappe and Robert Beruam, burglary, sentenced to one year to life each in the penitentiary; Charles Chase, rape, sentenced to five years in the penitentiary; Robert Schultze, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

Three more members of a robber band, composed principally of young husbands whose wives let them leave home only one night a week, were arrested yesterday.

The first pair captured were Horace Norton, 738 Briar place, and Edward Heniken, 255 North Keeler avenue. Those arrested yesterday are Charles Patterson, 5065 Agatite avenue; Harold Norton, 2322 South Millard avenue, and Ernest Engel, 4546 North La Porte avenue. Engel is the only single member of the gang.

All have admitted that they held up street car conductors to get funds which they spent drinking and attending dances.

LOOTING TRUSTS OF 4 MILLION IS LAID TO SIX MEN

Four of Those Indicted in Custody.

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today announced the indictment of six members of an alleged ring that was said to have looted seven investment trusts of more than $4,000,000 in assets. Four of the defendants are under arrest. One of these is a New York attorney and two others are members of a Boston legal firm.

Philip H. Frear.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

According to Mr. Dewey's office, the ring operated by setting up a "management company" with an investment of $5. Worthless securities were substituted for sound investments in trust portfolios—and in this way thousands of investors were robbed of sums estimated to run into many millions, the district attorney's aids said.

Under arrest in today's indictments were Philip H. Frear, son of former Congressman Frear of Wisconsin, who was seized in Washington; Vincent E. Ferretti, attorney, the Bronx, and Thomas W. Morris and Ralph Robb of the Boston law firm of Morris & Robb. The latter two were taken in custody in Boston.

Investment Placed at $5.

The specific indictment brought against the men is concerned with the removal of securities from the portfolio of the Continental Securities corporation and their replacement by worthless stock of the Fiscal Management company, Ltd., a Canadian firm which they organized on an initial investment of $5.

They obtained control, according to the district attorney, of investment trusts in a truly remarkable fashion, and then took good securities out of their portfolios and put in the shares of Fiscal Management company, which are described as worthless.

There are ten counts in the indictment, six of grand larceny, two of receiving stolen goods, and two of bringing stolen goods into the state.

The charges against Ferretti, Robb, and Morris are based on acquisition of a trust called Continental Securities corporation, bought on Oct. 25, 1937, when it held securities with an asset value of $4,000,000, which by March 31 of this year was reduced to $50,000, according to the prosecutors.

The four arrrested today are said to have done somewhat the same with First Income Trading corporation, Administered Fund Second, Inc., and Reynolds Investing corporation, while it is changed that the two men also indicted but not arrested, and therefore not publicly named, were similarly involved with Burco, Inc., Bond and Share Trading corporation, and Insuranshare corporation, three more investment trusts.

Chicago Broker Indicted on $167,000 Theft Charge

Los Angeles, Cal., June 1.—(AP)—The county grand jury today indicted William Whitcomb, Chicago investment broker, on 23 counts of grand theft. The indictment followed representations of Mrs. Violet Cruger of New York, that Whitcomb misappropriated $167,000 from her here. A telegraphic warant for Whitcomb's arrest will be sent to Chicago.

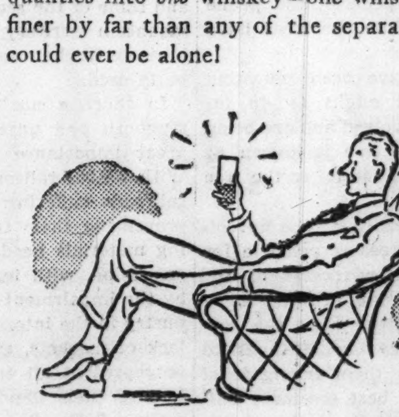
When we say we believe Four Roses is the finest whiskey in America, we're not forgetting for a minute that there are more than 10,000 other brands of whiskey.

But we're so sure of our claim that we ask you to test Four Roses against any other whiskey!

Taste the other whiskey . . . then taste Four Roses . . . and decide for yourself. We think you'll agree—every time you make the test—that Four Roses is America's finest whiskey!

And it just stands to reason that it should be—because of the way we make it. For, while Four Roses is all whiskey, it is more than a single fine straight whiskey. It's a superb combination of several selected straight whiskies—each outstanding for some special quality—aroma, or richness, or smoothness, or flavor.

Brought together, the way we know how, these several fine straight whiskies merge all their noble qualities into one whiskey—one whiskey that is finer by far than any of the separate whiskies could ever be alone!



So take a few minutes, sometime today or this evening, and try Four Roses. We're certain the very first sip will tell you that we're right when we say it's the finest whiskey in America—bar none! Frankfort Distilleries, Incorporated, Louisville & Baltimore.

SEEING ILLINOIS.

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce is suggesting to its large constituency and to the public at large that in their touring and vacation plans they do not overlook the attractions of their own state. This strikes us as a sensible idea and one which needs more emphasis than it has had. Illinois is a much more attractive and interesting country than it has the credit of being, for both historic interest and natural beauty.

We cannot compete on equal terms with the older states of the east and upper south, the history of which covers the long period of colonial life, the revolutionary war and the years up to the settlement of our own region. But Illinois has had a history of significance to all Americans and offers relics of two of the greatest of Americans—Lincoln and Grant—and of others like Douglas, hardly less important in the nation's annals. There are few American towns which have preserved their historic personality and in a more picturesque setting than Galena, forever endeared to America as the home of Grant. Springfield and its region are full of memorials of Lincoln, and there are many places in the state where the thought and feeling of Americans will be reached by memorials of frontier romance and of men and women who have had their part in the nation's history.

As for natural beauty, though Illinois has no mountains, there are noble rivers and rich valleys and woodlands. The prairie district, too, is underestimated. It has much of the quality of the sea. Nowhere else save at sea is the vast arc of the sky and the panorama of the clouds so gloriously displayed. The picturesque variety of hills and valleys is not there, but there is compensation in the sense of spaciousness, and the long vista, comparable to the grandeur of mountain chains.

Americans travel far to see the advertised charms and interests of foreign lands and they are far from neglecting their own country as the world's greatest system of highways and the world's greatest number of automobiles remind us. At this time travel in Europe has its disadvantages and seeing America has never been more worth while. Illinois offers attractions which should not be neglected, least of all by its own people for whom they have special significance and appeal of sentiment.

PRUNE PROBLEM.

America's number one dessert has created a problem which Washington is going to hear about. Too many people are eating apple pie and too few are eating prunes.

California warehouses hold 100 thousand tons of prunes, or a pound and a half for every man, woman, and child, out of last year's crop, and there are enough on the trees to make 222 thousand tons additional. Overproduction again! Or is it underconsumption?

People ate prunes and liked them, or at least they ate them, in the old boarding house days. Apple pie was preferred then, but was not too frequently served. With rooming houses taking the place of boarding houses, and when the habit of eating out became general, the prune market has shrunk. Meanwhile the trees have continued to bear.

The biggest prune men have been reflecting upon what the government ought to do for them. Two plans have been evolved and are being taken down to Washington. One is known as the pregnant sow scheme and the other the free butter plan.

The pregnant sow scheme calls for the uprooting and destruction of the trees responsible for the excess production. The advocates of the other solution argue that prune growing is as honorable as churning, and that what the government ought to do is to buy the 100 thousand tons of prunes and distribute them among relief families as is done with the best creamery butter. The second plan appears to have the strongest support. It's at best an uneven existence—being the recipient of what the government thinks there is too much of. Though you may count on the fanciest grade of butter, you may have to eat boarding house dessert.

THE CCC FOR THE ARMY.

When the Civilian Conservation corps was formed our preoccupation was with our domestic tribulation and, as in all times when external trouble is not pending, pacifistic influence was strong. There was insistence that the corps should be protected from any "militaristic influence" and nothing that even hinted at military forms was permitted to enter the organization. Men of military training, being obviously fitted for the work of organizing and directing so large a body, suddenly called together [500,000 at one time], were necessarily employed, but anything that savored of military forms and discipline was anathema.

Since then war has forced itself again upon the nation's consciousness and even professional pacifism has been moderated, while the administration has become what any pacifist would have condemned as alarmingly militaristic. An unprecedented increase of the navy has been initiated, the army has been granted some increase, and expenditures on modernization have passed without difficulty. In short, the government and the public envisage war as a probability requiring prompt attention and extensive preparation.

In this situation it would seem that policy with respect to the Civilian Conservation corps might be profitably reconsidered. The corps is composed of vigorous youth of military age and its incorporation in the military organization of the nation would not only strengthen national defense but benefit the members of the corps as men and citizens. Military training under the conditions which prevail in the United States is not what pacifistic prejudice and want of knowledge alleges. It is sound physically and morally, and the youths who receive it are benefited, as the membership of the R. O. T. C., the C. M. T. C., and the National Guard, all civilians, will attest. The youth of the CCC would find in the army the moral stimulus of a great service, which is signally lacking in the modified WPA dole they now are receiving.

HASTENING THE RAILROAD COLLAPSE.

Dispatches from Washington say that the Pettengill long and short haul bill is not likely to be enacted at this session. It has passed the house and has received a favorable report from the senate's commerce committee, but the enemies of the bill are threatening a filibuster and its friends don't care enough about it to make the fight.

Of the many railroad bills before congress, only one, the Pettengill bill, offers any substantial hope of rescuing the industry from the fate which is rapidly overtaking it. Already a third of the railroad mileage of the country is in bankruptcy and most of the rest of it is headed in the same direction. Today the income of the railroads is less than it was at the bottom of the last depression and in consequence they are employing fewer men and women than they employed at that time. The Class 1 railroads, which in 1929 employed nearly 1,700,000 men and in 1933 supported 970,000, today have fewer than 960,000 on their pay rolls.

The Pettengill bill alone will not restore the railroad business to health, but it will help a great deal. Its purpose is to make it a little easier for the railroads to increase their business and thus increase their incomes. At present the railroads are quite unable to compete successfully with various rivals, notably ship lines using the Panama canal in trade between our coasts. The railroads for all practical purposes are forbidden to make special reductions in rates for transcontinental business even though the lower rates would be profitable to them, benefit shippers and injure no one.

The Pettengill bill does not go so far as to require the railroads to make such rates nor does it require the interstate commerce commission to approve them if it thinks them unfair. The Pettengill bill merely simplifies the procedure by which competing rates might be instituted. The interstate commerce commission on its own initiative or shippers who believed their business would be injured by the reductions could still present their arguments against the lowered rates and have them suspended until the hearing was concluded. The burden of proof would still fall upon the railroads to prove that their lowered rate structure was fair.

It is almost incredible, but nevertheless true, that the senators from the interior of the country are making no real fight for the bill. The Panama canal worked a most serious injury to the industries of the interior. It gave a huge competitive advantage to the eastern seaboard in the markets of the west coast. The only way by which that handicap can be overcome is by permitting the railroads, on which the interior of the country must depend for its transportation, to offer competing rates into the port cities on the west coast.

That cannot be done at present, but might be done if the Pettengill bill were enacted. With such rates in force the railroads could make a bid for business which now moves by water or does not move at all because of the prevailingly high charges. More carloads of freight would mean increased revenues for the carriers and would both require them and enable them to hire more men. It would stimulate industry in the interior, thus further increasing employment.

The Pettengill bill has the support of all the railroad labor unions and of all the railroads. It has been approved by the American Farm Bureau federation, largest of the farmers' organizations, and by the National Industrial Trafic league, representing several hundreds of thousands of shippers.

The opposition is limited to those who benefit, or think they benefit, from the present injustices. The shipping companies, naturally, are leading the fight, just as they have always resisted the imposition of tolls at Panama which would repay the government for its outlay in building the canal. The ship owners have as their active allies some of the senators from seaboard states and some of the senators from the so-called intermountain territory in the west who imagine that business in their sparsely populated region would be injured.

In short, a small minority, as selfish as it is stubborn and unfair, is blocking a measure of great importance to the country as a whole. With 700,000 railroad men out of work, with the railroads suffering a financial collapse which is preventing them from employing men and buying materials needed for maintenance and modernization, with insurance companies threatened by the impairment of railroad securities, with industry in the interior of the country stagnant for lack of markets, the senators who are supposed to represent all these people and interests are folding their hands, unwilling and unready to make a fight. Some of the senators from interior states, like Norris of Nebraska, are actually ready to filibuster against the Pettengill bill. Economic stupidity and political incompetence were never more clearly illustrated.

A TRUE NEW DEALER.

[New York Sun.]

He was a "relief client," euphemism for that barbaric old phrase about being on the town. He seems to have tried to combine in himself many philosophies of the New Deal. He bought $320 worth of furniture [spend yourself out of debt]. He subscribed to a window cleaning service for his apartment [make work for others when the government is paying for it]. He hired a commercial diaper service for his infant [National Youth administration]. He tore up a relief check because it was not large enough ["I will not let the people down"]. He insulted employés of the Emergency Relief bureau [was he not one of the 27,000,000 voters in power?]. He tried to hit a policeman with a chair [perhaps he had read how the hands of the police were tied in the taxicab riots]. The magistrate sentenced him to ten days in the city prison. Outrage! This "relief client" was trying to express the More Abundant Life. Such a man is needed in Washington.

A NEW YORK SALESMAN called on a storekeeper in a small southern town. "I don't expect to sell you much of an order. Business is not so good, I suppose?" he added, inquiringly. "Terrible," said the storekeeper. "I haven't sold a thing for three days." "Well, with this administration how can you expect anything else," said the salesman, and launched into bitter invective against the administration. Suddenly remembering he was in the south, he said: "O, I'm sorry. I suppose you're a Democrat?" "I certainly am," said the storekeeper. "I've always voted the straight Democratic ticket, and my pappy and grandpappy before me. But if you fellows up north don't quit a votin' it you're a goin' to ruin this country."

Preference.

A little boy whose parents died came to live with his great-aunt in Chicago. She smothered him with affection, and always called him "lambie". He stood it as long as he could, then one day said, "Auntie, don't call me 'lambie.' If you must call me some animal call me 'buffalo.'"

AL'S ON RUSH STREET, where the farmyard dining room is surrounded by a picket fence, with bucolic scenes painted on the walls that inclose it, serves golden brown country fried chicken and spareribs barbecued over a hickory fire. You'll find the autographs of politicians and theatrical and radio celebrities on the fence. Upstairs in the bar you're likely to find almost anybody. Morton Downey was there the other night after his last show at the Chez Paree; so were a couple of famous bandsmen. They serve chicken cream gravy and cottage cheese with your steaks, spareribs, or chicken.

We're Dopey to Print Another Snow White Gag.

Harry Dorph, an executive of a bolt and nut company on Van Buren street, was telling a friend about the return of his mother from Florida and the family party in her honor attended by her five sons, her daughter, and her daughter-in-law, at which she had astonished them by lighting a cigaret. "She's past sixty, isn't she?" asked the friend. "No, she's only in her fifties, but she's snow white." "Ah, Snow White and the Seven Dorphs," wisecracked the friend.

MAY'S FAREWELL.

As moonlight and the dew caressed May,
Who, lost in dreams, sat humming to the tune
Of nightingales' songs heard far away ,
She made a gown of roses for young June.
She draped on her the snowy bridal wreath,
Let crimson rambler trail around the bride;
Then sang: "O June, to you I here bequeath
These pearls, from early morning dew, my pride."
She brushed away the misty clouds that fell
And scattered rose petals on the lawn;
Then softly kissed the lovely bride farewell,
Who, blushing, waited for the coming dawn.
Then in a purple mist Queen May was gone,
While June stood there, radiant, looking on.

Public Friend.

We should like to see a new kind of Who's Who published, listing the unsung faithful public servants of Chicago. Like Eddie Galvin, head usher at the Union station. In his thirty years of service to the public Eddie has been chaperon, cupid, nursemaid, banker, counselor and friend to thousands of travelers. He has bought tickets and made reservations for ex-presidents and ambassadors and theatrical celebrities, arranged birthday surprise luncheons on outgoing dining cars, taken youngsters on sight-seeing trips and to the theater between trains at the request of parents, and reserved seats for sporting events for incoming travelers.

When we went down to see a friend off for the east this week Eddie was bustling between an incoming Milwaukee train and an outgoing New York one, looking after Otto Falk, chairman of the board of Allis-Chalmers. He was clutching a telegram just received from Mrs. James W. Gerard saying that Mr. Gerard, former American ambassador to Germany, was coming in that day and to look out for him. "Mrs. Gerard is the daughter of Marcus Daly—dead now—Montana copper mine king," explained Eddie, who knows everything.

Another diplomat Eddie always attended when he arrived in town was the late Frank B. Kellogg. James Ford Bell and Frank O. Lowden let him know when they are arriving in town. The late Mrs. Lowden was a special favorite of Eddie's. He went to Oregon, Ill., for her funeral. "We cried like babies around here when she died," Eddie said. Another person he misses is Mme. Schumann-Heink. She always wired him when she was arriving, and he made her traveling arrangements. Eddie gets Christmas cards from all over the country. A man wrote him from Hatfield, Herts, England, asking him to make up an itinerary for his visit to the United States. In our new kind of Who's Who Eddie would get a big space.

DO YOU BELONG TO THE ALLERGY CLUB?

A CORRESPONDENT from the south is unable to understand why plant pollen does not prove annoying to all persons alike. The answer, of course, is that every one is not allergic or, to put it another way, sensitive to the particular protein contained in the plant emanations.

One is said to be allergic who exhibits unusual symptoms which may appear on the skin, the mucous membrane, in the nervous system, digestive tract, etc., whenever a certain substance is encountered. This same material will not disturb a normal individual in the slightest degree. The chances are that among our acquaintances we know of some one who is ill whenever he or she partakes of chocolate. Hives, or a rash after eating strawberries or shellfish, is quite characteristic of a few. With those afflicted something is absorbed which upsets the nervous control of blood vessels and other structures.

Now, the tendency is inherited. Whenever it is present in one or both parents some of the children will be affected, perhaps not in exactly the same way or to the same degree. For example, the offspring of a mother who cannot eat strawberries may be exceedingly fond of this luscious fruit and consume great quantities with impunity. In all probability, however, some of the sons or daughters will be prone to asthma, hay fever, or eczema.

We probably could root out all such predispositions if susceptible men and women would not marry. But one cannot imagine a chap saying to his prospective bride, "Now, my dear, I feel impelled to inquire, are you allergic? If so, our engagement is off."

No, we must adopt other means. How? All possible varieties can be determined by appropriate tests. We then can avoid coming into contact with the offending irritants. If a youngster is known to be bothered by horse hair or horse dandruff he can shun those animals. If an infant is sensitive to wheat he may be kept healthy on appropriate substitutes. There probably are more instances than we realize. The common cold may be an example. The chances are that the child who has a series of so-called nasal infections is a victim of allergy of some sort, perhaps from the very bacteria that crowd the air passages. This is the type of young one who may be expected to develop later chronic bronchitis or perhaps asthma. Again, should whooping cough come along, this same boy or girl is likely to have a severe and prolonged attack with subsequent asthmatic manifestations.

Seasonal symptoms—those that come at blossomtime—are not difficult to track to their lairs. Trees are first, then early grasses—timothy, June grass, and Bermuda grass—and, later, the irrepressible ragweed. Fortunately immunizing injections will bring relief in the vast majority of cases, but even such aids will prove ineffectual if the air is heavily loaded with particles which are actually poisonous to the patient. Cross-country hikes and long automobile rides for "hay feverites" are, therefore, not recommended.

There are a number of helpful devices. Last year one of my neighbors discovered that as long as he remained indoors and used a filter ventilator he was comfortable and was able to rest well at night. His trouble was traced to ragweed, although none of these plants grew within a mile of his residence. It was hard for him to believe that pollen grains could be carried a hundred miles or more, high in the air. They are so light that if there is any breeze whatsoever they will be floating about everywhere. This season I know he will be one of the leaders in the ragweed extermination program. One of these days those who are free from hay fever will think enough of the few million sufferers to organize a nationwide campaign for the eradication of this noxious weed.

AVOID VIOLENT EXERCISE.

E. D. writes: My 7 year old daughter has an enlarged heart. Is that serious? What can be done?

REPLY.

This is nature's way of making certain that enough blood will be pumped into the circulation. Enlargement may follow a leak in one of the valves. The heart increases in size, therefore, to provide plenty of blood for the arteries and, at the same time, allow a portion to flow backward into one of the upper chambers. Nothing need be done. In fact, the condition may have little or no significance. Strenuous or violent exercise, however, should be guarded against.

TRY EXTRA MILK.

P. C. writes: My 18 year old son cannot gain weight. He eats and sleeps well. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY.

An extra quart of milk daily—taken between meals—is an excellent procedure. If he is unusually thin, your physician may wish to give him insulin, which will assist him to store glycogen.

NOT A DANGER SIGNAL.

A. R. writes: How can a housewife tell whether pork is infested with trichina [pork worms]? I have been told that it has a pink color.

REPLY.

The encysted worms are usually too small to be seen with the naked eye. If the cysts have become calcified they may appear as tiny, whitish dots. If the meat is done thoroughly there is no danger. A pink color is not a danger signal, but if pork is pink after cooking this indicates that enough time was not allowed.

TREATING LICHEN PLANUS.

T. B. writes: I have been told that I have lichen planus. I have been troubled with it for a number of years, more so in the winter than in the summer months, as the sun seems to clear it up. What is the cause and the cure?

REPLY.

The exact cause of lichen planus is unknown, although with many individuals some nervous instability is present. The trouble appears as small, glazed, reddish papules and is accompanied by intense itching. Local applications of a mercury ointment and X-ray therapy are used.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS.

I. O. writes: Has any progress been made recently in the treatment of multiple sclerosis?

REPLY.

Fever therapy and cutting some of the sympathetic nerves which issue from the cord are being tried. Results are favorable in some instances, but not enough cases have been treated to warant definite statements.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

HE SURVEYS COUNTRY'S PLIGHT.

Bridgeport, Wis., May 30.—In your issue for May 25 we hear from "a real American working man," who has language not strong enough to express his disapproval of THE TRIBUNE in its attitude toward the New Deal. Well, all working men do not see alike. I am another American working man, having worked for a railroad company for fifty years. I glory in the brave, outspoken stand of THE TRIBUNE. It does not state the case too often or too strongly.

What has the administration done for this country that could win such an indorsement as is given by the writer referred to? Preëlection promises have been disregarded, industry and capital have been driven into retrenchment and hiding. We are threatened with bankruptcy.

The morale of the people has been injured; hope and courage stifled; more people than ever are being bottle fed by the government, and no improvement is in sight.

In my locality, southern Wisconsin, the only ones I can find who approve of the present administration are mostly those on dole or who hold some government job. Farmers are up in arms against the domineering oppression of the farm bill—a law that would drive an ordinary man crazy to try to understand it, and so it goes.

ANOTHER WORKING MAN.

Berwyn, Ill., May 30.—An article appeared a few days ago in this column which was written by a lady who objected to back door salesmen. I happen to belong to the royal order of B. D. S. and want to voice our rebuttal. Since there are not jobs for us in offices and factories we accept the most promising work in the "commission basis" field. Housewives, if you know that our job is the only one we could get, and realize that we come into your yards as friends; want to treat you fairly and courteously, and have no intention of keeping you from your work against your will. So why don't you please listen to our brief approach; quiet your dog for the brief moment we speak to you, and give us a break if you can use our merchandise. If men kept house and women had to sell at the back door, I feel certain they would never be treated unfairly. I'm telling you, it's awful the way the stronger sex gets kicked around.

RELIEF, LIMITED.

Chicago, May 30.—Only a little paragraph in the papers yesterday, but how eloquently it illustrates the rapacity, selfishness, and cruelty of the building trades unions. The public pays with its taxes for the huge relief works of the WPA. The relief is supposed to apply, and the law says it shall, to all Americans in need. But the Building Trades council says it must apply only to members of the building trades unions; so it calls a strike against the United States government; fifteen WPA jobs are held up, 1,000 men put out of work in Cook and Lake counties, and the depression keeps on apace.

HUMAN BEING.

ASKS AN ACCOUNTING.

Chicago, May 24. — Your article about Poppy day which appeared in your May 20 issue is disappointing to me. You inform us that more than 900,000 poppies were distributed last year, resulting in a return of $4,500 for the veterans.

As I am accustomed to paying 10 cents for my poppy, which is, I believe, the average donation, a simple calculation would indicate that only 5 per cent of my money reaches the veterans. I am intensely interested in learning what happens to the other 95 per cent.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 31 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. What southern city is called the "Pittsburgh of the South"?
[a] Mobile, Ala.; [b] Birmingham, Ala.; [c] Atlanta, Ga.

2. What is the first month of the Jewish year?
[a] Tebet, [b] Sebat, [c] Tishri.

3. What is the most common surname in the Chicago telephone directory?
[a] Smith, [b] Johnson, [c] Meyers.

4. In what operetta does the song "O, Promise Me" appear?

CHALLENGES A MASQUERADER.

Chicago, May 26.—To the masquerader under the title, "A Real American Working Man": In your letter of May 19 you give vent to a diatribe against THE TRIBUNE for its editorial, "Is Opposition Sacrilege," and condemn it in no uncertain terms. Among other things, you accuse it of making ignorant and false attacks on "an administration that has already accomplished more of permanent benefit to the masses of our people," and so on.

In the first place, why don't you come out from under your false nom de plume and give your real name. Is it because you are the exact opposite of what you call yourself? It does not seem possible that there is in America today any person entitled to be called a real American working man who could be so deluded as to entertain such ideas of the benefits given to the "masses." Will this nameless attacker name one single permanent benefit conferred upon us by any of the paternalistic czars of the New Deal?

You brand a newspaper as false when in the next breath you utter false statements; you are afraid to sign your name to a statement that stamps you as either very credulous or one blinded to reason, and the newspaper should be proud of having aroused your loathing and disgust.

R. W. BALDWIN.

DISABLED MINE WORKER WRITES.

Zanesville, O., May 30.—In the year of 1927 I stopped at a hotel in New Castle, Pa. During my stay in this hotel I heard the hotel owner [a heavy stockholder in a large steel company] discuss the labor situation with a traveling man. Both of these men admitted to each other that their companies had paid heavily into a fund being raised for the purpose of outlawing and breaking up the United Mine Workers of America.

Knowing as I do the wonderful qualities of United Mine Workers, knowing that since I was permanently disabled in the coal mines the miners have shared their meager pittance with me that I might live; actually the United Mine Workers of America have saved my life. Knowing all of the above to be the truth, I think the insinuations cast at the mine workers and their wonderful leader, Mr. Lewis, is disgraceful to the human race and a transgressor of God's Golden Rule. Yours for justice to all,

JOSEPH BEDNARIK.

HOW ABOUT TELLING THE POLICE.

Chicago, May 27.—We hope you will soon start an editorial campaign for a sane Fourth. Isn't there a law prohibiting the sale and discharge of fireworks by private individuals? We live on Ridge avenue, and there is one family in particular that starts two weeks before the Fourth. On the night before and all during that day until after midnight continues the firing, which is deafening. My mother [81] can hardly endure it.

Is there anything I can do regarding this nuisance?

S. E. P.

NO CAR OWNER.

Chicago, May 26.—I have never owned a car nor envied any one who operates one. This letter is not prompted by envy. However, I believe that if I can exist without one so, too, can others.

Take all car owners off of relief, PWA, and WPA rolls! What right has any one to expect the public to help them maintain luxuries?

This ought greatly to reduce the need for relief and leave us free to help the truly destitute. There are too many grafters here in Chicago.

COMMON SENSE.

AS TO OAK FOREST.

Chicago, May 29.—I have just read an article in today's edition entitled "The Poor Poorhouse," which prompts me to give to your readers a little truth on the situation that perhaps the party writing the article did not have time to learn.

As I have visited Oak Forest hundreds of times, I say without fear of contradiction that the members of the county board assigned to this institution have shown great desire to give to the poor the best of care and comfort that the finances of the county permit.

Personal knowledge of the workings of President Smith has proven to me that he is very kind to the poor and he would not tolerate what the writer has said if the writer had informed him, instead of stirring up fear in the minds of those who will be compelled to retire to this beautiful spot among the trees, which is not a poorhouse, but a convalescent home for the sick and a resting place for the old and disabled.

The county board also has there a man very efficient in correcting where needed, so why not tell him?

Though I have given up the best years of my life to help this class of people, I am not a county employé nor am I a politician, but I am a believer in justice and truth.

GOOD FOR PUBLIC SERVICE.

Chicago, May 30.—Your recent editorials regarding the desirability of having in the United States senate such men as Herbert Hoover of California and Alfred Landon of Kansas please me very much. These men are capable of rendering valuable public service. With such representation in the senate California and Kansas would automatically become the premier states of the Union. I am not a Republican.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.

Chicago, May 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I hold some first mortgage bonds issued on real estate in Indiana. These bonds are now in default and I should like to know [1] what procedure to follow in bringing foreclosure.

2. Will the bank that issued the bonds proceed if I request foreclosure or does it require a certain percentage of the bondholders?

3. Would you be permitted to refer me to reliable attorneys to handle the above matter?

J. C.

1. Your first step should be to obtain the wording of the indenture securing the mortgage. If you cannot obtain this wording from the broker with whom you dealt, you might obtain a copy from the recorder of deeds at the county seat.

2. Depends on the wording of the papers and on the attitude of the bank. The best way to find out is to take the matter up with the bank.

3. In order to guard against the suspicion that The Tribune Law Department is conducted to secure business and fees for favored attorneys we have been forced to adopt the rule of never supplying the names of attorneys.

COURT REFUSES TO QUASH CASE AGAINST HAGUE

Hearings Begin on Plea for Injunction.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Newark, N. J., June 1.—[Special.]—Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City lost the opening move today when hearings began here before Federal Judge William Clark on an injunction to restrain the mayor and his officers from interfering with civil rights which several groups claim have been refused them.

A plea for a dismissal of the bill of complaint by James A. Hamill, Jersey City's corporation counsel, was turned down by Judge Clark. The bill was brought by John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization and the American Civil Liberties union. The year long controversy was stated in the bill.

Intimidation Charged.

The C. I. O. and A. C. L. U. charged that the Hague administration has denied them the right to hold public meetings outdoors and intimidated owners of halls to prevent indoor gatherings, blocked picketing, and halted the distribution of pamphlets. Hague was accused of a falsehood in declaring recently the object of the C. I. O. was "to crush by terrorism."

Hamill contended in vain that the bill's language in charging an "unlawful plan and conspiracy to forbid all C. I. O. meetings" accused the Jersey City officials of a crime and therefore was out of place in a court of equity on an injunction action.

Mayor Hague showed up at the courtroom bright and early in answer to a subpena, thereby confounding his foes who were prepared to demand he be held in contempt. In the crowded corridor outside the courtroom as Hague approached a photographer's flash bulb exploded.

Used to It, Hague Says.

"I'm used to being shot at," remarked Hague with a smile.

A group of wellwishers about the courtroom door, including Bergen County Prosecutor John J. Breslin, a Hague man, applauded as the mayor went inside. A troop of C. I. O. witnesses being lined up scowled.

Asked whether he would have much to say from the witness stand, Hague replied, "plenty." The Jersey City mayor claims that the C. I. O. and various satellite organizations are led by communists and he has considerable backing from business, veterans' groups and conservative labor elements in blocking this "red invasion."

Several weeks ago the Jersey City police deported Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, to New York twice in one night when he tried to make speeches, and last week conducted Representative Jerry O'Connell, Montana Democrat, from a field when he attempted to address a crowd.

Mayor Excused for Day.

Hamill persuaded Judge Clark to excuse Mayor Hague and others named in the bill for the day over the protests of opposing counsel who said they wanted the Jersey City officials in court whether they were called to the stand or not. The others named with Hague are Public Safety Director Daniel J. Casey and Police Chief Harry Walsh. They are expected to take the stand tomorrow.

After the squabble over dismissing the bill and letting Hague go for the time being, Spaulding Frazer, dean of the Newark law school, started to call witnesses. The first group of C. I. O. organizers and officials told of attempting to distribute handbills in Jersey City on Nov. 29, 1937, when police arrested several of them.

Trapped by Feet

GEORGE GUSENBERG.

George Gusenberg, 21 years old, whose big feet proved his undoing as a Peeping Tom Tuesday night, confessed to the Irving Park police yesterday that he had taken a total of $62 in four burglaries in the district in recent weeks. Capt. Herbert Burns said that other victims of burglaries and peepers would be asked to view the prisoner.

Gusenberg's feet were protruding from under the bed when Miss Mary Joyce, 16 years old, entered her home at 5449 Berenice avenue Tuesday night. The girl acted unconcerned, but quickly left the bedroom and telephoned police. Gusenberg dashed out of the house and ran to his home at 5507 Berenice avenue. Police squads under Lieut. Charles Anderson surrounded the house and found Gusenberg hiding under his own bed.

REVOKE LICENSE OF JEAN FERNEL, PLASTIC SURGEON

The license of Dr. Jean Paul Fernel, plastic surgeon with offices at 677 North Michigan avenue, was revoked yesterday by John J. Hallihan, director of the state department of registration and education. Hallihan denied Dr. Fernel's application for a rehearing on the department's medical board's recommendation that Dr. Fernel's license be revoked.

"Fernel was notified today that his license has been revoked," Hallihan said. "If he persists in practicing he will be prosecuted."

The medical board's recommendation of March 12 and Hallihan's action yesterday were based on a charge of gross malpractice preferred against Dr. Fernel by Miss May Morrill, 53 years old, of Worcester, Mass.

U. S. TO ATTEMPT COLLECTION OF MALONE'S FINE

Austin Hall, assistant United States district attorney, served notice yesterday that the government will sue to collect William H. Malone's $5,000 fine from his $25,000 appeal bond unless the fine is paid at once.

Malone, former chairman of the Illinois tax commission, was sent to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., on Tuesday to begin serving a two year sentence imposed in addition to the fine, for income tax law violation. The notice was served upon Malone's brother, George S. Malone, who supplied the bond.

Officials said yesterday that the former tax commission head could shorten his sentence by six days a month, or 144 days, by good behavior in prison.

RED DOMINANCE OF C.I.O. CHARGED BY LEGISLATORS

Declare Aim to Foment Civil War in U. S.

Boston, Mass., June 1.—(AP)—Reporting that communists controled the National Maritime union and occupied strategic positions in industries organized by the Committee for Industrial Organization, a legislative commission today charged the communist party sought to control transport and labor so that it could paralyze the country in event of war.

Quick rejoinders came from the N. M. U. in New York and the New England office of the C. I. O., with spokesmen for both groups denying radical guidance.

C. I. O. Welcomes Reds.

The commission report charged the C. I. O. welcomed communist leadership; declared communists sought to create dissatisfaction, unrest, and class consciousness among members of the Civilian Conservation corps, and termed the International Defense Association, Inc., the most vicious of subversive radical groups in Massachusetts.

Asserting that it was one of the objectives of the communist party to control all water fronts, the commission said:

"Such control of transport, coupled with control of industrial labor, would enable the communist party to paralyze the country should we be engaged in war with any other nation.

"The communist party could then much more easily carry out its avowed purpose to turn any war into a civil war."

A. F. of L. Is Praised.

"There has been evidence that the leadership of the American Federation of Labor has directed its efforts to keeping communists from membership in its unions and with few exceptions has succeeded.

"It appears from evidence before the commission that this has not been the policy of the Committee for Industrial Organization, but that the communist membership has been welcomed in the C. I. O., and training and experience of communist trade unionists and organizers have been utilized in the huge campaigns of industrial unionization.

"In saying this the commission refers to the leadership of the C. I. O. and in no way applies it to the masses of loyal citizens making up the membership of the organization. The latter do not realize to what extent communist functionaries have foisted themselves into places of agitation and leadership among union labor."

Seven Fined After Raids on Two Gambling Houses

Seven men arrested on May 27 by the Homewood highway police in raids on two gambling resorts were ordered to pay small fines yesterday by Justice of the Peace Arthur Gillner of Thornton township. The men, who were seized at 82 Illinois street, Chicago Heights, and at 12330 South Halsted street, Calumet Park, originally were charged with being inmates and keepers of gambling establishments, but the charges were changed to disorderly conduct.

DEFIES HOPKINS' DISMISSAL FROM MINNESOTA WPA

Christgau Says Power Is Roosevelt's.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1.—[Special.]—Victor A. Christgau, Minnesota WPA administrator, today defied the authority of Harry L. Hopkins, national head of the WPA, to remove him from his post in what is said to be a sacrifice by the Roosevelt administration to retain support of the dominant Farmer-Labor party.

Christgau declared the dismissal notification he received Monday through Howard O. Hunter, middle west director of WPA, was not sufficient authority to remove him. He added that he would not resign.

In a letter to Roy C. Jacobson, a WPA field representative, who was named Minnesota director, Christgau said Jacobson was without authority to exercise the duties of acting administrator and warned him to take no action that legally requires Christgau's approval.

Appointed by Roosevelt.

Christgau contended that only President Roosevelt, who appointed him, possessed the power to oust him from the job he has held three years.

In Washington Aubrey Williams, acting national administrator of WPA, said he had gone ahead with plans to replace Christgau. He exhibited a letter addressed to field representatives announcing appointment of Jacobson to Christgau's place.

Christgau's entire WPA service in Minnesota has been a constant quarrel with Gov. Elmer A. Benson and heads of the Farmer-Labor party who sought to dominate the relief situation.

Refuses to Help Politicians.

Friends of Christgau said he had been a thorn in the side of the governor and his administration because he refused to allow Benson and his henchmen to use the federal relief organization and relief appropriations for political purposes.

Although Benson and others charged Christgau showed an anti-labor attitude, the direct and immediate cause of the order to remove him was said to have been his refusal to approve an appropriation of $700,000 of WPA funds for a weed eradication project proposed by Benson.

Supporters of Christgau said the plan of the state machine was to use the $700,000 to provide political jobs and favors until after the state primary June 20. Christgau said the proposal was ridiculous and not a proper WPA project since it would have invaded the province of the department of agriculture and would have put WPA workers on jobs improving private lands.

HARRY HOPKINS' POWER.

Howard O. Hunter, WPA midwest regional director, said yesterday he telephoned Roy Jacobson that Harry Hopkins has the power to hire and fire state WPA administrators and that Hopkins issued orders appointing Jacobson the temporary WPA administrator in Minnesota.

A. OF C. URGES HOUSE TO PASS AIRPORT BILLS

Term Speed Vital to City's Transport Position.

The Chicago Association of Commerce last evening sent letters to all members of the house at Springfield urging early passage of two proposed laws which will make possible enlargement of the Chicago airport. The state senate already has approved the measures.

"Removal of the tracks of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, now bisecting the field and greatly limiting its capacity, becomes necessary due to the development of new and larger types of aircraft which cannot, under any circumstances, safely use the present field," the communication said. It was signed by Oscar G. Mayer, president of the association.

Center of Air Transport.

"Chicago has become the air transport center of the United States and until recently boasted one of the most modern airports. Its position, and that of the state, in the transport of air mail and passengers will be seriously impaired if the municipal airport cannot soon be modernized."

Accompanying the letters were maps which illustrated the present plan for ultimate expansion of the field. This plan calls for movement of the Chicago and Western Indiana tracks from their right-of-way along 59th street to a new right-of-way which will cross between Central and Cicero avenues along the line of 54th street.

The existing right-of-way cuts in half the available airport tract. At present the city's flying field is confined to the 300 acres bounded by the tracks along 59th street, 63d street, and Cicero and Central avenues. Their transfer to 54th street will open up a full square mile, bounded by 55th and 63d streets, and Cicero and Central avenues.

Bills Solve Problem.

The bills, sought by Mayor Kelly as the solution to the knotty problems involved in the removal of the tracks, are simple in form and language. One will permit any railroad which crosses city land and needed for airport uses to condemn or purchase a new right-of-way. The other specifically gives municipalities authority to pay all expenses of such removals.

If the bills are passed the Chicago and Western Indiana will condemn or purchase its new right-of-way under an agreement already reached with the city.

BATTLES WORLD FOR SIX YEARS; TRIES SUICIDE

Charles Wellman describes himself as the man nobody wanted. In 1932, at the age of 20, he was graduated from Harvard university, where he majored in sociology. He took another year of work in law. Then he started looking for work. He got a job as a bus boy. Next he was a salesman, and later he handled a machine in a shoe factory. His last place was as a maintenance man for the WPA. He lost that on May 18.

Yesterday Wellman looked over his possessions in his room at 3435 Elaine place—the letter of dismissal, $2, a suit of clothes, ten pounds of prunes. Wellman turned on the gas and thrust his head under a blanket.

An hour or so later other residents of the house smelled the gas and called policemen. Firemen revived Wellman with an inhalator. Police took him to the Town Hall station charged with disorderly conduct.

DAIRY BREEDERS FROM 48 STATES MEET IN CHICAGO

Delegates from each of the forty-eight states attended the fifty-third annual convention of the Holstein Friesian Association of America in the Palmer house yesterday. Officials said it was the first time every state had been represented by an elected delegate at a dairy breed association meeting. In addition there were nearly 200 visiting Holstein cattle breeders, many of them from Canada.

A. C. Oosterhuis of Oconomowoc, Wis., was reëlected president and Robert Ferguson, Lincoln, Neb., was named vice president. Houghton Seaverns of Brattleboro, Vt., is secretary and treasurer. The business meeting was followed by a banquet last night in the Palmer house.

DEATH WINS OVER FATHER IN LONG HITCH-HIKE RACE

Somewhere on the open road last night Harold Drouin, 26 years old, struggled toward Chicago in a race with death. Meanwhile police sought to find Drouin to tell him death had won.

His wife, Vivian, of 6215 South Kolmar avenue, telegraphed Drouin last Saturday in San Francisco, Cal., that their son, Harold Jr., 2, was critically ill in a hospital. With $20 in his pockets, Drouin started at once to hitch-hike to his son's bedside.

Last night Mrs. Drouin asked police to find her husband. Their son died Sunday. Mrs. Drouin said the boy must be buried today.

Jury Selected to Try Pair in 1932 Killing at Antioch

A jury was completed yesterday in the Lake county Circuit court of Judge Ralph J. Dady at Waukegan to try two men charged with the murder of William Hancock, a retired Antioch farmer and money lender, who was slain April 13, 1932. The men are Joseph Russo, 24 years old, and Michael Karapournos, 52. They were arrested March 17. Joseph F. Nemmer, 36, has pleaded guilty, and Edward T. Leonard, 42, a fourth prisoner, obtained a separate trial. They are expected to testify for the state.

OBITUARIES

Dr. James W. Skebelsky.

Dr. James W. Skebelsky, a well known South Chicago skin specialist, died last night at the age of 57. Dr. Skebelsky was graduated from the Northwestern university school of medicine in 1907 and was an instructor in dermatology there from 1914 to 1926. Since then he had been a dermatologist on the stafs of the South Chicago and the South Shore hospital. He resided at 7216 Oglesby avenue. Surviving are his widow, Jenny, and five children, Harriette, Mrs. Blanche Golden, Lawrence, Milton, and Marian. Funeral services will be held tomorrow, at 10 a. m., in the chapel at 936 East 47th street, with burial in Free Sons cemetery.

The Rev. P. J. Hennessy.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning in Ascension church in Harvey for the Rev. P. J. Hennessy, pastor of the church, who died Tuesday in St. Mary's hospital in Rochester, Minn. Father Hennessy was 62 years old. He was ordained in 1902 in Baltimore, and held pastorates in Braidwood, Elmhurst, Joliet, and Harvey. Surviving are two sisters and two brothers.

James Sabey Winn.

Word was received here yesterday of the death of James Sabey Winn, former executive in several Chicago corporations, in Rochester, N. Y., Tuesday night. Mr. Winn, who was 71 years old, retired twelve years ago as the Chicago representative of Edgar T. Ward Sons Co. He was a former senior warden of St. Luke's Episcopal church in Evanston.

David V. Wall.

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—David V. Wall, 68 years old, an actor for fifty years, died today at his home. He had played opposite Phoebe Davis for five years in the original company of "Way Down East," and was Mary Pickford's leading man in "The Bishop's Carriage," a silent film. More recently he had many character rôles.

John Dundon.

John Dundon, 78 years old, 6442 Glenwood avenue, who was a Chicago policeman from 1890 to 1936, fell dead on the street near his home yesterday. Heart disease apparently was the cause. After 1912 Policeman Dundon was in charge of firearms at the personnel division at the central police station. His widow, four daughters, and a son survive.

Mrs. Julia Kesner.

Mrs. Julia Kesner, who celebrated her 100th birthday on Jan. 24, died yesterday in the Home for Aged Jews. Mrs. Kesner had lived in Chicago for fifty-eight years. She came to this country from Amsterdam, where she was born. She was the widow of Leon Kesner, a cigar manufacturer.

Harvey A. Bush.

Harvey A. Bush, assistant manager of the Firemen's Fund Insurance company, died yesterday in his home at 721 Greenwood avenue in Wilmette. Mr. Bush was 57 years old. He was well known throughout the middle west in the insurance business. His widow, Mrs. Sarah Bush, survives. Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the Wilmette Baptist church. Burial will be in Kankakee, Ill.

Dr. George Bergbom.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at Foster and Western avenues for Dr. George Bergbom, a dentist, who died yesterday in his home at 1369 Greenleaf avenue. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery. Dr. Bergbom, who was 59 years old, had been practicing in Chicago for more than twenty-five years. A son, Stanley, who lived with him, survives.

Samuel J. Howe.

The funeral of Samuel J. Howe, attorney and old time resident of Wheaton, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the First Baptist church in Wheaton. Mr. Howe, who was 80 years old, died Tuesday in his home at 315 West Union street, Wheaton. He is survived by a son, Willard, of New York City. Mr. Howe was a member of the American, Illinois, and DuPage county bar associations.

Roosevelt Will Present Naval Academy Diplomas

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will give diplomas to graduates of the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., tomorrow and wish each a good life's voyage as a sailor man. When the graduates receive their diplomas they forthwith will become ensigns—lowest ranking commissioned officers in the navy.

POLICE VETERAN, RETIRING TODAY, LOSES LAST PAY

Policeman Thomas J. Murray of the Sheffield avenue station will remember his last day on the police department for many years to come. Today he retires after more than thirty years in uniform, having reached the age limit of 63.

And yesterday was to be a day of celebration. He drew his last pay check, about $100 for the last half of May, and cashed it at a neighborhood bank. But when he reached his home at 5631 North Kimball avenue Policeman Murray discovered he had lost all of the money.

Can't Fish Together; Can't Live Together; Get Divorce

Both Lorraine Ehlers and her husband, Ellsworth, 1559 North Hoyne avenue, liked to fish. But their troubles began, she explained yesterday through her attorney, Harry X. Cole, when her husband insisted on fishing alone. Once when she did accompany him, Mrs. Ehlers said, he struck her, declaring that her talking made him lose a fish he had hooked. After that they separated. Judge Charles A. Williams granted a divorce to Mrs. Ehlers, 23 years old, of 123 North Lamon avenue.

FOUND DEAD IN BATHTUB.

Albert Paoli, 51 years old, a restaurant manager, was found dead in the bathtub yesterday in his home at 726 Waveland avenue. A heart attack was blamed.

Miss Freund Cancels Plans for a Debut

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHEN a young lady who is expected to make a debut elects not to do so, it is news as interesting as if she followed in the footsteps of her elder sister and their mother and accepted a formal introduction to society.

Miss Emmy Lou Freund, whose name has been included in the 1938-'39 list of debs for years, has written her mother, Mrs. Frederick Campbell Woodward, that she does not wish to have a debut.

Miss Freund has been attending the Petite Ecole in Florence, Italy, for the last year, but now she is in Paris with Mme. Boué, who chaperones so Many American subdebs, continuing her art studies. She will come home in December, but not to make a debut, she says. That she will be invited to all the debutante parties during the Christmas holidays goes without saying, but, perhaps, she will not have time to go to many of them, for she plans to go on with her art work at the Chicago Art institute.

Elder Sister Attends Sarah Lawrence College.

Miss Emmy Lou's elder sister, Nancy, made her debut at a teadance at the Arts club in December, 1936, when she was at home from Sarah Lawrence college, where she still is a student She will visit on Long Island after she leaves college until the end f June, when she will join her mother and Dr. Woodward at their south side home.

The Woodwards find Chicago a summer resort to their liking, so they plan to be here all during the season except for three weeks when they will go to the Albert Hopkinses' summer home at Lakeside, Mich., to be with Master Hopkins while his parents are in California.

Mrs. Woodward, whose first husband was Prof. Ernst Freund, professor of law at the University of Chicago, was Miss Harriet Walton, elder daughter of Lyman A. Walton and the late Mrs. Walton. She and Prof. Freund surprised their friends by being married in New York in 1916 when she was preparing herself for Red Cross work in France. Prof. Freund died in 1932 and Mrs. Freund and Dr. Woodward, vice president of the University of Chicago, were married on Jan. 5, 1937.

Alice Graff Debut Set for Sept. 10.

The debut tea of Miss Alice Graff has been set for Sept. 10. Mr. and Mrs. Everett D. Graff will give the party in their Winnetka home. Miss Graff, who is a freshman at Smith, will return to college in the fall.

The Graffs, the debutante, and her younger brother and sister, Bobby and Nancy, who attend the North Shore Country Day school, all will be at home for the summer, the first that they will have spent here in many years. During the last two summers they traveled abroad.

New Olmstead Home to Be Opened for Sale.

The directors of the Chicago Woman's exchange are feeling very pleased over having persuaded Mrs. Conway Olmsted to open her beautiful new home in Lake Forest for the exchange's annual summer sale in that north shore town.

The Olmsteds have been living in the great Norman mansion on the lake only a few months, so only their friends have seen it, and the directors know that there are many women who will jump at the chance to visit the house the day of the sale, June 9.

Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. Champ Carry, Mrs. John W. Gary, Mrs. Charles F. Glore, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, Mrs. Solomon B. Smith, and Mrs. Norman Pritchard will be among those assisting Mrs. Olmsted that day.

Miss Eleanor Roberts Becomes June Bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Charles S. Roberts, wore white net, with a short white tulle veil. Her attendants, Mrs. Louis S. Hardin and Miss Julia Drake, wore yellow chiffon and carried white daisies with yellow centers. Daisy ropes instead of white ribbons were used to mark the aile

Weds Henry Field Today

[Acme Photo.]

MRS. PLACIDIA WHITE KNOWLTON.

Southboro, Mass., June 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. Placidia White Knowlton of Boston and Thomasville, Ga., will be married to Henry Field, curator of physical anthropology at the Field museum in Chicago, at a small wedding tomorrow at Lynnbrook, the Southboro estate of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Lindsey. Mrs. Lindsey is the bridegroom's aunt and a cousin of Mrs. Knowlton.

Mr. Knowlton said today that not more than a dozen relatives and intimate friends of the bridal couple would be present for the ceremony. There will be no attendants and no formal reception.

In July Mr. and Mrs. Field will sail for Europe where Mr. Field will be the official American representative at a conference of anthropologists and scientists at Copenhagen.

Mrs. Knowlton is the daughter of the Rev. Robb White and Mrs. White of Thomasville, and is divorced from John Knowlton. She has two children. Mr. Field's former wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Sturges Field, is now Mrs. James Finan.

Mr. Field is the son of Mrs. Algernon Burnaby, of England, and the late Preston Gibson, formerly of New York and Chicago.

Before her marriage to Mr. Gibson, Mrs. Burnaby was Miss Minna Field, daughter of the late Henry Field of Chicago, a brother of the first Marshall Field. After his mother and Gibson were divorced, Henry Field took his grandfather's name.

Lutheran Committee Asks Sex Instruction in Sunday Schools

New York, June 1.—(AP)—Sex instruction in Sunday schools was recommended today in the pre-convention report of the committee on moral and social welfare of the United Lutheran synod of New York. More stringent marriage requirements also were suggested. The report will be acted on at the tenth annual convention, to be held in Rochester, N. Y., from June 13 to 16.

These five items, contained in the report, will be discussed:

Approval of the law requiring Wassermann blood tests of all applicants for marriage certificates.

Recommendation that the state also require psychiatric examination to prevent marriage of the abnormal and unfit.

Recommendation that the seminaries introduce courses on sexology and psychiatry, the lecturers to be trained men.

Recommendation that the clergy instruct prospective bridegrooms in matters of sex, particularly with its relation to society and personal happiness.

Recommendation that all Sunday schools conduct sex instruction in classes from the ages of 14 to 16 with parents' approval, instructors to be Christian physicians of both sexes.

American Crooner Breaks Tradition at Buckingham Palace

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—[Special.]—Evelyn Dahl, ash-blonde American crooner whose pictured charms and written appeals helped save her aviator husband from death before a Spanish rebel firing squad, made history in the gold and white ballroom at Buckingham palace tonight when she "swung it" through the microphone for King George and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain.

The American glamor girl who once sang for Rudy Vallee was the featured performer at the Royal Derby night ball and helped to make it the most fantastic affair ever held by a British monarch.

Supporting the American singer was Bert Ambrose and his Princess restaurant band from Piccadilly Circus, making the storied and ordinarily staid corridors of the royal palace echo to the blasts of trumpets and the skirl of the clarinet.

The American ambassador and Mrs. Kennedy were present, the ambassador being the only male guest to wear long trousers.

Infant Is a Chicagoan of the Fifth Generation

The distinction of being a fifth generation Chicagoan belongs to Leonard Willmarth Schmitz, who was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Schmitz of Evanston on May 26 at the Evanston hospital. The baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Wilmarth of Omaha, Neb., and his paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Schmitz of Glencoe.

S. Side Artists Have Pleasant Show in Loop

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An exhibition of paintings by members of the South Side Artists' association opens today in the Auditorium hotel. The paintings are distributed through the lounge on the second floor and each has been equipped with a reflector to take care of lighting in this casual gallery.

Other exhibits have struggled with the dark interior—and have not always come off victor. While the reflectors stay in place [we are told they have a mysterious way of disappearing as souvenirs] the current show is fairly visible.

There are two memorial paintings in the exhibition. One is the delightful "A Back Yard," by the late Charles A. Corwin, whose name is associated with the Field Museum of Natural History for the many splendid backgrounds he painted for animal groups. The other is "End of the Road," by Josephine L. Reichmann, whose sudden death recently came as a great blow to her many friends and admirers. Mrs. Reichmann was one of Chicago's best loved and best known painters.

The most effective canvas in the show, for its splendid sky and reaches of gray water, is "Abandoned Ship Yard," by Theodore Saunders, a comparatively new artist who is meeting with recognition in Chicago and New York. Macena Barton has brought her portrait of Mrs. Virginia Headberg from the Arts club and here again it stands out for various reasons.

Among the other artists represented are Charles Biesel, Emil Armin, Nan Rice, Harriet Cory, William H. Eppens, Tunis Ponsen, Ethel C. Brown, Edith Jane Cassidy, Laveta H. Grover, Florence Walsh, and Leonore Conde Wilson.

Drops His Mop for Free Art Study Abroad

BY BETTY BROWNING.

Three years of mopping and scrubbing as a student janitor at the school of the Art institute will end for Robert Long, 2500 North Keeler avenue, in a free trip to Europe for a year of art study. He, Robert Lifvendahl, 4627 Kenmore avenue; Clarence Lawson, Negro, 12 East Illinois street, and John Beaver, 1109 Loyola avenue, have received fellowships providing for foreign travel.

Robert Long.

Long won the Anna Louise Raymond foreign travel fellowship of $1,500. Lifvendahl received the Edward L. Ryerson traveling fellowship of $1,500, plus $1,000 renewal. A Senn High school graduate, Lifvendahl was awarded the $200 prize of the Chicago artists' annual ball at the forty-eighth annual exhibition of American painting and sculpture last autumn.

Lawson, who came to Chicago from Beaumont, Tex., six years ago, was awarded the James Nelson Raymond foreign traveling fellowship of $2,000. Lawson has worked his way through the school, and regards himself as a sculptor rather than a painter, though he is proficient in both mediums. The John Quincy Adams fellowship of $1,500 for foreign travel and study goes to Beaver, who studied architecture at Lane Technical High school.

Honorable mention for outstanding work was given to Miss Ella Mae Mason of Brookhaven, Miss.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

If you want to get the most out of your permanent, indulge in a few good treatments before you have it.

There is nothing new in this advice. It is merely a reminder. Most women make up their minds overnight that in the morning they'll call and make the appointment for a permanent. If their hair is in especially good condition, they probably will not miss the prepermanent treatments. But if it is not in good condition, if it is dry and wiry, they will be disappointed when they emerge from the hair-waving operation.

What happens to hair in the permanent waving process always has been too involved for most women to worry about. Besides, women in connection with beauty matters have a sublime faith in what they want to believe or disbelieve. Just as long as the hair is curled, the rest is a matter of indifference. Without care preliminary to the permanent wave at some time or other you will have to cope with brittle hair, dry ends or even excessive oiliness inspired by inexpert permanent waving. The less that you can afford to spend on a permanent, really, the more precare is recommended.

A well known scalp expert offers a few rules which you can carry out yourself. Your beauty salon will do it with professional skill, but either way will save you grief and disappointment.

The first requirement of hair, says the expert, is that it must be perfectly pliable for winding around the permanent waving rods. Due to the steaming operation after a hair-neglectful season, it loses some of its elasticity, so essential to a successful wave.

The common sleeping scalp conditions are avoided by thoroughly brushing the hair and scalp to stimulate the blood circulation. It exercises the tiny scalp glands around each hair, and brings out the lustre oils. Now comes the treatment: First, part the hair in the center and divide into one inch rows from ear to ear. Dip a small piece of cotton into a reconditioning oil and apply liberally along the parting line. Do this until the entire scalp has been covered. Then apply a hot towel. The oil softens the hair and scalp tissue.

Follow with a massage which starts at the nape of the neck. Gently press the hands on the neck behind the ears and massage. Massage around the neck and ears. Place fingers and palms of hands firmly on the head and move the scalp in circular motion. When the scalp tingles, you will know you are doing right by yourself. After the massage comes a good shampoo. Three or four such treatments before the permanent will insure you a new permanent success.

The Housewife

Some women are born collectors. We know several who have a passion for shoes. They simply can't resist a new idea or color or style in footgear.

If you are one of these acquisitive souls you know it's quite a problem to keep your clothes closet orderly. There's a lot of good parking space going to waste on the inside of the closet door. Why not make use of it?

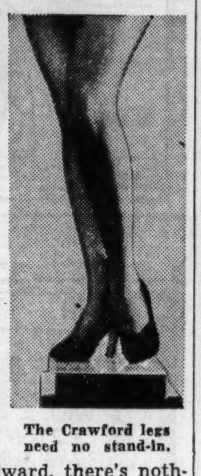
The neatest arrangement of shoes we ever saw was taken care of by metal adjustable rods, screwed into a closet door frame. These rods are so tilted that the shoes never slip off, yet they're so easy to reach. You can have as many rows of shoes as you wish and as the door will take, and at little expense. It takes only a short while to put them up.

EDITH WEIGLE.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Behind the Scenes.

Hollywood, Cal., June 1. — A car with California license plates showing three 7s for luck grazes past the M.-G.-M. entrance gates. A girl with a kerchief wrapped around her head and hidden by dark glasses yells: "Hey, Ed," and puts on the brakes.



The Crawford legs need no stand-in.

"I've got a bone to pick with you," she said. "You said that when they see a shot of my legs on the screen it's ten to one some stock girl has posed for the leg closeup. Now, Edward, there's nothing wrong with my legs or 'gams' and they don't need stand-ins."

I asked her about the divorce rumors:

"I don't know anything about it," she said. "Franchot gets in tomorrow. You'd better ask him." We chatted for a few minutes: "Where are you going?" she asked, but I told her I was headed for stage 12, where Gable and Myrna Loy were working. "Tell him that I've been sending him fan letters ever since 'Test Pilot' will you?" she asked.

Gable, Miss Loy, and Walter Pidgeon were going through a scene for Director Jack Conway, rushing away from a blazing plane when your reporter arrived. They did it three or four times before Conway got what he wanted, and the players were released.

"I didn't get any letter from Joan," said Clark. "But you get so much mail," interrupted Myrna, wrinkling her nose. "Uh huh," grinned Gable.

"All right, kids," called Conway, as Hal Rosson trained the camera on the scene. They went back to work on "Hot to Handle"—saga of the newsreel cameraman. Len Hammond, former Fox movietone star, who suggested the story from his own thrilling experiences, watched from the sidelines: "Can't get over the way Gable handles a camera," he observed, admiringly. "He wraps his arms around that box as though he was brought up in our racket."

In the commissary later Gable remarked: "I'm awfully happy that 'Test Pilot' clicked. You know, I had three bad pictures in a row. I needed a real good picture to save myself from dropping way down the scale."

It led into a discussion of the public taste and specifically the loyalty of movie fans. I held that if the public genuinly likes a star nothing can change that liking, including bad pictures, unless the bad pictures continued indefinitly. Supporting that viewpoint, I told Gable of the letters that arrive from movie fans, commenting on various scenes of pictures from which the fans draw deep enjoyment and that popularity is not an overnight product, but rather a long and sincere process, and that the net results cannot be destroyed over night. "I guess you're right," he said.

Curiously enough, leaving him we met Nat Goldstone, manager of Robert Taylor, and he branched into the same line of thought: "'A Yank at Oxford' will gross almost $3,000,000," he said, "and I'm delighted for Bob's sake. That pretty boy publicity really hurt Taylor. He's a sensitive kid and no matter how we all try to get him to steel himself against what he reads in the papers that kind of stuff bites. I told him that the public wouldn't turn against him; that having once liked him they'd stick; that the movie fans weren't fickle. So that's why I'm so happy over the success of 'A Yank at Oxford.' It proves that the public can't be stampeded."

You movie fans don't realize how keenly the stars study your reactions in this colony. When you lay down from 40 to 85 cents to see a picture you probably figure that you are a very unimportant cog in the amusement wheel. Bulked together, however, your admission moneys become the most articulate voice in the business, dictating the law to every major company and every star out here.

The amazing thing is that all of you fans arrive at the same majority opinion on a picture. A picture never flops in a single state. If it flops in Illinois it flops in Minnesota, New York, Georgia, and every other locality, and vice versa if it is a hit. Cities may prefer cinema fare slightly more sophisticated than the rural areas, but the distinction in taste is negligible. Fan taste arrives at the same verdict all over the country. This is sheerly astounding. It makes show-business easy, and at the same time makes it difficult.

Nightly you see this unanimity of opinion on New York's famous Broadway. One night the street is crowded, the next night it's empty. What decides all of the people of a city to stay home the same night and urges all of them to go out another night? Solve that and you have mastered show business.

Talking to Bill Daniels, celebrated among cameramen as the only one Greta Garbo will permit to photograph her. Daniels is a Clevelander by birth and was the camera man on Greta's first picture.

He has his own explanation of the quality she projects on the screen: "She has the wisdom of a very old woman," he tells you, "and with it a remarkable tolerance. She is completely unlike the impression of her that's been broadcast. It is her wisdom and her tolerance that give her a certain spiritual glow. The camera picks that up."

Of all her pictures he liked best the photography of the final scene of "Queen Christina" on the boat. He told me a lot about photography, but time and space are getting short, so we'll discuss photography in another column.

Mary Pickford Selects a 'Successor' to Greta Garbo

LONDON, June 1.—Described by Mary Pickford as "the direct successor to Greta Garbo," Corinne Luchaire, 17, blonde French film actress, is making a secret stay in London with her father, mother, and brother. Every producer in London and Hollywood who has seen her has tried to sign a contract with Corinne, owing to her success in the French film, "Prison Without Bars." Alexander Korda has won the first round in the competition and is to produce "Prison Without Bars" at Denham studios.

White Jerseys Style Dramatic Evening Gowns

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Plaster white jersey that clings to the figure fashions some spectacular daytime dresses and new evening gowns that fairly take your breath away.

The daytime dresses are made of a drawn thread effect jersey and are cut with flared skirts that do such a slick job of revealing the figure that the fullness is forgotten. Perked up with lively contrasts of kelly green front line zippers, a chiffon green tie at the neckline or a streak of green belt around the waistline, you have something rating all the fuss and fanfare. When you learn that the very low price mark is under $10 you buy at once.

The evening gowns are just as breath taking and more dramatic than anything you can find in town. Most of them are classics in extreme simplicity . . . shirred, molded-to-the-ribs bodices, long clinging circular cut skirts, and devoid of anything resembling trim or festoon.

There's a strapless model that looks good enough to wear to your most important midsummer ball. All of them are cool, dull sheened, and exquisitely luxurious in finished effect. These are tagged under $25.

Against a good sun tan or with the average summer complexion they're marvelously picturesque, and they can be changed with infinite variety with printed slippers, or unusual costume accents in chartreuse, green, cerise, parma violet, copper, and the pastels, gold, pink, blue, and mint green. Because they're new, so devastatingly decorative as well as mercifully low priced they're going fast.

SYNOPSIS.

Elizabeth Sandal is shocked to find her children, Dorothea and Oliver, resent their father's will that unexpectedly left a fortune to her and did not mention them. She goes off to Switzerland for a change and rest, and meets Andrew Leicester, who was a groom at her wedding. Andrew, a widower, is returning after years of absence in China to meet his children. William, his son, lives with a bachelor relative; his daughter, Shirley, with his wife's relatives. Shirley was in an airplane accident with a young pilot, Tony Voisin, after which Tony's engagement to another girl was broken. Her mother's people believe Shirley was the cause. Andrew hopes to have it out with Shirley before seeing his in-laws. Shirley believes he is aligned with her hated relatives and treats him coolly. Andrew turns to Elizabeth for sympathy. She tries to make friends with the boy and girl. Dorothea hears from a friend about a stranger's attentions to her mother. Oliver pays her a surprise visit. He and Shirley are attracted to each other. Shirley tells him about the flyer, Tony Voisin. She knows Tony can explain that she had nothing to do with his engagement being broken. Oliver promises to call a friend in London who may know Tony.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

HYPOCRITES.

Oliver and Shirley strolled along the lakeside and found a perch where the lapping waters sang to them as they talked.

"Did the nice quiet girl marry this fellow Voisin?" asked Oliver.

"No, she broke it off; had hysterics all over the place, and blamed me," said Shirley.

"Hated your face, I daresay, poor wretch. It made her look yellow in the kindest light, but what about her innocent week-end and what about Voisin?"

"I don't know. I don't know anything," she exclaimed sighing. "I have never seen him since. I didn't even know where he lived, and I don't know what they've said or written to him. Considering what they've said to me, I feel it must have been extremely choice."

She told him of her great-aunt's house in Norfolk, to which she had been expected to go for a month every year. The aunt was old and frail and nervous of burglars, and cars leaping along the roads, which were bound to run over somebody before they were done. This likely catastrophe kept her in conversation, but she was quite a kind old thing really, said the girl, and if there were any fun to be had made it her business to see that one wasn't left out.

It was thus Shirley had met Tony Voisin and Doris Glayde, engaged in spite of the "nice girl's" preference elsewhere.

"It doesn't matter how I knew," she said, "but she made it pretty plain to see how green I was. She was a beast, I thought."

"Over and over again I saw her in his car," she went on to Oliver. "I used to go for walks because there was so little else to do, and besides, I was used to a lot of exercise, having only just left school."

"What a . . . never mind. How old are you, for heaven's sake?"

"O, I was nineteen in September; I wasn't a kid," she said.

"Well, she went off on her week-end that day. I saw the suitcases as she passed me, and about a mile further on met Tony just going to see her. Naturally I said I was afraid she must have been called away in a hurry, and then it turned out he'd flown his plane, the Tea-Tray, across. She was in a field he was allowed to use and he offered to let me see her. I was keen of course, William having had aeroplanes on the brain all his life, and when Tony very decently offered me a hop, you can guess I jumped at it. You've got to keep up with young brothers."

She told him about the storm and descent and the running crowds, and how Tony had taken her across fields to her aunt's gate, because she was covered with mud, and she didn't want to alarm the old lady.

"Naturally I lied and said I'd fallen down, as any one would if they were flung out of a car or a bus and had a nervous aunt, and then the newspapers came out. We hadn't thought of them, and Mrs. Glayde raging like a lunatic and saying I had broken Doris' heart and engagement. And—you know—a lie's a lie, when people want to believe the worst. It was all up with me. I'd been out every day for nearly a month carrying on with Tony, so it seems. [Funny I had never noticed it.] No good my saying anything. They wouldn't listen."

"But you had the week-end tale, girl," expostulated Oliver.

"How could I prove it? They wouldn't have believed me, only said more vile things, and besides I thought, 'wait till they see Tony and they will have to climb down' I was raging, but not at all alarmed. However, I was packed back to my grandmother, and she began on me and my letters were taken, and I was watched and followed about and talked at and talked over. I am certain Tony must have written, because they told me triumphantly they had written to him, warning him—against me, do you think? I simply can't imagine what they may have said to him."

"Voisin must be a fine sort of hound not to do something about it," exclaimed Oliver. "Why didn't you clear out from these blighted relatives?"

Shirley shrugged.

"O, various reasons. At first I was certain Tony would do something . . . and, well, you know, I just let 'em get on with it. . . . And my father was coming home."

"Well, what does he say?"

"I haven't told him my story yet. I'm saving it up till after William's gone back on Tuesday. No need to drag him in when he has an exam in view. He doesn't know a thing about it."

"You have some patience, I must say," declared Oliver. "I should have wrecked the place in your shoes."

She smiled at him, almost as if he were a child.

"Silence can be much more annoying than speech," she said cryptically. "You are the first person I've had a chance to tell, anywhere near my own age. I can't trust older people after this. My grandmother is a hypocrite on the make, wanting to sponge on my father. I hate her, but chiefly I want to know what she said to Tony. It's most awkward. Suppose she's suggested I'm a man snatcher or a giggling idiot who thought he was in love with me. I'm not and he wasn't."

Oliver laughed at her stormy face. He supposed it was a question of jaundiced women, jealous of the lovely creature. A damn silly story, too. Though he could not read between lines and guess what she had left unsaid, he saw that this letter to Voisin, if they could get it, would be a handy witness against dear old grandma, who must be a hell-cat.

He suggested this character to Shirley, but she said:

"O, no, just a hypocrite who talks too much about her duty to do it. She is probably terrified my father will blame her for the scandalous affair, as she calls it, and has to persuade herself I'm a bad cat in self-defense."

"At ten sharp I'll get through to my friend Henderson and see what I can hear," said Oliver. "He knows throngs of these chaps. Personally, I can't see why you should worry, all the same. If you had broken up the engagement you'd have been doing the man a good turn, and as you saw through the girl, you may take it from me plenty of other people did. These things soon get about."

"Well, that's consoling," she said.

She felt the width of his experience beside her own, and this would have charmed him, but she was young enough not to give her bewildered doubts away by telling him so. Quite suddenly she realized that he, though a stranger, had taken her story literally and without surprise, even with indignation against her enemies. That was a great support. She was sorry she had thought him superior yesterday afternoon, for judging people from the outside was something she had seen so often and found contemptible.

"I don't know what you think, but I think it is positively dreadful to be young," she said. "I daresay it is different for a man. He is always much freer than a girl. I feel a thousand, but I'm not supposed to have the intelligence or character of a child of five unless I behave like a damned hypocrite. It . . . infuriates me," she added with a sudden smile. "Tell me what you do . . . you must have had a jolly home. I can see that."

"O, it was all right," said Oliver, casting a mental eye over himself and his past and his future in some haste. "It never struck me it was specially grim to be young that I remember, rather the reverse." His mother's talk of the night before came back to him disturbingly, and Prissy and her set, and the last few months when the work he had hitherto found absorbing had paled before the excitement of having money to splash. "I'm keen on my work, for one thing. . . . I'd like to get into parliament well before I'm thirty, if I could."

"O, do," she urged.

Chicagoans Will Attend World Red Cross Meet

Two Chicagoans will be among the fourteen American delegates to the sixteenth International Red Cross conference at London June 17 to 25. They are Mrs. Frederic W. Upham of 1260 Astor street, a member of the board of incorporators of the American Red Cross, and James T. Nicholson, manager of the Chicago chapter. Mr. Nicholson sails next Wednesday. Mrs. Upham is already en route.

When your stomach is out of order your intestines are often out of order too. Don't make the mistake of adding to the disturbed condition with overdoses of drastic, irritating physics and purges. Take Pepto-Bismol and help soothe the irritated stomach and intestines.

Recommended for stomachs distressed by over-indulgence, nervous indigestion, change of diet, or improperly prepared or selected food. Pleasant tasting, non habit forming. 50¢ at your drug store.

YOU MEAN, JESSICA, YOU TOOK FERDINAND BACK WITHOUT PUTTING HIM ON THE SPOT?
THE POOR BOY WAS SO SORRY! WHAT COULD I DO, NINA?
I THINK YOU'RE FOOLISH. I'M MAKING SKEEZIX SQUIRM.
HOPE SAID I COULD MAKE FERDINAND CRAWL BACK ON HIS HANDS AND KNEES. BUT I DIDN'T WANT HIM TO.
FOR ONCE HOPE WAS RIGHT.
BUT I THOUGHT THAT IF I DIDN'T TAKE HIM WHEN HE WANTED TO COME MAYBE HE WOULDN'T COME AT ALL

Miss Freund Cancels Plans for a Debut

down which the bride walked. The Rev. Duncan H. Browne officiated.

An entertaining side trip the Snow Chase club members might make next winter, if it proves as snowless as this last one, would be to Prairie du Chien, Wis., about sixty miles south of La Crosse, headquarters of the club. The historic home of Col. Hercules L. Dousman in Prairie du Chien recently has been restored. Mrs. Frank Hixon, whose girlhood home was in La Crosse, knew the Villa Louis well twenty-five years ago, as well as the descendants of Col. Dousman, who, two years ago, deeded the villa to the city.

Mrs. Hixon was among those who went to Prairie du Chien for a tea that marked the public opening of the home. Also at the opening were Louis Dousman of Billings, Mont., and his sisters, Mrs. Virginia D. Bigelow and Mrs. Violet D. Young, both of St. Paul, grandchildren of the late Col. Dousman. During the days that Col. Dousman was a fur trading agent for the northwest territory every steamship on the Mississippi paused at Villa Louis to deposit distinguished guests. The house was built on the site of Fort Crawford, on an Indian mound. It is filled with original furnishings and unique paintings that make it one of the most lavishly reconstructed estates in America.

Mrs. Hixon is leaving today for Grinnell college, Ia., to attend a meeting of the board of trustees tomorrow.

Start Renovating Post and Paddock.

Aurora was the destination of horse racing fans last month; this month they are flocking to Lincoln Fields southwest of the city, and next month they will be going northwest to Arlington Park, which opens on Monday, June 27.

The Post and Paddock club already is being renovated and put into shape for the meeting and it is expected that it will be the setting for many gay luncheon parties all during July.

The John Hertzes will be returning to their beautiful home near Cary shortly and will be there through the Arlington season. The Warren Wrights will return soon, too, to be here during the season. Laurance H. Armour again is president of the Post and Paddock; Thomas E. Wilson is vice president; Charles F. Glore is treasurer, and Lawrence F. Stern is secretary.

Meetings of Junior League, Service Club.

Members of the Chicago Junior league who belong also to the Service club will attend two parties early next week, the league's annual meeting and luncheon on Monday at the Glen View club and the Service club's annual June meeting on Tuesday at the Indian Hill.

Tennis, swimming, and golf are on the program following the league luncheon at 1 o'clock. The Service club members will discuss plans for the fall revue.

Among the parties planned for Miss Dorelle Moulton, who is to be married June 27 to Vincent D. Andrus, is a luncheon Miss Patricia Wilson will give at the Lake Bluff home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wilson, on June 24, followed by swimming at the Onwentsia. Miss Wilson is returning June 13 from Vassar, and on the 20th Miss Sybil Hines is arriving from New York to visit her.

Mrs. John Andrews King and Miss Peggy Thompson are entertaining at the Shoreacres club today. Tennis, luncheon, and bridge are on the program.

It is Ireland, not Bermuda, to which Dr. Kennedy Creevey is taking his bride, the former Margaret Germaine Brundage, on a wedding trip. After motoring through that country Dr. and Mrs. Creevey will be at home July 1 in Cambridge, N. Y.

Eugene du Ponts Visit Her Parents.

Mrs. Eugene du Pont arrived on Saturday to visit her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Chapman, in Lake Forest. Mr. du Pont joined them yesterday.

A son, their first child, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lendrim De West Hooker on May 27 at the Evanston hospital. The baby has been named Neil McKewan Hooker. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hooker of Winnetka and his maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Regnar T. Kidde of Glencoe. Mrs. Hooker is the former Miss Sally Sidney Kidde.

Mrs. Russell Lord and her daughters, Miss Betty, and Kathleen, who was a school in Dobbs Ferry, sailed yesterday for Europe. After visits in England and France they will return in mid-July to spend the rest of the summer in Lake Forest, where they have taken the Lawrence Scudder house.

ENGAGEMENTS

From Minocqua, Wis., where they have a summer home, Mr. and Mrs. John Arthur Anderson of Chicago have sent word of the engagement of their daughter, Georgina Alyse, to Frank Edward Mueller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Mueller of Countryside and Chicago.

Miss Anderson, known as Jean, is a graduate of the Roycemore school in Evanston and Vassar college. Mr. Mueller is a graduate of Northwestern Military and Naval academy and the University of Illinois. The wedding will take place in the late fall.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Heiser of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jane, to Walter Martin Buchroeder Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martin Buchroeder of 7656 North Bosworth avenue. Miss Heiser was graduated from Northwestern university.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris J. Frankel of North Whipple street announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Theodora, to Milton M. Feigenbaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Feigenbaum of 1022 Loyola avenue. Miss Frankel attended Northwestern university. Mr. Feigenbaum studied at the University of Illinois. The wedding will take place on June 26.

Fresh pineapples aren't expensive now, and they make as good a dessert as a cook could wish for. Slice them crosswise, remove the peeling, "eyes," and core, and cut the remainder into slivers. Then add enough sugar to sweeten it "sweet," or only enough to reduce the acidity, still keeping a tartness. Serve the sauce alone, or with cake or cookies.

Fresh Pineapple Pie.

1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup scalded milk
⅔ cup pineapple juice
3 eggs
2 cups cooked pineapple, cut in pieces
1 tablespoon butter
Baked pie shell

Mix flour, sugar, and salt, and add to the scalded milk. Add the pineapple juice drained from the fresh pineapple after cooking gently. Cook and stir over hot water until the mixture is thick and smooth. Cook 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Beat egg yolks and pour a little of the hot mixture over them, stirring vigorously. Return the combination to the double boiler, and cook and stir for two minutes longer. Remove from heat and add drained, finely cut pineapple, and butter. Cool somewhat, fill the baked pie shell, and top with a meringue made by beating the egg whites until stiff and adding five tablespoons of granulated sugar, beating until sugar is well dissolved. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, until meringue is browned.

FRESH PINEAPPLE TARTLETS.

Cut pie pastry, rolled quite thick, in three inch rounds. Cut centers from half the rounds with a smaller cutter, leaving rings. Place a ring over each round and bake at 400 degrees until browned. Spread thinned cream cheese in the center of each ring, and over this put fresh shredded pineapple, sweetened with granulated sugar.

But fresh pineapple, raw or cooked, is good not only as dessert but as an accompaniment to the meat course, and as a salad. Here are two examples:

BROILED FRESH PINEAPPLE.

[To Accompany Meat.]

Cut fresh pineapple in slices, remove peeling, eyes, and core. Brush each slice with butter and sprinkle with flour. Cook under the broiling unit until heated through and delicately browned.

Fresh Pineapple and Strawberry Salad.

[Serves Three.]

½ fresh pineapple, cut in pieces
Lemon juice
4 tablespoons salad oil
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
½ cup sliced strawberries
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup cream cheese

Cut pineapple in slices, peel, core, and cut or shred. Save the juice and add enough lemon juice to make two tablespoons. Combine with salad oil, salt, and paprika. Pour over pineapple. Place in small salad bowl lined with lettuce, and top with combination of sliced strawberries, sugar, and cheese.

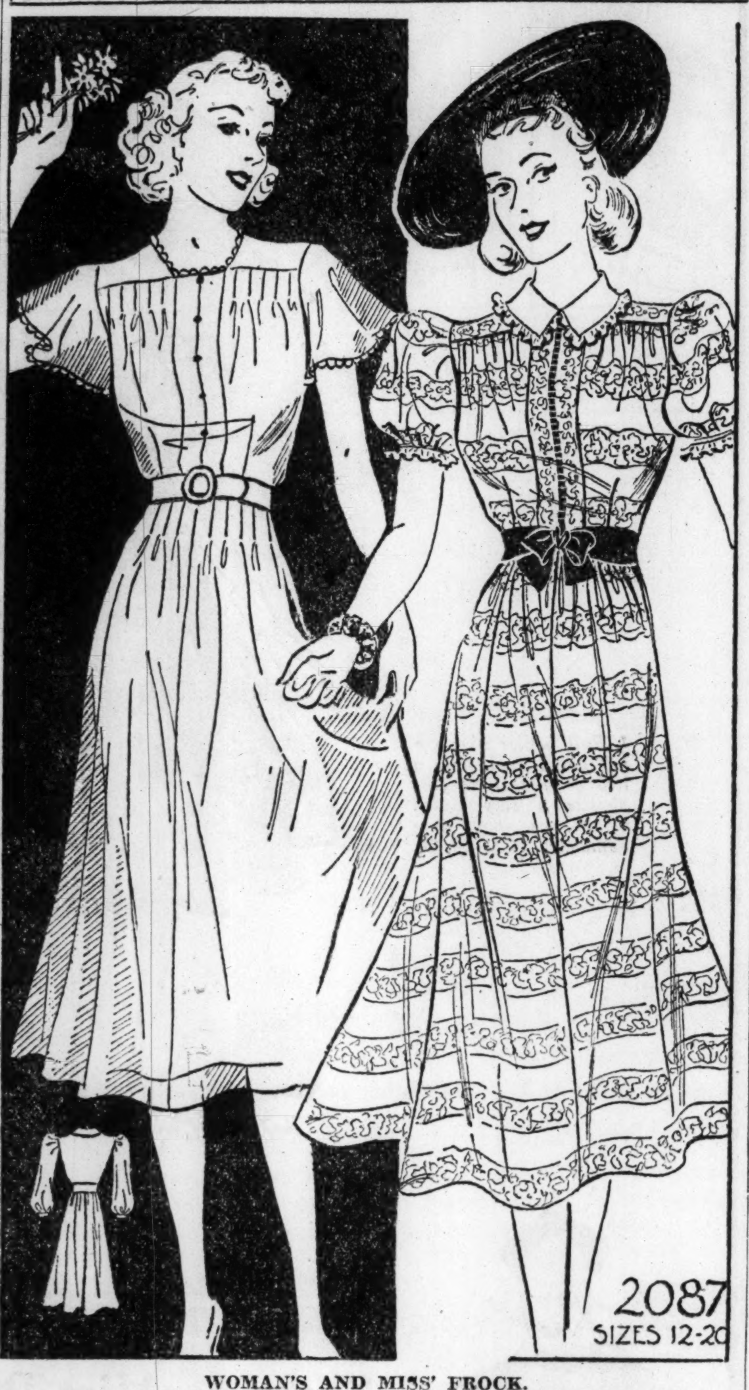
Two Popular Modes United



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

The youthful dress offered by our pattern today combines successfully, and with interesting results, two popular modes, the shirtwaist and the dirndl. The former is a strictly utilitarian fashion, while the latter is picturesque, but the union of the two is purely feminine and not in the least incongruous.

This frock, which is delightful in sheers, especially those featuring dainty colors, may be styled in either of two ways. Sketched at the left is a version without collar and with the sleeves allowed to "fly." Both neckline and sleeves are trimmed with ready made edging. Tiny buttons adorn the front of the plain bodice, which is given the softness of shirring originating in darts just below the shoulder yoke. The skirt is treated in the same manner at the hipline.

The version at the right uses no darts but shirrs the fabric immediately into the shoulder yoke and the waistline. At the neckline is the traditional shirtwaist collar all dressed up with ruffling, more of which adorns the much-puffed sleeves. At the waistline is a rather wide velvet ribbon belt with bow.

Style No. 2087 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 1½ yards of ruffling.

Mayor's Garden.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Mayor's Garden" is southern in origin, coming from a town nestling at the foothills of the Cumberland mountains. His honor's garden was a riot of all shades of purple iris and rose bushes. The walk through the gardens was of light colored slate typical of the terrain in that section of the country. The small square of this quilt measures 6 inches when completed, but the blocks are assembled in groups of nine and set together, forming 30 large squares. These in turn are set together to create a most striking all-over design and a coverlet measuring 90 by 108 inches.

For a limited period Nancy Cabot offers 10 quilt patterns of her own choice at a price of 10 cents for the group (12 cents by mail). Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Sick-in-Bed Child Needs Special Care

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Your young convalescent doesn't get well fastest on just good physical care. No matter how carefully you may stick to doctor's orders for a soft diet or keeping him in bed, or giving him his medicines, he's not going to pick up as he should if he's fretful, discontented and restless.

The young convalescent needs more than physical care to bring him back as fast as he should come; he needs companionship and diversion if he's to be calm, contented, and have his mind taken off himself.

Of course, you will obey your doctor's orders. But there are lots of things he won't tell you which comprise good nursing, and every one knows that good nursing has a big part in recovery. Among them are these:

Feed your young convalescent often, but not too heavily.

Watch him and see that he doesn't get too tired. He may sit up and play—then lie down; short stretches of each, perhaps.

Avoid things that cause nervous strain, or avoid letting him play or do things to the point of nervous tension.

Fatigue comes quickly after an illness; even holding up his arms to play for long with tiny cars, dolls, or jack straws [or whatever it may be] can tire a child.

By hook or crook, if you haven't a breakfast tray with legs, buy one or make it. They're a veritable treasure for meals and play.

Have frequent rest times, even if your child doesn't think she's tired. Darken the room, lower the pillows, open the window. Also, have other quiet times when you sit in the room and sew, or prepare vegetables and chat. Without using eyes or muscles, your child will do nothing, relax, and still not be restless.

With only a little ingenuity you can make meal trays attractive—a little surprise present, or a new pitcher, or even decorated paper napkins and doily to replace the familiar linen ones.

I hardly need to add that cheerfulness and patience are part of the picture. Tomorrow we'll talk of amusing the convalescent.

These and other suggestions are contained in our leaflet "Caring for and Amusing the Convalescent Child." It will be sent on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Women of City Manager Committee Meet Today

The women's division of the Chicago city manager committee will sponsor a program makers' conference on the literature of city government all day today at Judson court of the University of Chicago. Dr. Martha Ziegler of the political science department of Northwestern university; Harold Gosnell, associate professor of political science at the University of Chicago; Rabbi Louis Binstock; Victor S. Yarros of the Lewis institute faculty, and Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, vice chairman of the committee, will be among the speakers.

WEDDINGS

Mrs. Violet Seymour of Evanston announces the approaching marriage on Saturday of her daughter, Mildred, to Norman Wilson Thomas of 6321 Winthrop avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thomas of Cambridge Springs, Pa. Mr. Thomas and his bride will sail June 9 for a wedding trip to the West Indies and South America.

The wedding of Miss Lorayne Ethel Stouffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Stouffer of River Forest, to Walter J. O'Brien, son of Mrs. Walter W. O'Brien of River Forest, took place on May 19 in the Little Log chapel at the Notre Dame university, with the Rev. Father O'Hara, president of the university, officiating.

Miss Stouffer was graduated from the St. Clara academy at Sinsinawa, Wis., and attended Rosary college. Mr. O'Brien was graduated from St. Thomas Military school at St. Paul, Minn., and Notre Dame. Mr. O'Brien and his bride will be at home at the Drake hotel after June 10.

The wedding of Miss Elaine Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Leaf of Chicago, to Richard Keith Hiller, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rockafeller Hiller of Mattapoisett, Mass., took place on May 28 in the Ebenezer Lutheran church.

POINT—COUNTER-POINT.

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Some defensive plays are so beautifully simple that, like the over-obvious letter in Poe's immortal story, they escape the eye. Consider East's absurdly simple, yet highly effective method of defeating the slam in the following hand:

North, dealer.

NORTH
♥ A K 6 4
♦ A K 5 4
♣ 9 3

WEST
♠ 7
♥ 8 5 3

♦ Q 10 7 3
♣ 8

SOUTH
♠ A K Q J 10
♥ 9 7

♣ A K 7 5

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

The partners had to exercise some restraint in stopping short of a grand slam, which indeed might have been a laydown with a favorable break of clubs. As the clubs broke, however, South had his work cut out for him, to bring home a small slam safely.

West opened the club queen. Declarer won and cashed his other club honor, with the intention of ruffing his two losers. East interrupted this proceeding, however, by ruffing in and returning a heart. Dummy won and a low spade was led to the ace. A low club was returned and safely ruffed with the nine spot. If, at this point, East had played automatically, discarding either a heart or a diamond, the contract would have been easy to fulfill. Declarer would merely draw trumps and establish the suit from which East had discarded, i. e., if East let go a heart declarer, after drawing trumps, would lead to the heart king and ruff a third round, thus ruffing away the opposing stopper. The same would apply to a diamond discard.

This particular East, a master player, saw what could happen if he were to discard from either red suit, and therefore refused to be trapped. He escaped by the unusual but simple expedient of discarding a trump! Declarer then was helpless. He never could establish a long card in either hearts or diamonds and, finally, wound up with a club loser. When declarer led the trump suit East merely followed dummy's discard.

Undoubtedly East's brilliant defensive play deserved its reward, but it is an interesting fact that if declarer had been as shrewd as East the opportunity for the under-trump play would not have arisen.

For once, I am going to be mysterious and hold out on my readers, leaving it to them to discover how declarer should have played the hand right from the start so as to insure his contract against any conceivable lay of cards. If you have to give up, drop me a line. But, first, I might say that I will give a strong hint in tomorrow's column.

"Showoff" Is Often Victim of Inferiority

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Have you ever been out with a dinner escort whose idea of showing you that he knows what it is all about is to quarrel with the waiter, complaining of the food and the service? Then you will understand Jeanne's plaint.

"We went to a perfectly nice restaurant for dinner the other night, and because we had to sit five minutes or so which I enjoyed, it giving me a chance to look around, he began complaining. He called the head waiter over and gave him a bawling out for keeping us waiting.

"When the food came he called again to complain that his plate was cold, the food on it colder. I couldn't begin to tell you what a miserable mealtime I put in. When we got out of the place I tried to remonstrate with him and he said: 'O, it is all right. I gave the fellow a dollar tip.'"

Jeanne apparently is not concerned about future prospects with the particular man. She merely asks what makes men behave like that in restaurants. Are they trying to impress the help with their importance, or what?

We do not suppose that many girls are subjected to the embarrassment because we do not believe that there are many men willing to show themselves up in such a light. But as long as she has asked what causes such scenes, we will answer that it is an inferiority complex at work. It shouts when it wants to show off.

Granted sometimes one is forced to wait, that the service is not good, and there is cause for complaint, the average man would not want to make a spectacle of himself before the girl he is trying to impress.

It has been rightly said that one's attitude toward the person who serves him or her bespeaks the real character of the individual. A waiter or other helper is at the mercy of the patron. He has to take the humiliating comments and sarcasm. He can't answer back as is deserved in some instances. And he despises the man who thinks a dollar tip will serve to assuage the insults.

If the food is cold, the meat tough or unsavory, the waiter can and should be told, but not in the manner of a big bully who wants it understood that this big patron will have the best or nothing.

More important, there is your own guest at the table to consider. She should not be subjected to the embarrassment of being party to a brawl.

Cool Striped Batiste Madras Shirts

Their style and the exceptionally lightweight fabric recommend these madras shirts as the running mates of your lightweight summer suits. Their smartly striped patterns are the British influence in summer turnouts, and look unusually well with solid color summer suits. The immaculate gentleman above, however, is wearing them with a striped suiting, and by his pleased expression you can tell that he feels as he looks, as cool as his friend under the shower.

ROSS WILL MAKE NO ATTEMPT TO REGAIN TITLE

Armstrong to Box Ambers July 26.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 1.—Barney Ross has run his race. Thoroughly beaten by Henry Armstrong last night in the Long Island bowl, Ross wisely has decided to retire.

Barney reiterated this announcement today as he rested in seclusion, recuperating from as savage a whipping as any pugilist ever has received. Sam Pian and Art Winch, Barney's friends and the only managers he ever has had, concurred.

"Barney's through," they said, and they mean it. It was the complete finality of Armstrong's superiority which wiped away any faint hope they might have entertained for Ross to start the comeback trail.

Ross Shows Courage.

Barney's handlers did not urge him to continue last night when twice Referee Arthur Donovan asked whether the unequal contest should be ended. Ross, who never had been knocked out, wished to go on. To those at the ringside who watched the monotonous tatoo of Armstrong's gloves, which battered Barney's face, bruised his lips, and opened a cut under the one eye from which he still could see his foe, the desire may have seemed a futile gesture. But Ross, who had won two world's titles, would have it so.

Ross was not seriously injured last night. In a few weeks his cuts and bruises will have disappeared. And no champion, when he has come to the end of the title trail, as all must, can feel a deeper satisfaction in honest achievement than Ross.

In a sport where honesty frequently is held at a premium and the double-cross is a sign of shrewdness, no man ever pointed in disdain at Barney Ross. Bred in the poverty of New York's east side, and reared in the toughening school of Chicago's Ghetto, Ross rose to fame by the skill of his fists. But he was respected for the virtues of the gentleman he is.

Goes On to Championship.

In 1929 the gangling, fatherless youngster won the Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight title. His untutored skill attracted the attention of Sam Pian, Art Winch became his trainer. These men, who matched Ross in tireless effort and integrity, carefully brought Barney to the lightweight and then the welterweight championship of professional boxing. It was Ross, of course, whose flying fists earned these honors. But Ross was the first to praise the help of Pian and Winch.

In 1933 Barney whipped doughty Tony Canzoneri in the Chicago Stadium for the lightweight championship. Then, true to his word, Ross gave Canzoneri an opportunity to regain that title three months later. Tony failed in a terrific fight in the Polo grounds in Manhattan.

One year later Ross stepped out of his weight division to fight Jimmy McLarnin for the world's welterweight title. And in the same ring where last night Ross was beaten, he defeated the smiling Irishman in fifteen rounds. Once more Ross kept an agreement to defend that title and in September, 1934, Ross was beaten. Another year and Barney regained the throne he was to hold against all comers until last night.

Armstrong Is Tireless.

So runs the story of Barney's professional career. It is a tale of which Ross should be proud and which will become, as years pass, a brighter passage in professional pugilism.

The man who conquered Ross, Henry Armstrong, already has won praise withheld during the last year when he knocked out thirty-five of his thirty-seven opponents. Armstrong may not be a stylist. Yet he does have one style. He keeps attacking.

He gave Ross a thundering licking after the early rounds. He was irresistible. He was seemingly tireless.

Today Armstrong has scaled heights never before achieved. A featherweight champion is the 147 pound champion of the world. He will go after his third title on July 26, when he meets Lou Ambers, successor to Ross' undefended lightweight crown. This date was announced today by Mike Jacobs, promoter for the Twentieth Century Sporting club, which will put on the bout.

Armstrong's 20 per cent of last night's receipts of $136,015.58 amounted to $27,203.12. It was his largest purse, but after a brief trip to Los Angeles he will return to prepare for his bout with Ambers.

Ross received 35 per cent last night, amounting to $47,608.46 Gross receipts for the bout were $160,860.64. Paid attendance was 26,430, with a total attendance of 28,290.

Turiello Wins Decision Over Harold Brown

Anniversary Tribute.

One year ago today American sport lost one of its most beloved figures and the Wake lost its distinguished conductor, Harvey T. Woodruff, who succumbed to a heart attack. The author of the following verse, submitted by Paul Mollan, is unknown, but it might well have been written in tribute to Woody.

Let me live, my mighty Master,
Such a life as men should know,
Tasting triumph and disaster,
Joy—but not too much of woe;
Let me run the gamut over,
Let me fight and love and laugh,
And when I'm beneath the clover
Let this be my epitaph:
Here lies one who took his chances
In this busy world of men,
Battled luck and circumstances,
Fought and fell and fought again.
Won sometimes but did no crowing—
Lost sometimes, but did not wail;
Always kept his courage going,
Never let his spirit fail.
He was fallible—human
And, therefore, loved and understood
Both his fellowman and woman
Whether good or not so good.
Kept his courage undiminished
Never laid down on a friend,
Played the game until it was finished
And lived a sportsman to the end.

Of why I never call you up,
Or stop you on the street?

California's Track Stars Visit Chicago

The University of California track team, four members of which have won places on the Pacific coast squad which will meet a Western conference aggregation in Dyche stadium June 25, arrived in Chicago yesterday en route to the I. C. 4-A meet in New York tomorrow and Saturday.

The Golden Bears worked out on Stagg field during a three hour stopover. Members of the team who will return to Chicago later in the month as members of the coast squad are George Anderson, low hurdles; Guy Manuel, broad jump; Bob Law, javelin, and Arnold Nutting, sprinter. Others on the squad were Rex Heap, sprints; Charles Miller, half mile, and Bob Canning, broad jump.

Hamilton Is Pleased.

Coach Brutus Hamilton of California was enthusiastic in his praise of the western team which will face the Big Ten this year. He hailed it as the greatest group of track and field stars ever assembled on the coast. He also predicted that the western athletes would sweep the meet in New York. Alumni representatives of Big Ten and Pacific coast schools met at a luncheon in the Bismarck hotel yesterday to make plans for the track meet between the two conferences.

Athletic Director K. L. Wilson and Track Coach Frank Hill of Northwestern addressed the group.

Alumni Committee Named.

An alumni committee which will work in conjunction with the university officials in putting on the meet was appointed at yesterday's meeting. It consists of the following:

JOCKIES' HEALTH, OLD HOSS' LEGS STIR ARGUMENT

Dispute Riddles Cards at Lincoln Fields.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Boys' health against the sore legs of selling plater race horses appears to be the crux of the argument that has riddled the racing programs at Lincoln Fields for the last two days.

It also delayed the release of entries for today until late yesterday afternoon. The entries ordinarily close at 10:30 o'clock in the morning on the day before the program is to be decided.

A walk through the jocky room at any major track where the low weight scale prevails reveals clean faced boys with ambition in their eyes in distress after endeavoring to reduce from a natural 110 or 112 pounds to 105 or less in order to be able to ride that afternoon.

Horsemen Like Light Weight.

A walk through the paddock and its surrounding promenades reveals horsemen who are happy because their steeds are permitted to carry a feather on their backs.

Now stroll through the Lincoln Fields jocky room during yesterday's rainstorm. The new high weight rule of the National Association of Racing Commissions prevails. Clean faced ambitious boys are there, but they haven't exhausted themselves by ten or a dozen miles of roadwork or distressed or imperiled their health with chemicals or medicine in an endeavour to shed weight.

A stroll through the paddock and its surrounding promenades reveals unhappy horsemen. "My poor old selling plater will break down if they put 116 pounds on his back," one will say.

Horsemen Ask Change.

A petition asking for a change to the lighter weight rule, signed by some horsemen, was presented to the Illinois racing commisison yesterday.

The rule was not changed, but Racing Secretary William Shelley agreed to rewrite the conditions for the races of tomorrow, Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday. Lighter weight allowances will be made to horses that are not in the habit of winning, but the 103 pounds minimum weight rule still will prevail.

Twelve carloads of horses arrived at Lincoln Fields and nearby Washington Park yesterday. They are of the better type. Weight will not scare them out of the races at Lincoln Fields.

◆

The Colleens' purse, a race for 3 year old fillies, headed yesterday's muddy track racing at Lincoln Fields. It was won by Novelette, a daughter of Strolling Player-Initiate, cleverly ridden by Jocky A. Robertson. Pegging Away finished second and Lenpola, which raced far out in front in the early stages, was third.

Novelette, stoutly backed along with her running companion Noticing, paid $4.80. The filly races for Mrs. Jake Lowenstein of Chicago and was trained by Mr. Lowenstein.

◆

The girls of the turf also held the spotlight in the other featured number, the Senorita, a dash at five furlongs for 2 year old fillies. R. A. Firestone from Akron provided the winner in Perimetric which won handily by two lengths from Warren Wright's Mugal.

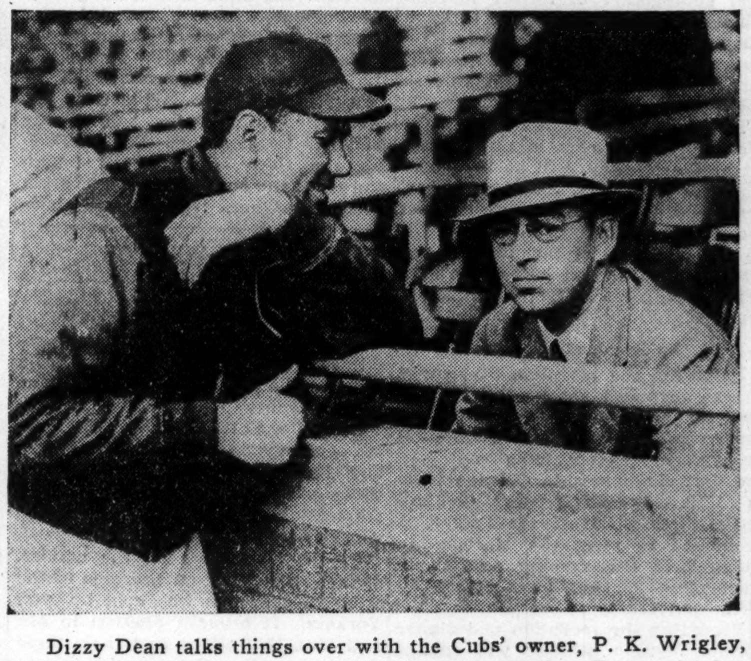
◆

Official figures on the recent Aurora meeting show the Fox Valley track handled $2,451,411 through its new totalizator, a daily average of $102,142. A year ago Aurora's daily average was $101,936 dollars. The 1938 gain of $206 per day average was turned in on less races than were run at the previous meeting.

Schnabel Throws Conley in Rainbo Fronton Bout

Hans Schnabel, German heavyweight, threw Jack Conley of Boston in 18 minutes and 2 seconds in a wrestling match last night in the Rainbo Fronton arena. King Kong threw Jerry Meeker in 3 minutes and 9 seconds. Fritz Schnabel and Rudy Strongberg wrestled to a 30 minute draw. Bruno Black tossed Joe Corbett [18:21]. Hugo Schnabel threw Bull Curley [25:06].

I'll Be Ready Soon, Boss



Dizzy Dean talks things over with the Cubs' owner, P. K. Wrigley, before yesterday's game was canceled because of rain. Dean, who has been out because of an ailing arm, hopes to get back into the game within a week or ten days.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Dean Limbers Up Arm; Rain Stops Cubs

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The great Diz Dean got into the news again yesterday, which was more than his Cub mates were able to do. They, as well as the Boston Bees, who are buzzing right merrily at this stage of the pennant race, were driven away from their work by a deluge which struck Wrigley field a half hour before game time. The Great Man, who hasn't pitched since May 3 but is hoping, had all his chores out of the way before the rain arrived.

Dean, having been told the day previous that his arm was no longer a case for the doctor, went to work in batting practice. He really threw as if he meant business. After getting well oiled up on the first round of hitters he began to try his old delivery which is a bit overhand instead of sidearm such as he used in the four games he pitched after $185,000 of Cub money purchased his pardon from the St. Louis Cardinals' chain gang. The overhand style apparently worked pretty well.

Dizzy Warms Up.

Diz felt so giddy over his successful display that he figured a little more of it would be amusing, at least for himself. He got himself a catcher and a ball and sneaked out to where the day's pitcher warms up. As soon as he had thrown a few Manager Grimm spotted his bad boy and chased Coach Johnson out to order a halt. Diz kept on throwing so Grimm had to make the trip from the dugout and snatch the ball from the $185,000 hand. Diz just grinned and looked around for something else to do.

Despite his seemingly swell condition and his insistence that he can pitch on a minute's notice the boy giant will have to serve his full training sentence which still has more than a week to run. It is probable that he won't even appear as a starter until after the present home stay has ended. At least that is Grimm's present plan, but he appreciates the scheme is built on uncertainties. He's not sure how much longer Bill Lee, Larry French, and Tex Carleton can stand up under rest periods of three and four days.

Thrive on Work.

So far the men mentioned have thrived on curtailed vacations. The work program was put into effect when the last trip started and there were nine victories in twelve games when it was finished. Lee has pitched four games, winning all of them, in a thirteen day stretch. French has pitched once with a two day layoff and twice with three days. Carleton and Clay Bryant have had three and five day vacations. Since May 18 when French was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth against the Giants, Root eventually winning, eleven out of twelve starting pitchers have finished.

What Grimm wants far more than the immediate return of Dean to action, is an improvement on attack. His pitchers then won't have to throw shutout or one run ball to win. Until the manager gets the desired improvement, the gentlemen who are behind in their hitting will have to

LOUIS KNOCKS DOWN SPARMATE; DRILLS 6 ROUNDS

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 1.—(AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis worked six strenuous rounds today in preparation for the defense of his title against Max Schmeling on June 22.

Louis took on Murray Kanner, Basher Dean, and George Nicholson for two rounds each. He jarred Kanner with several left hooks after his sparmate had walloped the champion with a hard right to the jaw. Dean also landed Schmeling's favorite punch on the champion's jaw and was knocked down with a one-two punch in return.

It was Louis' fourth workout in five days for the match at Yankee stadium. He will box again tomorrow and rest Friday, resuming ring work Saturday and Sunday.

RICKEY DENIES LEADING FIGHT TO OUST LANDIS

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—[Special.]—Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, today denied published reports that Cardinal officials were leading a fight against K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball. According to the reports, Rickey had received the support of several clubs against the reappointment of Landis.

Angott Batters Eldridge to Win 10 Round Decision

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 1.—(AP)—Sammy Angott, Washington, Pa., lightweight, battered his way tonight to a 10 round decision over Irving Eldridge, New Yorker, who barely escaped a knockout. Angott, who weighed 133, struck Eldridge flush on the chin in the third round with a hard right hook, sending his 132 pound opponent down heavily. The New York fighter had difficulty getting to his feet at the count of nine, but managed to last out the ten rounds.

LEWIS' SINGLE OFF STRATTON CLINCHES GAME

Seventh Defeat in Row for Hose.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—The White Sox today ran their losing streak to seven straight when they lost to the Washington Senators, 5 to 4, with two out in the ninth. To Sox supporters who have been worrying about their heroes of late, it may be said they showed some fight and even skill in the late innings.

It appeared the Senators had won in the eighth, when with the score at two all Zeke Bonura drove in a run with a triple and scored himself to give the home boys a 4 to 2 lead going into the ninth. This was off John Whitehead and it appeared big John would be chalked with his first defeat of the year. Then the Sox rose up and scored two runs after two were out in the ninth to again knot the count. Boze Berger and Jackie Hayes did the cheering socking in this rally.

That Horrible Ninth.

Monty Stratton and Tony Rensa went in to pitch and catch in the home ninth. Rick Ferrell, first up, flied out, but Monte Weaver, who had relieved Jimmy De Shong in the first half of the inning, dumped a single into left. Weaver promptly was forced by Myer for the second out. Rensa dropped one of Stratton's pitches to Lewis, who had been hitless all afternoon, and when Myer reached second without a play, he was credited with a stolen base. Lewis then lined a single to left and the Sox still had a clean slate as losers at Griffith stadium, they having lost two extra inning games here early in May.

Although they lost, the Sox boosted their run average for their losing streak. In the first six games of the string they averaged 1.333 per game. Their average for the seven games of the streak is 1.714.

Sox Waste Opportunities.

After Berger, Hayes and Steinbacher had been knocked off on successive grounders in the first inning, the Senators utilized their half of the inning in getting a runner as far as third. Myer opened with a single to left, after which he was forced by Lewis, Kuhel to Berger. In attempting to complete a double play, Berger threw to the stands, Lewis reaching second. Buddy went to third while Kuhel was retiring Wright and died there when Stone lined to Hayes.

Kreevich got the second inning under way with a single to left and Walker walked. Kuhel fouled to Lewis, but Owen walked, filling the bases. Sewell tapped into a double play, DeShong to R. Ferrell to Bonura. The Senators went out in order in their half of the second.

The Sox folded again after a good start in the third. Whitehead singled to right and dashed safely into second by an eyelash on Berger's single to right. Hayes bounced into a double play and Steinbacher was out on a tap, Bonura to DeShong.

Senators Take Lead.

After Owen had fouled to R. Ferrell in the fifth, Sewell singled to left for the fourth Chicago hit. Whitehead attempted to sacrifice and forced Sewell at second, DeShong to Travis. Berger then fanned.

Travis opened the fifth with the third hit off Whitehead, a triple to center. He promptly scored on Almada's single to center.

GULDAHL PACKS HIS OPEN CROWN AND GOES WEST

He Hopes to Bring It Back from Denver Meet.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Ralph Guldahl.

Mr. Ralph Guldahl, the young man who played a lot of golf to win the national open championship a year ago come June 12, last night boarded the Burlington Zephyr in the Union Station, bound for Denver, Colo., where one week from today he will begin the toughest job in the game, that of defending the open title.

No golfer has put over a consecutive double in the big show since Bobby Jones scored in 1929 and 1930, but Guldahl last night was confident that he will give a good account of himself. The tall Texan who registered from our town, when he won the 1937 crown in Detroit and thus gave Chicago its first national open victory in twenty-one years, now is stationed at Madison, N. J.

He's Driving Better.

Guldahl is satisfied with his general play, and pointed out that he is driving straighter than ever before in his career. He is not, however, content with his putting, and hopes to adjust same with considerable drilling at the Cherry Hills club in Denver, where the open will be held next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Mrs. Guldahl Goes, Too.

Mrs. Guldahl accompanied the champion on the trip west. They left their son, Ralph Jr. in the care of friends. Guldahl plans to compete in the second annual Chicago open tournament at Olympia fields on July 22, 23, and 24, but is not certain whether the schedule at his new club will permit him to do so.

Jock Anderson of Techny Fields, tournament chairman of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association, announced yesterday that the St. Charles Country club will be the site of the local qualifying rounds for the national P. G. A. on June 20. The tournament proper will be decided at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, Pa., July 10 to 16. Illinois leads the country in number of qualifying berths allotted with nine.

The Illinois P. G. A. also will hold its first pro-amateur event of the season at Calumet on Monday. Amateur partners will be furnished by the club. George Knox is the host professional. Play will start at 1:30 p. m.

SMITH'S FIANCEE VISITOR AT HIS PARENTS' HOME

Springfield, Mo., June 1.—(AP)—Horton Smith, professional golfer, brought Miss Barbara Louise Bourne, heiress to a part of the Singer sewing machine fortune, here to visit his parents tonight and said they probably would be married in the fall.

He avoided direct announcement of the engagement, saying he would prefer that such announcement come "at the proper place and the proper time" from Miss Bourne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Severin Bourne of Washington, Conn., and Augusta, Ga.

Miss Bourne will remain here until tomorrow night, visiting her fiancé's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry H. Smith, after which she will return east. Smith will leave early tomorrow to compete in the Kansas City open.

Miss Bourne is a top ranking golfer herself. Last year she defeated Mildred [Babe] Didrikson in the Aiken, S. C., women's tournament, only to lose to Patty Berg in the finals. Her romance with Smith grew on the links.

The personable, slender brunette is a granddaughter of the late Frederick Bourne, once commodore of the New York Yacht club and president of the Singer Sewing Machine company. She made her debut at the Hotel Pierre, New York City, on New Year's eve, 1930.

Tonight was the first time she had met her fiancé's parents.

C. Y. O. TO HOLD RECEPTION FOR IRISH FIGHTERS

A reception is being planned for Ireland's boxing champions who are to meet Catholic Youth Organization boxers in the annual C. Y. O. Milk Fund show in Soldiers' field on July 13.

Plans are now under way to greet the boys in Garfield park on the night of July 8. There will be a parade of automobiles, floats, bands, Sea Scouts and Boy Scouts on west side streets. The parade will finish at Garfield park, Madison street and Hamlin avenue. Thousands of people and a number of outstanding civic leaders in Chicago will be present to welcome them.

The Irish lads are coming to the United States on the Queen Mary and are expected to arrive in New York on July 4. They are due in Chicago on July 6.

Four Americans Advance in English Tennis Meet

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—Four Americans advanced to the third round of the women's singles in the St. George's Hill tennis tournament today. Helen Wills Moody led the parade, defeating Sheila Piercy, South Africa, 6-2, 6-2. Dorothy Bundy, California, won from Mrs. E. C. Peters, 6-4, 7-5; Alice Marble, San Francisco, eliminated Gem Hoahing, China, 6-2, 6-2, and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, Brookline, Mass., triumphed over Miss P. L. F. Thompson, 6-1, 6-1.

Marek Injures Knee; Put Off Knox Match

Aggravation of an old knee injury will force postponement of his scheduled ten round bout with Buddy Knox, Dayton [O.] heavyweight, in Sparta stadium tomorrow, Max Marek said after a workout yesterday in C. Y. O. center. Promoter Billy Cepak said the new date will be June 15. . . . Bill and Joe Preston, fighting twins from Marquette park, will appear in two contests on the amateur card in the Madison Athletic club tomorrow. The former is paired with Frankie O'Brien, lightweight, and Joe with Jerry Cowan, welterweight. . . . Harold Rodie, 124th Field Artillery armory 147 pound amateur, and Jake Carter have agreed to box five rounds in Western stadium tomorrow. . . .

Bruno Black is matched in a wrestling bout with Jim McMillen Monday in White City. King Kong will wrestle Gene Bauman. Roy Rickenbacher and Jerry Meeker meet in a return bout.

Maroons Will Honor Stagg at Reception

Amos Alonzo Stagg, after five seasons away from the Midway will be the guest of honor today at the annual get-together of former Maroon athletes on the University of Chicago campus. Stagg is on his way to New Haven to attend the fiftieth anniversary of his graduation from Yale in 1888.

The former Maroon coach, who spent forty-one years in active service at the Midway, will be the guest of honor with Mrs. Stagg at a garden party at the Quadrangle club on the university campus. His hosts will be the hundreds of members of the Order of the C, first letter men's organization in the nation, which Stagg founded.

To Speak at Dinner.

Following the reception Stagg will be the principal speaker at the annual dinner of the order in Hutchinson commons. He will be introduced by Walter Kennedy, who captained the first championship Chicago team in 1899. Stagg's present football team, the College of the Pacific, is scheduled to meet the Maroons in Stagg field this coming autumn in celebration of his forthcoming fiftieth anniversary as a coach.

Preceding the reception and dinner former Maroon athletes will engage in their annual baseball battle with the varsity at Greenwood field. Such oldsters as Pat Page, H. O. Crisler, Fred Walker, Bobie Cahn, and Nelson Norgren will compete for the alumni.

Award Forty-seven Letters.

New winners of the varsity letter this year will be inducted into the Order of the C tonight by Lawrence Whiting, president.

LEWIS TO FIGHT GALENTO JULY 13 IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., June 1.—(AP)—Philadelphia's biggest outdoor boxing show in two years, bringing together Tony Galento of Newark, N. J., and John Henry Lewis of Phoenix, Ariz., light heavyweight champion, on the night of July 13 at Municipal stadium, was announced today.

Herman Taylor, veteran boxing promotor, announced the match at a party attended by the two principals and many celebrities, including Gov. George H. Earle.

Philadelphia's last big outdoor fight was held in the Municipal stadium in September, 1936, when Joe Louis knocked out Al Ettore of Philadelphia before a crowd of nearly 40,000.

400,000 SEE BOIS ROUSSEL TAKE ENGLISH DERBY

20 to 1 Shot Is Victor in Stretch Drive.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EPSOM, England, June 1. — Peter Beatty's Bois Roussel won the 159th running of the English Derby today. A crowd estimated at 400,000, including King George, Queen Elizabeth, and Queen Mother Mary, watched Bois Roussel, quoted at 20 to 1, race to victory in a downpour of rain. Scottish Union finished second, four lengths behind the winner, and H. E. Morriss' Pasch, the favorite, was third.

It was the second victory in the career of Bois Roussel, a French-bred colt purchased for $40,000 a month ago, a short time after he had scored his only other victory, at the Longchamps track near Paris. Bois Roussel, which covered the mile and one-half in 2:39 1-5, was trained by Fred Darling, who also conditioned Pasch for the big race.

Wins in Stretch.

Bois Roussel was sold to Beatty by Leon Volterra, Paris theatrical magnate. Beatty is a son of the late Admiral Earl Beatty and a cousin of Marshall Field of Chicago.

Ridden by Jocky Charles Elliott, Bois Roussel did not start to come up until the final hill leading into the homestretch, and moved to the front in the last quarter mile.

The two American owned horses in the race, William Woodward's Valerian III. and J. E. Widener's Unbreakable, finished far behind the leaders. Lord Astor's Pound Foolish and Cave Man finished fourth and fifth; Golden Sovereign was sixth and Portmarnock took seventh place.

SIX U. S. WINNERS

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—Division of hundreds of thousands of dollars as a result of the Irish hospital sweepstakes on today's Derby brought the usual intense excitement in this country and Canada.

A total of $2,125,000 fell to the holders of tickets on the first three horses and there was $2,023,772 more for those who drew tickets on other starters and those who shared in the consolation prizes.

Of the six tickets on the winner, Bois Roussel, held on this side of the Atlantic only one was held by New Yorkers. It brought $150,000 to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jupp and their three daughters, Alice, Ethel, and Edith.

Sells Half of Ticket.

The other American tickets on Bois Roussel were held by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McAuliffe of Wichita, Kas.; Black Sheep, Seattle, Wash.; William Schoenbeck, Everett, O., and Mildred E. Meck of Millersburg, Pa.

Mrs. Jupp's ticket, according to a neighbor, Mrs. Ella Tierney, was a free one, received as a premium for selling others in a book.

Jupp, a masseur at the Hotel Pennsylvania, sold half interest in his ticket to Sidney Freeman, English bookmaker, for $5,600. They will receive $80,600.

Six New Yorkers were among the eleven Americans who receive $75,000 each on Scottish Union, the place horse.

VALET WINS $150,000

MOSCOW, Russia, June 1.—(AP)—The Irish hospitals sweepstakes today poured sudden wealth even into the socialist realm of soviet Russia and thereby enriched the valet of United States Ambassador Joseph E. Davies. The valet, Carl Carlson, learned by radio at Odessa that he had won $150,000 on the Epsom Derby.

On a trip through the Ukraine with the ambassador, the 56 year old Carlson held a ticket on Bois Roussel which he had refused to sell for an offer of $55,000 after the draw. He sent word back to Moscow he would continue to work as a valet despite his new wealth.

CLARENCE BUSH FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Clarence A. Bush, director of publicity for the American Olympic committee, who died suddenly Tuesday, will be held at 214 East 115th street at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Burial will be in Oakridge cemetery.

Mr. Bush, who was 43 years old, came to Chicago twenty years ago. He was connected with the Christian Science Monitor for twenty-five years. During the world war he served overseas with C battery, 101st Field artillery. In recent years he had been active in promotion work for the Amateur Athletic union.

[Copyright: 1938; Regal Press, Inc.]

FIRST RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Weather threatening; track muddy.

Horse and jocky—	Wt	PP	St	¼	½	Str	Fin	Owner	Eq odds
JENS SON [L.Sisler]	118	5	1	1½	1^3	1^5	1^5	A.G.Tarn	.80-1
MISS BALKO [J.E.Oros]	113	4	3	$2^{1½}$	2^1	2^3	2^2	L.MatyasJr.	5.40-1

SIR KAI [D.Castile]	115	2	4	6	6	5^1	4^2	A.G.Randolph	5.30-1
MOHAC [W.J.Young]	111	6	6	5^2	5^2	6	5^4	Mrs.Copenhaver	19.70-1
IMPRIMIS [E.Myers]	106	1	2	3^h	4^2	4^b	6	W.Kavanagh	45.20-1

Time, :24 2-5, :49, 1:16 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Jens Son, $3.60 straight, $2.40 place, $2.20 show; Miss Balko, $3.40 place, $2.40 show; Hook It, $3.20 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 2:15. At post 3½ minutes.

JENS SON, away fast and rated under steadying restraint for about three-eighths, took a commanding advantage under only mild urging when approaching the stretch and, much the best, easily held sway thereafter. MISS BALKO, weakly ridden, was under a strong hold for almost a half mile and, racing on her own courage, held on fairly well.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Horse and jocky—	Wt	PP	St	¼	½	Str	Fin	Owner	Eq odds
PERSONABLE [C.Rollins]	113	7	1	1^1	1^3	1^3	$1^{1½}$	R.O.Higdon	2.60-1

LUCKINGO [A.Lewis]	103	5	3	6^{10}	5^4	6^{15}	6^{20}	T.H.Cross	11.40-1
TELPAH [E.Myers]	108	1	7	7	7	7	7	Mrs.E.Flaherty	36.40-1

Time, :24 3-5, :49 1-5, 1:17 2-5. [Weather raining, track muddy]. Two dollar mutuels paid: Personable, $7.20 straight, $4.20 place, $2.80 show; Memory Chair, $7.40 place, $4.00 show; Facula, $2.80 show. Winner trained by owner.

PERSONABLE, fractions at the post but away fast, raced in easy command for three-eighths, bore out badly when increasing his advantage on the stretch turn and, continuing well when straight, held MEMORY CHAIR safe, but probably had little left. MEMORY CHAIR saved ground throughout, was under mild pressure the final quarter, and held on gamely.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

QUICK RELIEF [R.Dotter]	109	5	2	4^2	5^1	7^b	10	K.Mayer	23.70-1

Time, :23 4-5, :48 3-5, 1:17 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Maderis, $8.00 straight, $4.00 place, $3.00 show; Shirley B., $4.40 place, $4.20 show; Spickeen, $8.00 show. Winner trained by A. G. Tarn. Went to post at 3:19. At post 4¼ minutes.

MADERIS, on the inside early, took command while still under a steady hold as GAY BUBBLE went out on the stretch turn, swerved out after increasing his advantage, and weakened in the late stages but lasted. SHIRLEY B., raced wide after the opening quarter, had to be taken under a stronger hold as she attempted to follow GAY BUBBLE out on the stretch turn and, closing well on the extreme outside, was getting to the winner.

FOURTH RACE—Five furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25.

PERIMETRIC, suited by the going, took command with a rush and, steadied along to the final eighth, responded boldly to only a mild shaking up and was again taken in hand near the end. MUGAL, away slowly and kept on the inside for three-eighths, was under strong urging throughout and weakened in the last eighth.

PUNDIT began to improve his position after a half mile, came through on the inside in the stretch and, wearing down FANFERN, drew out fast in the last sixteenth. Latter, rated under a stout hold for five-eighths, continued gamely while slowly giving way to the winner and weakened sharply in the late stages, but held the others safe.

GIANTS FINALLY GET A RUN, BUT PIRATES SCORE 4

Fading Champions Are Easy for Bauers.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 1.—(AP)—The New York Giants, still deep in their hitting slump, dropped a 4 to 1 decision to young Russ Bauers and the Pirates today and had their National league lead over the Cubs cut to two games as a result.

Bauers, going the route for the first time this year and scoring his first victory, held the losers to five hits, all in the first six innings. After being blanked twice in Boston Monday, the Giants stretched their scoreless streak to twenty-three innings before shoving their lone run across in the sixth on Jim Ripple's double.

Cliff Melton, the Giants' starter, was handed his second setback of the season against seven victories. The Pirates did all their scoring off him, before he was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The Pirates landed on Melton for three of their runs in the fifth on singles by Gus Suhr, Bauers, and the Waner brothers, and a costly error by Mickey Haslin, filling in at second base. Score:

Tigers Whip Yankees, 8-4; 8 for Kennedy

New York, June 1.—(AP) — Vernon Kennedy came within three home runs of shutting out the Yankees today as he pitched the Detroit Tigers to an 8 to 4 victory over the world champions for his eighth straight of the season.

After blanking the Yankees with five hits for seven innings, Lou Gehrig and Bill Dickey got to him for home runs in the eighth and Frank Crosetti smashed one in the ninth for all the Yankee runs. Crosetti's came with a mate on.

While Kennedy yielded only eight hits in halting the Yanks' three game winning streak, his mates pounded Steve Sundra and Bump Hadley for fifteen. One of them was Hank Greenberg's thirteenth homer of the year, deep into the left field stands in the ninth inning. Hank also collected a pair of singles, and Kennedy hit a double and two singles to lead the attack. Score:

Gabler to Face W. Ferrell and Senators Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—Frank Gabler, still eager for his second American league victory, will pitch against the Senators tomorrow. Wes Ferrell, whom the Sox tendered a 9 to 2 trimming in Chicago on May 22, is expected to start for Washington. Gabler has won one and lost two; Ferrell has won seven and lost three.

Manager James Dykes, who has two weeks to strengthen his team through major league deals, is expected to leave the team on a business mission most any day now.

The Washington newspapers are beginning to ride Zeke Bonura with such cracks as "even Bonura got a hit," etc., etc. Zeke has been struggling to keep his batting mark above .200 and barely has succeeded.

The maximum temperature here yesterday was the same in Chicago and the minimum was eighteen degrees under that of Chicago, which is something startling if you know your Washington norm for this time of year.

attend morning classes. The outstanding delinquent is Frank Demaree who has produced only three hits in his last seventeen times at bat.

Bryant to Pitch.

When the delayed opener of the Bees series is staged today, Clay Bryant will draw the Cubs' pitching assignment against Milburn Shoffner, the old man rookie. They met recently in Boston and Bryant was the victim of his own mates' dislike for scoring runs. He lost 2 to 1 in eleven innings.

French, a left hander, purchased a tiny cub yesterday. Larry gave $10 for the animal to a fan who brought it to the park on a leash. Now Rip Collins, also left handed, wants to buy it to send home to his kids, but the price has risen to $15.

The cub, which was named Snoopy, shook off his leash last night and ambled down to the corner of Sherwin avenue and Sheridan road, and climbed a tree.

Reënforcements Come Up.

By the time French learned he was missing, a crowd of children had gathered and were tossing Snoopy candy. Then Stanley Hack and his father, Charles, came on the scene.

While the two ball players stood about lending moral encouragement, the elder Hack shinnied thirty feet up the tree, snapped the leash on Snoopy's collar, and tugged until he came down.

RICKEY WATCHES P. DEAN

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—(AP)—Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals watched Paul Dean work out late today and then announced he would make no decision on the pitcher's future before tomorrow or Friday.

Dean, who flew here from Dallas, Tex., today, had two conferences with Rickey, one before and one after the St. Louis-Philadelphia game. Dean will remain here for the present.

The younger brother of Dizzy Dean was sent to Houston on option after training with the Cards in Florida. But Paul won only one game while losing four with the club's Texas league farm.

Paul reached his greatest major league heights in 1934, when St. Louis won the National league pennant and a world series from the Detroit Tigers.

Prep Nines to Clash Today in Semi-Finals

Semi-final games in the Chicago Public High School Baseball league will be played this afternoon. The championship game is slated for Saturday at Comiskey park.

In one of today's games Harper and Calumet, champion and runner-up, respectively, in the south section, meet at Shewbridge field. The other encounter will send Harrison of the west division against Lindblom of the central section at Mills stadium.

Calumet Is Threat.

Calumet is rated as a strong contender for the title as the result of having trimmed the powerful Lane Tech nine, 10 to 5, Tuesday.

Coach George Boyle probably will start Ed Schneider, a right hander, against Harper, and if there is relief work to be done Jim McGreal, ace of the Calumet staf, will be called upon. McGreal, who was converted from a catcher to a hurler and also plays the outfield, has won six games and lost one.

Harrison vs. Lindblom.

With Tilden, the defending champion, also out of the running as a result of Harrison's 4 to 3 victory, the race for the 1938 title is a toss-up. Coach Charles Kruper of Harrison will rely on his ace, Johnny Zeger, to stop Lindblom. Harrison was runner-up in the west section campaign, and has a record of eleven victories in fifteen starts, while Lindblom has won ten, lost two, and tied one.

N. U. NINE PICKS BOB SAMPSON TO LEAD 1939 TEAM

Bob Sampson of Chicago was elected captain of Northwestern university's baseball team for next year, Coach Burt Ingwersen announced yesterday. Sampson has been regular left fielder on the team for two years.

Jack Woy, also of Chicago, was voted the team's most valuable player. Woy, who batted .380, played four positions during the year. He opened the season at second base and was shifted to shortstop, center field, and third base when injuries forced changes in the lineup.

Six members of the team will be graduated on June 11. They are Woy and Merle Keppen of Chicago, Harry Brooky and Jack Kaufman of Evanston, Harry Skidmore of Highland Park, and George Lymper of Argo, Ill.

PURDUE VOTES JUNIOR PITCHER MOST VALUABLE

Lafayette, Ind., June 1.—[Special.]—Arnold Bredewater of Greensburg, pitcher who was credited with four victories during the Western conference season, has been named by his mates the most valuable player to the Purdue baseball squad.

It's Time to Go Fishing for Muskies

BY BOB BECKER.

Fishermen are trying out their new lures and casting rods on northern Wisconsin lanes, trilliums and other wild flowers are in blossom in the fragrant woods, muskies and pike have been hitting, and Wisconsin's north woods vacation country is dressed up and ready for the 1938 fishing season. These were just a few of the highlights observed on our recent trip through part of Wisconsin to try our luck with the fish and also to see how the other early season fishermen were getting along.

Our trip took us through the Tomahawk and Minocqua-Woodruff section, then west over highway 70, which leads to many lakes and camps, into Fifield, and westward to the Flambeau river country.

Water Is High.

We found all of the lakes looking better, due to the abundant rainfall, which has raised their water levels, fishermen already shooting the rapids of the Flambeau and catching muskies, camps entertaining their first crowds of fishermen, and the whole country looking fresh and green.

Judging from reports from the Manitowish waters, the Eagle river chain, the St. Germaine lakes region, the Minocqua lake section, and our own observations on lakes visited, fishermen did very well for themselves during the first days of the muskie season. Many nice fish were hooked and landed.

Here's a Big One.

The biggest muskie that we have heard about so far is a 39 pounder taken by Martin Zeiger, 5457 Hyde Park boulevard, Chicago, from Little St. Germaine lake. It was caught on a spoon lure. Even the old Flambeau river got off to a good start. We saw two parties take their first river trip of the year and both came home with muskies.

This fact was apparent after we looked at a number of lakes in northern Wisconsin: The rainfall this spring has lifted lake levels and apparently helped the muskie fishing. The water in hundreds of lakes again is high enough to cover thousands of old logs and snags into which game fish want to go. This means that the muskies can get into their old hangouts along the shore so that the bait caster may reach them with his lures.

on Steinbacher's single to center. Kreevich moved up the runners with a sacrifice, Lewis to Myer. Travis went back on the grass to make a spectacular stop of Walker's potential hit and threw to Lewis in time to get Steinbacher at third, Hayes scoring the tying run and Walker stopping at first. Walker stole second, but Kuhel again was out, Bonura to De Shong.

At the start of the Washington sixth, Wright bounced a single through Berger and when Walker let the ball roll past him to the wall, Wright reached third on the error. Stone sent a long fly to Kreevich, Wright scoring. Owen threw out Bonura, but Travis beat out a bunt to Owen. Almada flied to Kreevich.

Sox Tie Score Again.

In the Sox seventh, Owen flied to Wright and Sewell fouled to Bonura. Whitehead was thrown out by Travis.

Berger singled to left to get the eight under way, his second and the Sox's seventh hit. Hayes sacrificed, Bonura to Myer, but Steinbacher fouled to Stone. Kreevich singled to center, scoring Berger with the tying run. Walker then forced Kreevich with a bouncer to Travis.

At the beginning of the home eighth, Wright bounced to Kuhel and beat Joe in the race for the bag. On Whitehead's second pitch to Stone, Wright stole second. Wright took third while Hayes was tossing out Stone. Bonura tripled to center, scoring Wright, and Zeke got home himself on Travis' fly to Kreevich.

Kuhel walked on four pitches at the start of the ninth and Owen walked after a three and two count. Rosenthal then batted for Sewell with instructions to swing and flied to Almada after a three and two count. Thompson batted for Whitehead and forced Owen, Myer to Travis. Berger singled to right for his third hit, Kuhel scoring and Thompson stopping at second. Hayes singled to center, Thompson scoring the tying run and Berger stopping at second. Weaver replaced De Shong and made Steinbacher fly to Almada.

FIVE DIVIDENDS REDUCED; ONE COMPANY OMITS

Chesapeake Corporation Takes No Action.

Five dividend reductions, one omission, one increase, one resumption, and a number of regular dividends, including several usual extras, were ordered by American corporations yesterday.

Chesapeake corporation directors voted to take no action on dividends, "considering it unwise to deplete cash resources pending possible action on total or partial dissolution" of this intermediate holding company of the former Van Sweringen rail empire. The company has been paying 75 cents a share quarterly on its stock.

International Shoe company cut its July 1 dividend to 37½ cents a share. It paid 50 cents quarterly on April and Jan. 1.

Other dividend reductions were those made by American Agricultural Chemical company, American Fork and Hoe company, Beneficial Industrial Loan corporation, and Master Electric company.

Climax Molybdenum.

Investors' Guide: Will you please discuss the Climax Molybdenum company? I see that its earnings are higher this year.—A. J.

Answer: The Climax Molybdenum company produces about 75 per cent of the world's total output of molybdenum. Mining operations are conducted chiefly at Climax, Colo., where the company owns the largest molybdenum mine in the world.

Molybdenum is used principally as an alloy in the production of iron and steel, various chemicals, electrical equipment, electric light bulbs, and radio tubes.

Annual capacity of the mine and concentrator at Climax is being expanded to 25,000,000 pounds from about 20,000,000 a few years ago. Output last year was 22,000,000 pounds of molybdenum in the form of concentrates, a gain of about 50 per cent over output in 1936 and 120 per cent over 1935.

A subsidiary, Climax Molybdenum company of Pennsylvania, maintains a plant at Langeloth, Pa., for converting concentrates into calcium molybdate and ferro-molybdum. Another subsidiary, Climax Molybdenum company of Michigan, maintains a research laboratory at Detroit, Mich.

Climax Molybdenum reported net income of $1,991,806, or 79 cents a common share, in the first quarter of this year, compared with $1,679,906, or 67 cents a share, in the corresponding period last year. Max Schott, president, said in the company's annual report for 1937 that production early in 1938 was at the rate of 28,000,000 to 30,000,000 pounds of molybdenum a year.

Net income for all of 1937 was $7,173,796, or $2.85 a share, compared with $5,206,111, or $2.07 a share, in 1936; $3,227,767, or $1.28 a share, in 1935; $1,790,603, or 71 cents a share on basis of present capitalization in 1934; $898,550, or 36 cents a share on present capitalization in 1933, and $89,505, or 4 cents a share on present capitalization in 1932.

The company at present has 2,520,000 shares of no par common stock outstanding. The authorized number of shares was increased in October, 1935, from 1,000,000 to 3,000,000 shares, and each old share was split three for one. The stock now pays $1.20 a year in dividends.

Total assets were $81,021,885 at the end of 1937. Current assets were $6,196,589, compared with current liabilities of $1,596,771.

SMELTERS TAKE LESS LEAD.

Receipts of lead in ore and scrap by United States smelters during April totaled 39,140 tons, compared with 40,417 tons the previous month, and 43,773 tons in April, 1937, the American bureau of metal statistics reported today. Stocks of lead in the hands of United States refiners and smelters on May 1 totaled 235,774 tons, against 221,346 on April 1 and 200,490 May 1, 1937.

MONOPOLY SUIT OPENED AGAINST ALUMINUM CO.

U. S. Charges '100 Pct.' Control of Industry.

New York, June 1.—(AP)—Opening the government's case in its anti-trust suit against the Aluminum company of America and sixty-two co-defendants, Walter L. Rice, special assistant attorney general, asserted today the company and associates had a "100 per cent monopoly in the virgin aluminum and bauxite industry throughout the western hemisphere."

From the time of incorporation [about fifty years ago] to Dec. 31, 1934, he said, the company paid cash dividends of approximately $82,000,000 and also had distributed among its stockholders stock with a stated value of $22,988,682, which it had received for certain of its properties from Aluminum, Ltd., of Canada.

Aluminum and its subsidiaries, he said, controled the entire output of this country and, through Aluminum, Ltd., and its affiliates, controled the output of the "rest of the world."

The two big issues in the case, he said in his outline, were:

"First, whether or not there is a combination or conspiracy in interstate commerce in violation of section 1 of the Sherman anti-trust act, and, second, whether or not there is a monopolization or attempt to monopolize interstate or foreign commerce in aluminum in violation of section 2 of the act."

He conceded there might be a "fair question" as to whether a complete monopoly always was illegal, but insisted that in this case the government would prove oppressive, restrictive, and unfair tactics by the defendants.

The Aluminum company, he added, could not claim to be an infant industry.

Among those named defendants two—former Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and Albert K. Laurie—are now dead.

Business Bits

C. E. Enyart, president of Enyart, Van Camp & Feil, yesterday announced election of Walter L. Odenkirk as a director of the firm to take the place of Peter V. Feil, who has resigned as director and vice president. Odenkirk is assistant treasurer.

Stanley Keith has been elected a director of Blair, Bonner & Co.

More than 100 members of the Chicago Association of Credit Men will leave this morning from the La Salle Street station on a special train to attend the 43d annual convention and credit congress of industry of the National Association of Credit Men in San Francisco next week.

H. E. Otte, Moline, Ill., and H. H. Vreeland, New York City, were reelected directors of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway company at the annual stockholders meeting here yesterday. Directors, who now meet in Chicago instead of New York, reelected officers.

Customs Receipts Higher, but Far Below Year Ago

Customs receipts in the Chicago district were $842,202 last month, compared with $782,691 in April. Joseph A. Ziemba, United States collector of customs, reported yesterday. The May receipts fell far below the May, 1937, mark of $2,015,020, but Ziemba explained that there were unusually heavy grain importations a year ago.

This is not an Offering Prospectus. The offer of these Debentures is made only by means of the Offering Prospectus, and such offer will be made by the undersigned in this State only to registered dealers in securities in this State. This issue, though registered, is not approved or disapproved by the Securities and Exchange Commission, which does not pass on the merits of any registered securities.

United States Steel Corporation

Ten Year 3¼% Debentures

Dated June 1, 1938 | Due June 1, 1948

Interest payable June 1 and December 1

Semi-annual sinking fund of $2,500,000 payable each June 1 and December 1 commencing June 1, 1939, to be applied to the purchase of Debentures if obtainable at or below the redemption price applicable on the next ensuing interest payment date and, if not so obtainable, to the redemption of Debentures drawn by lot.

Redeemable at the option of the Corporation in whole or in part, on any interest date on 30 days' notice, or on any other date on 60 days' notice, to and including June 1, 1941, at 103%; thereafter, to and including June 1, 1944, at 102%; thereafter, to and including June 1, 1947, at 101%; and thereafter, at 100%. Also redeemable through the operation of the sinking fund on any interest payment date on 30 days' notice at the same prices.

The following is merely a brief outline of certain information contained in the Offering Prospectus and is subject to the more detailed statements in the Offering Prospectus and the Registration Statement, which include important information not outlined or indicated herein. The Offering Prospectus, which must be furnished to each purchaser, should be read prior to any purchase of these Debentures.

THE CORPORATION The Corporation, incorporated in New Jersey in 1901, is a holding company owning a controlling stock interest in various subsidiaries which principally conduct integrated operations for the production and sale in competitive markets of a wide variety of finished and semi-finished steel products. Collectively the subsidiaries constitute the largest domestic producer of steel. Operations include the production of most of the coal, substantially all of the iron ore, limestone and coke, and part of certain other raw materials used by the subsidiaries. Steel products (other than rails) and cement are generally quoted for delivery at place of destination. The Federal Trade Commission has attacked this price basis as to cement in a now pending proceeding and has recommended that steel products be sold f. o. b. manufacturers' mill.

The Corporation and certain subsidiaries own all of the capital stock of 15 common carrier railroads which operate approximately 1,315 miles of road. These railroads are important by reason of the transportation facilities made available to the subsidiaries and the dividends received from the large investments therein.

The properties of the subsidiaries consist principally of iron and steel manufacturing properties, coke plants, rail and water transportation properties, and owned and leased iron ore and coal properties. The plants and facilities vary in age, condition and operating efficiency. Substantial expenditures may be required during the next few years to replace or rebuild various plants and facilities.

Funds sufficient to discharge the $279,000 funded debt of Corporation are on deposit with the respective trustees. Subsequent to December 31, 1937, the Corporation borrowed $50,000,000 from banks and a subsidiary issued $30,000,000 First Mortgage 3½% Bonds due October 1, 1962. On April 4, 1938, the shares of outstanding common stock of $100 par value were changed, share for share, into common stock without par value of a stated capital of $75 per share, thus decreasing the common capital stock liability to $652,743,900.*

EARNINGS The following condensed income statement has been summarized from the Offering Prospectus and should be read in conjunction with the Condensed Consolidated Income Statement and Condensed Statement of Consolidated Earned Surplus for the years 1928-1937 and the other financial statements and related notes appearing in such Prospectus, particularly as to the adjustments at December 31, 1935 aggregating $270,000,000 for increased reserves for depreciation and obsolescence which were charged to a special earned surplus account segregated prior to 1928. No allocation can be made of the portion of such $270,000,000 which applies to the years 1928-1935 and which would reduce net income for these years. All of the financial statements referred to in the foregoing have been reviewed by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., independent public accountants.

 Loss.*

During the quarter ended March 31, 1938 when the subsidiaries operated at 32.3% of their rated capacity for rolled steel products, as compared with 71.2% for the year 1937, the consolidated net loss was $1,292,151 after providing $11,534,937 for depreciation and depletion.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE The net proceeds from the sale of these Debentures (estimated at $97,870,000 after deducting expenses) are to be used to the extent of $50,000,000 for the repayment of bank loans. The remainder will be added to the cash funds of the Corporation, as were the proceeds of such bank loans. Cash funds have been and are to be called upon, among other things, for expenditures for modernization, extension and replacement of various manufacturing plants and facilities of the subsidiaries. Such expenditures which have been substantial during the past 3 years aggregated approximately $135,000,000 during 1937, and at December 31, 1937, authorizations for contemplated additional expenditures of this nature after that date aggregated approximately $80,000,000 of which approximately $46,500,000 was for the completion of a hot strip mill and cold reduction sheet and tin mills near Clairton, Pa., and a new slabbing mill at Bessemer, Pa. It is contemplated that most of such work will be completed by the end of 1938. Approximately $45,000,000 of such unexpended authorizations at December 31, 1937, will have been expended up to June 1, 1938.

DEBENTURES The Debentures are unsecured and are to be issued under an Indenture dated as of June 1, 1938, between the Corporation and The First National Bank of the City of New York, as Trustee. No additional Debentures may be issued under the Indenture. Other indebtedness may be incurred by the Corporation or any subsidiary. Indenture provisions and Debenture holders' rights (with certain exceptions and limitations stated in the Offering Prospectus) may be modified by vote of holders of 66⅔% of outstanding Debentures.

UNDERWRITING Subject to certain terms and conditions, the Underwriters, including the undersigned and the others named in the Offering Prospectus, have severally agreed to purchase the Debentures from the Corporation at 98¼%, or a total of $98,250,000, plus accrued interest. Such Debentures are to be offered to the public at 100%, or a total of $100,000,000, plus accrued interest. The underwriting discounts are 1¾%, or a total of $1,750,000. Payment for and delivery of the Debentures are to be made on June 7, 1938, but may be postponed to not later than June 21, 1938.

Price 100% and Accrued Interest

The Underwriters have agreed to purchase these Debentures when, as and if issued, and subject to the approval of Messrs. White & Case and of Messrs. Davis Polk Wardwell Gardiner & Reed, counsel for the Underwriters, and to certain further conditions. It is expected that delivery of Debentures in temporary form, exchangeable for definitive Debentures when prepared, will be made at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. on or about June 7, 1938, against payment therefor in New York funds.

The Underwriters have authorized the purchase and sale, in the open market or otherwise, of these Debentures for their several accounts, either for long or short account, within the limits and during the period set forth in an agreement referred to in the Offering Prospectus.

Further information, particularly financial statements, is contained in the Registration Statement on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and in the Offering Prospectus which must be furnished to each purchaser and is obtainable from the undersigned, who, however, will offer these Debentures in this State only to registered dealers in securities in this State.

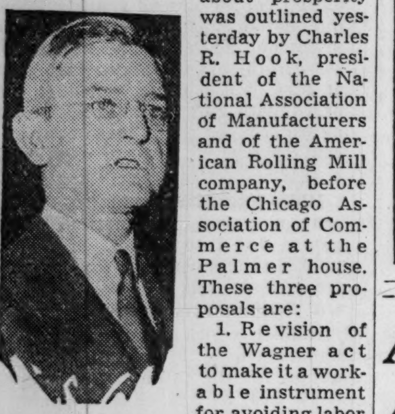
INDUSTRY HAS PLANS TO HELP BRING RECOVERY

Hook Urges Steps to End Fears.

A three point program proposed by American industry to help bring about prosperity was outlined yesterday by Charles R. Hook, president of the National Association of Manufacturers and of the American Rolling Mill company, before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Palmer house. These three proposals are:



Charles R. Hook.

2. Revision of the tax structure and limitation of government expenditures to those needed for the economical administration of the legitimate functions of government and adequate relief appropriations for the unemployed.

3. End existing and threatened government competition with private enterprise—competition which, Hook said, retards industry by discouraging investment in legitimate business.

Benefits of Program.

"Remove these causes of fear and uncertainty, and private savings will rush back into the channels of private, productive enterprise," Hook declared. "Remove these obstacles, and billions of dollars which are now idle will flow into the creation of more jobs, bigger pay rolls, increased purchasing power, and national income to sustain the nation on a prosperous basis.

"A return to sound economic reasoning is the sure solution of the problems of America today. We have tried all kinds of experiments. Why not trade experiments for experience? Why not try the industrial program which has been repeatedly offered?"

Hook said that the objectives of the program were:

1. Increase production, distribution, and service facilities in private enterprise to the point where all those who are now unemployed and are willing and able to work will have jobs.

2. Increase the national income as a result of increased production and distribution so that the total national purchasing power will be sustained and increased as a result of natural economic forces.

Not "Overproduced."

To say that this nation has been "overproduced" is nonsense, Hook declared. As long as an individual or public need remains unfilled, there can be no such thing as overproduction in America, he said.

"Overproduction is not a cause of depression; it is an effect," Hook explained. "When through fear, uncertainty, labor turmoil, governmental extravagance, burdensome taxation, puzzling economic programs and experiments the wheels of industry are slowed, the purchasing power of the nation is dried up—then you have overproduction."

Hook said that one of the main causes of the sharp business recession last year was the large amount of labor turmoil, including the sitdown strikes. Any one who questions the connection of last year's labor troubles with the present depression need only examine the record, he declared.

"Strikes in 1937 cost 1,855,864 workers the staggering loss of 28,117,387 days of work," he explained. "This represented millions of dollars in wages that were chargeable as a loss against the national income, and as a reduction in the national purchasing power."

Boosts Purchasing Power.

Emphasizing the need for economy by the federal government, Hook declared that every dollar slashed off the total tax bill each year means that much added to the purchasing power of the people.

"The same result would be obtained by cutting a billion dollars from the annual tax bill as by spending a billion dollars in priming the pump," he said. "In government spending the money passes through the middleman. It travels first into the federal treasury, and then into the creation of work and pay rolls. If the government left the money in the taxpayers' pockets, the people would have the pleasure and satisfaction of spending it themselves."

Hook lauded a Chicago organization formed for the protection of American investors and the preservation of private enterprise.

"Citizens would do well to join the American Federation of Investors, Inc., which has its headquarters in Chicago," he said. "This organization is doing a fine work. Instead of having several hundred thousand members, this organization should have two or three million."

Nickel Plate Road Reports $321,194 Deficit for April

Cleveland, O., June 1.—(AP)—The Nickel Plate railroad had an April deficit, after all charges, of $321,194, compared with a $105,801 surplus the preceding April, the line reported today. The first four months showed a $1,357,857 deficit compared with a $1,071,753 surplus the same period last year.

Argues Claim Against Clarke Is Worthless

The $5,000,000 claim of the Utilities Power and Light corporation against Harley L. Clarke, former president of the company, is worthless because of Clarke's personal financial position, counsel for the deposed utility promoter sought to show yesterday at a hearing before Harry N. Gottlieb, special master in chancery.

Harley L. Clarke.

Clarke was called to testify at the hearing in connection with other claims that have been filed against the corporation. He was questioned about his own finances by Roger O. Whyte, attorney for Charles True Adams, trustee for the corporation. Joseph Rosenberg, Clarke's attorney, objected to Whyte's questioning as outside the purpose of the hearing, but he indicated that he would voluntarily submit a statement of Clarke's assets and liabilities to the trustee's attorney.

Argues Against Lawsuit.

"A statement of Mr. Clarke's assets," Rosenberg said, "will convince the attorney that he should not burden the estate with the expense of a lawsuit."

Utilities Power brought suit in federal court for recovery of the $5,000,000 from Clarke before the 77B reorganization proceedings against the company were started more than two years ago. The claim against Clarke is an outgrowth of a deal he made in 1929, while president of the company, under which he was given an option to purchase 30,000 shares of Utilities Power class B stock each year. Clarke defaulted on the contract, the company charged.

Is Liable for Millions.

If the claim were upheld, Attorney Rosenberg said, it would raise Clarke's personal liabilities to about $10,000,000. He is liable for several millions of notes issued by Utilities Power which bore his personal guarantee.

Clarke testified briefly concerning other claims running into several millions that have been filed against Utilities Power by various individuals. Among these is a claim of $1,500,000 filed by Floyd B. Odlum, president of the Atlas corporation, as compensation for negotiating the sale of English properties of Utilities Power. The sale of the properties has been under fire since the reorganization case began. Clarke had asserted that Odlum sold the properties at a sacrifice price. Atlas corporation also has a claim for approximately $3,000,000 on bearer notes issued by Utilities Power and Light Securities corporation which bore the guaranty of the parent company.

Will Consult Records.

Clarke said he was familiar in a general way with the claims which the trustee is investigating, but that he was unable to give detailed information before examining the company's records. It was agreed to postpone the hearing until Clarke had an opportunity to look over the records now in possession of Trustee Adams.

Further examination of Clarke about his personal finances was also delayed on the understanding that Attorney Rosenberg would discuss the question with the trustee's attorney. Master Gottlieb said he would rule on question of examining Clarke further on his finances if the matter is not satisfactorily settled by the attorneys. He set June 15 for a resumption of the hearing on other claims.

ORDER PERSONAL APPEARANCE OF 50 IN AUTO QUIZ

South Bend, Ind., June 1.—(AP)—Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick ruled today that fifty automobile industry executives named in anti-trust law indictments returned last Friday must appear personally in court here for arraignment. A number are expected to appear within the next ten days to post bonds of $2,500 each.

United States Attorney James R. Fleming at Fort Wayne said the defendants have until June 28 to enter pleas. On that date the northern Indiana District court goes into summer vacation.

U. S. TREASURY BUYING 250,000,000 OUNCES OF CHINESE SILVER

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Treasury officials confirmed a report today that under the fourth of a series of silver purchase arrangements made with China since 1936, the treasury will have taken in excess of 250,000,000 ounces of silver from China by July 15.

The current agreement was made in April.

The Chinese, who ship silver coins because of the exhaustion of their bullion supply, receive the so-called "New York price" for their silver. That price dropped from 45 to 43 cents early in April.

The understanding here is that the Chinese government is buying some gold with the silver shipped to the United States and that the gold thus purchased has been retained in this country. It ordinarily receives dollar credits for the silver, but may buy gold on proper application to the treasury.

HEARST SELLS HOTEL DEVON IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—Four buildings comprising the Hotel Devon have been sold by American Newspapers, Inc., a William Randolph Hearst corporation, through William A. White & Sons to a client who will operate the hotel, it was announced today.

The structures are four, five, seven, and twelve stories and they occupy a plot about 75 by 100 feet. The hotel formerly was leased on a yearly rental of $60,000 a year.

The Hearst interests acquired the property in 1927 from the Tracy Harris estate. It is assessed at $545,000, and the buyer will pay cash after the rearrangement of existing mortgages of $456,000, according to the brokers.

NATIONAL TEA'S 4 WEEKS' SALES BELOW YEAR AGO

Sales of the National Tea company amounted to $4,260,380 in the four weeks ended May 21, a decrease of 5.26 per cent from the $4,497,374 sales in the corresponding 1937 period, the company announced yesterday.

Making allowance for a decrease in number of stores from 1,235 to 1,116 during the year, the decrease in dollar sales per store was 4.83 per cent for the four week period.

Total sales for the twenty weeks ended May 21 were $21,988,704, or 11.6 per cent less than the $24,842,790 volume in the corresponding period last year.

Stocks Greet June with Rise on Good Buying

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—The stock market today staged its best recovery in several weeks as pressure lightened and some good buying developed. Gains in the pivotal issues ranged from fractions to around two points, and blue chip issues rose as much as 4 points.

The volume of trading increased slightly on the advance, reaching 537,510 shares, compared wth 404,060 Tuesday.

The chief factor in the rise, some observers said, was the discarding of the administration's reorganization bill for this session of congress. Short covering also played a part.

Industrial Favorites Strong.

Favorite industrial stocks were prominent in the rally. Active steel shares, paced by United States Steel common and Bethlehem, registered gains of a point or more.

Helped by better sentiment regarding metal prices, copper shares did particularly well. Motor stocks were aided by the action of Chrysler, which jumped $2.25. General Motors showed a point gain. Aviation issues were strong. Douglas showed the way with an increase of 2½ points.

High priced issues in the heavy machinery and chemical groups, notably Case, International Harvester, Allied du Pont, and Union Carbon, added 2 to 4 points.

Utility Groups Buoyant.

Public utility issues pushed impressively higher, with those interested in the group reputedly pleased with the progress of the parleys between the Securities and Exchange commission and utility companies' executives.

With activity picking up slightly, carrier issues took part in the advance. Santa Fe, New York Central, and Great Northern worked a point or so higher.

International Telephone and Telegraph highlighted the communications section, scoring a half point gain in active trading. American Telephone and Telegraph and Western Union also were fairly well treated and rose 1½ and 1 point, respectively.

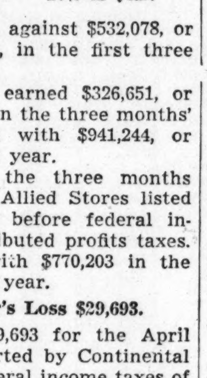
VICK CHEMICAL, DIAMOND MATCH PROFITS DECLINE

Fair and Other Firms Show Quarter Loss.

First quarter earnings of the Diamond Match company, Vick Chemical company, and Allied Stores corporation were less than last year, according to reports made yesterday to stockholders. Other companies showed varying results for the period, Continental Motors corporation, City Stores company, and the Fair, Chicago department store, reporting losses.



S. J. Magee—taxes up 17% in year.

Diamond Match had consolidated net profit of $502,523, equal to 39 cents per share of common stock, against $532,078, or 44 cents a share, in the first three months of 1937.

Vick Chemical earned $326,651, or 46 cents a share, in the three months' period, compared with $941,244, or $1.34 a share, last year.

Reporting for the three months ended April 30, Allied Stores listed profit of $365,447 before federal income and undistributed profits taxes. This compared with $770,203 in the April quarter last year.

Motor Maker's Loss $29,693.

Net loss of $29,693 for the April quarter was reported by Continental Motors before federal income taxes of $71,031. In the corresponding 1937 period the company had a net loss of $190,421. For the six months ended April 30 the net loss was $190,42, against profit of $34,617 in the corresponding period last year.

The Fair's net loss in the March quarter was $51,165 before federal taxes, compared with a profit of $39,441 in the corresponding period of 1937. March quarter sales were $3,752,979, against $4,287,497 last year. Net loss of City Stores for the quarter ended April 30 was $71,175, compared with net profit of $96,434 last year.

Brazilian Traction Earns More.

Reporting for the full year 1937, Brazilian Traction Light and Power company, Ltd., showed net income of $10,886,281, equal to $1.54 a share on the ordinary stock compared with net income of $6,243,888 or 88 cents a share in the preceding year.

S. J. Magee, vice president and general manager of the Associated Gas and Electric company, reported at the annual meeting in New York that taxes paid by the company subsidiaries in the twelve months ended March 31 amounted to $16,033,092, or 17 per cent above the preceding twelve months' period. Gross revenues, he said, increased 6 per cent to $129,138,667.

Chicago Stock Market Ousts Member, Suspends Another

The Chicago Stock exchange last night announced the expulsion from membership of H. J. Mills and the suspension for one year of the membership privileges of William S. Mills Jr. Both men are members of the firm of H. J. Mills & Co., 120 South La Salle street.

The action was taken, the exchange announced, because of violation of the exchange rules forbidding members to make fictitious transactions in shares listed on the exchange. The fictitious sales, exchange officials said, were made in the shares of the Backstay Welt company between March and August, 1937.

Stock Action Probed by SEC.

The violations were disclosed by an investigation made into the market action of the stock by the regional office of the Securities and Exchange commission. The findings of the investigation were turned over to the exchange two months ago by W. M. Kennedy, regional director of the SEC, following which proceedings were instituted against the two members by the exchange.

Both members of the firm also were found to have violated the exchange rule which prohibits a member from executing a discretionary order while on the floor of the exchange.

H. J. Mills has been a member of the exchange since 1928. W. S. Mills Jr. joined the exchange the following year.

781,253 Shares in Issue.

The issue, consisting of 781,253 shares of capital stock, is the first listed by the exchange under its recently instituted program to broaden the market by obtaining additional listings of nationally known corporations.

The exchange waived the customary listing fees and invited a number of well known companies to list their securities here. Besides the Container corporation the bid has been accepted by American Telephone, International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, Pressed Steel Car, and Stewart-Warner corporation. Stocks of the latter companies have not as yet been formally listed.

SEC FIGHTS BAN ON PROBING OF RESOURCES CORP.

Securities and Exchange commission attorneys are expected to ask the Circuit Court of Appeals today to set aside a restraining order granted last week to Resources Corporation International, Chicago firm which has been the subject of a SEC investigation.

A hearing on the concern's petition, filed with the SEC, to sell stock in a Mexican timber land exploitation was begun in Chicago and later moved to Washington, D. C. Subsequently, pleading expense and inconvenience caused by the hearing, officials of the company asked to withdraw their petition to sell stock. This was refused by the SEC.

The hearing was interrupted Saturday when SEC officials were served with a Circuit court order restraining further investigation of the firm until the court can review the SEC's position in refusing to allow the firm to withdraw its petition.

SURFACE LINES, 'L,' AND BUS TRAFIC IN MAY SHOWS A DROP

Declines in trafic volume during May, compared with a year ago, were reported yesterday by the Chicago Surface Lines, the Chicago Motor Coach company, and the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated].

Preliminary statements of the surface lines indicated a 7.84 per cent decrease in trafic for the month, compared with the same month a year ago. The elevated reported a May decrease of 5.39 per cent compared with last May, and a decrease for the first five months of 1938 of 0.02 per cent compared with the corresponding period in 1937. The motor coach line reported a May decrease of 3.5 per cent compared with May, 1937. The heavy rains of the last two weeks were blamed for the drop. The motor coach company announced an increase of 1 per cent for the first five months of 1938 against the corresponding 1937 period.

The Illinois Bell Telephone company reported 945,173 phones in use in Chicago May 27, compared with 923,963 on the same day a year ago.

Holland Gold Is Engaged for American Account

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced yesterday that $571,000 of gold had been engaged in Holland for shipment to the United States. This will be the first shipment of gold from Holland to this country in several months. The dollar appreciated slightly yesterday in relation to major European currencies. The British pound closed ¼ cent lower at $4.94⅝ and the French franc lost 0.0075 cent, at 2.77375. The Holland guilder slipped 0.01 cent to 55.15 cents.

U. S. STEEL LOAN OF 100 MILLIONS OFFERED PUBLIC

Issue Priced at Par; Edison Bonds Sold.

The new security market came to life yesterday with the announcement that a nation-wide syndicate headed by Morgan Stanley & Co. will market today $100,000,000 of United States Steel corporation 3¼ per cent ten year debentures, and that the $33,000,000 Commonwealth Edison bond offering was quickly oversubscribed.

Issues placed on the market yesterday, including short term state obligations, totaled $105,000,000. It was indicated that more than $300,000,000 of securities will be offered publicly during June.

Proceeds from the sale of the United States Steel debentures, which is expected to net the steel corporation about $97,870,000, will be used to pay $50,000,000 of loans due New York, Chicago, and Pittsburgh banks, to provide funds for plant construction, and general corporate purposes. poses.

Commitments of Firms.

Commitments of the principal banking firms of the 102 underwriting the issue are: Morgan Stanley, $12,000,000; Kuhn, Loeb & Co., $5,500,000; Blyth & Co., Inc., $3,300,000; Brown, Harriman & Co., $4,750,000; the First Boston corporation, $4,750,000; Lazard Freres & Co., $2,500,000; Lee Higginson corporation, $2,500,000; Lehman Brothers, $1,750,000; Mellon Securities corporation, $4,750,000; Smith, Barney & Co., $4,750,000, and Dillon, Read & Co., $4,750,000.

The Commonwealth Edison issue was an immediate success. Offered at 102½ by an underwriting group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., the bonds closed yesterday 103¾ to 104. Banks and insurance companies were reported as being the largest buyers of the Commonwealth Edison bonds which were offered yesterday.

Sixty Million of Notes Sold.

Among the largest municipal transactions yesterday was an offering of $60,000,000 of one year 1½ per cent notes of the state of Pennylvania by a syndicate headed by C. J. Levine & Co. at a price to yield 0.50 per cent. C. J. Devine & Co. reported that the notes were all sold in little more than one hour.

The state of Maryland sold $900,000 of 1 3.4 per cent office building bonds to the First Boston corporation and the Harris Trust & Savings bank on a joint bid of 101.46. The winning bid gave the state an interest rate of 1.60 per cent, said to be a record low for the state.

Another large transaction was the sale of $11,494,000 of serial bonds of the city of Boston at prices to yield 0.60 to 2.85 per cent.

New York Bonds.

New York, June 1.—(AP)—Active railroad bonds made a wide advance in the bond market today and industrials and utilities held about even. United States government obligations were quiet. Gains ranged up to 7-32ds, and losses were held to 3-32ds.

Prominent in the advance were Nickel Plate 6s, up 5 points at 44, and Santa Fe adjustments 4s, up 3 points at 80. Other gainers of fractions to a point or more included B. & O. convertible 4½s at 16, Erie 5s of '75 at 12¾, Great Northern 4s of '46 at 84, N. Y. Central 5s at 49½, Pennsylvania general 4½s of '65 at 92½, Southern Railway 5s at 54½ and Southern Pacific 4½s at 38.

Foreign government bonds as a group were slightly higher, Japanese issues were under pressure again, and German 5½s broke 2¼ to 24¾.

Chicago Stocks.

Declines outnumbered advances on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, but most of the active issues closed at gains. Sales expanded to 78,000 shares, of which 68,700 were Commonwealth Edison rights, from 10,000 shares traded Tuesday.

Of the 57 issues traded, 24 declined, 16 advanced, 16 finished unchanged. One new issue was traded, Commonwealth Edison rights closed at 36 cents each after selling as high as 46 cents. Each right entitles the holder to subscribe to $5 principal amount of new Commonwealth Edison debentures at 100. The rights expire June 25.

Commonwealth Edison common closed ⅜ higher at 25⅝. Other active issues which made fractional gains included Middle West capital stock, Swift & Co. capital stock, Borg Warner common, and Chicago corporation common.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were steady yesterday. Continental Illinois National shares firmed after being at $54 a share bid early in the day to close at quotations of $54.75 bid, $56.25 asked. City National stock moved up $1 to $126 bid, $129 asked. Other principal Chicago bank stocks were unchanged, although some dealers quoted American National at $162 a share bid, rather than holding to the Tuesday figure of $160 bid.

COTTON

Prices advanced about $1 a bale yesterday in American cotton markets. Part of aggressive trade and commission house buying was said to be based on a rumor that a private report to be issued soon would estimate a crop of less than 10,000,000 bales, compared with 18,946,000 bales harvested in 1937. Little attention was paid to weakness in Liverpool. Bombay sold July and October and bought May futures. It is estimated that Bombay traders are holders of New York July contracts to the extent of 150,000 to 175,000 bales.

Closing prices on cotton futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net gains of .15 to .22 cent a pound. Other markets were .16 to .20 cent a pound higher. The government weekly weather crop summary showed better conditions in the cotton belt than was anticipated.

Spot cotton closed .15 to .20 cent a pound higher, with New Orleans 8.05 cents, New York and Houston 7.90 cents, and Galveston 7.80 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

Most commodities for future delivery reversed their trend of recent market sessions and closed with gains yesterday. Cash commodities continued to decline, however, and the Associated Press index of 35 weighted wholesale staple prices slipped to 63.86 [1926 equals 100], off 0.14 and at the lowest price since May 15, 1934.

Traders said the advance in futures prices was induced in part at least by the sharp upturn in security prices. Contributing factors were the rally in corn futures, attributed to unfavorable weather in some producing areas, and the run-up in cotton futures, induced by smaller than anticipated private forecasts of the 1938 crop.

The Dow-Jones index of 11 commodities futures closed 0.21 higher at 45.24 [1924-'26 equals 100]. After making little headway during the morning the index moved upward in the final two hours.

Copper prices were mixed. Futures gained 0.10 to 0.13 cent a pound, but export copper dipped sharply following another decline in London copper prices and slack demand here. Final sales in the export market were made at 8.20 to 8.25 cents a pound, compared with 8.62 cents Tuesday. Domestic copper held unchanged at 9 cents a pound.

◆

Hide futures spurted 0.26 to 0.30 cent a pound and cottonseed oil gained 0.12 to 0.25 cent. Cocoa was up 0.16 to 0.18 cent at the close. Coffee was uneven, Rio showing gains and Santos moving lower.

Rubber, which spurted Tuesday on announcement of a cut in export quotas for the third quarter, slipped back 0.03 to 0.11 cent a pound in futures dealings. Cash rubber fell 0.10 cent to 11.35 cents a pound.

STANDARD GAS REORGANIZATION NEARLY FINISHED

March Quarter Earnings Are Reduced.

The reorganization of the $915,000,000 Standard Gas and Electric company probably will be completed within the coming week, Bernard W. Lynch, president, informed stockholders yesterday in a communication accompanying the earnings statement for the March quarter.

Bernard W. Lynch.

The plan was confirmed by federal court in Wilmington, Del., March 5. The big holding company, whose subsidiaries provide various utility services to more than 1,650 communities in twenty states and in Mexico, filed a petition on Sept. 27, 1935, to reorganize under federal bankruptcy laws.

Will Elect New Board.

Lynch said that a meeting of stockholders will be called after the plan is effected to elect a new board of directors.

The earnings statement showed that consolidated net income for three months ended March 31 declined to $758,684, or $1.19 a combined prior preferred share, from $1,746,570, or 9 cents a common share after all preferred dividends, in the corresponding 1937 period.

Net income for twelve months ended March 31 was $2,349,283, compared with $4,061,340 a year earlier. Net income for March was $81,719, against $613,470 in March, 1937.

Output Shows Increase.

Lynch said that output of operating companies in the Standard Gas and Electric company system for twelve months ended March 31 amounted to 5,551,953,961 kilowatt hours, an increase of 3.74 per cent over output in the preceding year. Gas output amounted to 46,733,778,000 cubic feet, an increase of 0.51 per cent.

MAY RECEIPTS OF LIVE STOCK SHOW INCREASE

Receipts of meat animals at Chicago last month showed an unusual increase. Arrivals of cattle, calves, hogs, and sheep totaled 707,787 head, compared with 679,577 in the preceding month. It was the largest May total in four years. Only in two other years since 1928 have the May receipts been larger than the April arrivals.

Chicago receipts for three years follow:

WHEAT PRICES SINK, RALLY ON WINNIPEG RISE

Corn Market Higher; Rye Lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .68⅝	$ .68⅞	$1.10⅝
Corn	.55½	.54⅜	1.22⅞
Oats	.25⅞	.25¾	.43⅜
Rye	.50¼	.50½	.98¾
Soy beans	.84¼	.85	1.57

Wheat futures prices swung within a range of 1¼ cents yesterday, but closed little changed. The December delivery touched a new low mark for the season. A rally came late in the session in sympathy with strength in Winnipeg, and closing trades were at net losses of a small fraction of a cent. The Canadian market advanced 1⅛ to 5 cents, the July option gaining the limit. Houses with American connections were the chief buyers at Winnipeg.

Corn showed strength due to relatively small country offerings, continued rains in the central west which will further delay planting, and short covering. The close was ⅞ to 1⅛ cents higher.

Set New Low Marks.

All deliveries of rye and soy beans sold at new lows for the season. Rye closed as much as 1¼ cents lower. Soy beans were ¾ to ⅞ cent lower.

A record wheat crop is possible this year, according to Mrs. E. H. Miller's report to Shields & Co. Winter wheat was estimated at 768,000,000 bushels and spring wheat at 278,000,000 bushels, an aggregate of 1,046,000,000 bushels, or 37,000,000 bushels in excess of the record yield in 1915. Mrs. Miller said reports indicated black rust was spreading rapidly in Kansas and the yield may be disappointing in many areas.

Grain Trade Shrinks.

Trading in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade in May fell to 579,550,000 bushels from 622,208,000 in April and 1,160,766,000 bushels in May, 1937, the Commodity Exchange administration reported yesterday.

Average daily sales of all grain futures in May were 23,182,000 bushels, a decrease of 1,700,000 from April. Sales were about 50 per cent of the daily average a year ago. Sales figures follow:

	Wheat.	Corn.	Total.

UTAH COPPER CO. TO CLOSE PLANTS; BUSINESS SLACK

Sale Lake City, Utah, June 1.—(AP)—The Utah Copper company, one of the state's largest industries, will cease production on June 16 "for at least a month," D. D. Moffat, vice president, announced today.

The shutdown will put 2,500 of the company's 3,000 employés out of work, Moffat estimated. Reason for the shutdown is "slack business and accumulation of copper stocks," he said.

E. T. Stannard, New York City, president of the Kennecott Copper corporation which controls Utah Copper, announced that operations at Kennecott properties in three other states would be suspended. These are divisions of the Nevada Consolidated Copper corporation of Ely, Nev.; Ray, Ariz., and Santa Rita, N. M.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

by HOMER NEISZ

A Clash of Colors.

June 1, 1938.

AN unusual combination of early spring, summer, and fall colors is to be seen in the woods at the Tribune's Du Page county farm as a result of heavy frosts three weeks ago that killed many of the leaves on forest trees, shrubs, and wild vines. Red, brown, and green foliage may be found on the same tree.

Most of the bright colors are on the oaks, where fringes of red and brown leaves are surrounded by the characteristic green foliage of early summer. The brown leaves are those that were killed by the frost. The red ones are new shoots coming out from lateral buds along the twigs to take the place of the leaves that were killed.

Nature Uses Reserve.

Normally these buds do not produce leaves. Nature apparently holds them in reserve for emergencies. They develop leaves when those at the ends of the twigs are destroyed.

The frosts destroyed most of the fruit crop at the farm. Many of the apples, pears, and cherries have shriveled and dropped to the ground. The grapes were ruined. All new growth on the vines was killed, but green buds now are growing out.

Field crops were not damaged seriously. Many alfalfa and clover leaves were nipped, but new growth soon came out and the injury to the plants is no longer noticeable. Oats, rye, and spring seedings of grasses and legumes show no signs of having been hurt.

May Affect Walnuts.

The crop of walnuts and hickory nuts is expected to be short next fall because the black walnut and shagbark trees were in full flower when the frosts came. Most of the other forest trees were beyond the flowering stage.

Apparently none of the trees or shrubs was killed. Catalpas, sumacs, osage oranges, and many of the walnuts, hickories, and white oaks looked dead when the foliage turned dark and dried up, but all are beginning to put out new growth. Vines of wild grape, Virginia creeper, and poison ivy are turning green again. New buds and leaves are coming out on black, red, and bur oaks, box elders, and haw trees on which all or part of the foliage was killed.

Similar damage was done to orchards, field crops, and forest trees in many other sections of northern Illinois, where evidences of the frosts still are visible. There was little permanent damage except to fruit. Most of the trees, shrubs, and vines that were nipped already have started putting out their second crop of leaves.

CORN PLANTING BEHIND AVERAGE, SURVEY SHOWS

Progress of Wheat Crop Is Satisfactory.

Continued wet weather delayed corn planting in the principal producing areas to the extent that the work is behind the seasonal average, the weather bureau reported yesterday. In places the fields are becoming weedy, the report said.

Progress of the winter and spring wheat crops was satisfactory in most of the belt, and the oats crop is better than average in Missouri and shows improvement east of the Mississippi river. The condition of rye and barley was reported good to excellent in almost all districts.

Conditions by States.

ILLINOIS—Frequent rains generally delayed field work, particularly corn planting and cultivation; slightly more than 75 per cent corn planted; many fields weedy. Progress and condition of winter wheat ranged from fair to excellent; much headed in central and south sections. Oats making excellent growth.

NEBRASKA—Corn planting 66 per cent completed; making fair growth. Condition and progress of winter wheat, rye, and oats mostly excellent.

MICHIGAN — Crops made slow growth: rains delayed corn planting.

MONTANA—Field crops and range showed marked progress. Winter wheat good to excellent; earliest beginning to head. Spring grains good.

WISCONSIN—Corn planting continues where not too wet. Small grains and pastures mostly good. Winter grains heading.

KANSAS—Winter wheat injured by excessive rains and floods in southeast and some south central counties. Damage from freezing earlier in season appears serious in several western counties.

MISSOURI—Early corn in good to excellent condition; later planted not so good. Winter wheat, fair to good. Oats and other grains generally better than average.

Iowa Corn 86% Planted.

IOWA—Corn planting 86 per cent completed; only 4 per cent less than normal. Growth of oats, barley, winter wheat, and rye excellent.

OHIO—Condition and progress of winter wheat very good; heading generally. Much corn up; progress good.

INDIANA—Much corn up; much planting yet to be done. Winter wheat made good growth; heading in all sections.

OKLAHOMA—Condition of corn poor in east; fair elsewhere. Oats good to very good; ripening; some harvested. Winter wheat rising rapidly; some rust damage in northeastern counties.

Farm Prices During May Are Lowest in Four Years

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—Farm prices declined in May to the lowest point in four years, the bureau of agricultural economics reported today. Surpluses and lower consumer demand growing out of the business recession sent the price level down 30 per cent since a year ago. All major farm commodities participated in the decline.

Steel's Wages and Hours.

Workers in the steel industry have been getting more in wages and working fewer hours as time has passed in the last fifty years, the American Iron and Steel Institute reports. In a fifty year period earnings of workers have increased by nearly 260 per cent while the average number of hours worked has declined 45 per cent.

In 1890 the average hourly earning was 23 cents, in 1929 it was 65 cents and in 1937 it was 82 cents.

In 1890 the employés worked an average of 67 hours compared with 55 hours in 1929 and 37 hours in 1937.

Labor continues to take the largest portion of each dollar collected by the industry from the sale of its products. At present pay rolls take 37 cents, materials and all other costs, 44 cents; taxes, 5½ cents; dividends, 5 cents; depreciation, 5 cents; interest, 1 cent, and 2½ cents is added to surplus.

In the period since 1900 labor's share of the steel dollar has increased nearly 50 per cent and the share taken by taxes has risen about 800 per cent.

WALLACE PLANS TO REOPEN STOCK YARDS FEE CASE

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace said today he would issue an order reopening proceedings in the Kansas City stockyards rate case to determine what should be done with approximately $700,000 impounded during the court litigation. He said the agriculture department would seek to "sure" the "vital defect" in administrative procedure that led the Supreme court to invalidate reduced commission fees he sought to establish at the live stock market.

The secretary said he would serve on commission men involved a copy of his rate order of June 14, 1933, as a tentative finding of fact in the case and give them opportunity to file exceptions and present arguments, either before himself or the undersecretary of agriculture.

Failure of the department to give commission men a chance to argue on the original order was the basis of the Supreme court's decision holding the rates invalid.

Steel Industry Pay Roll Falls 7 Per Cent in April

New York, June 1.—(AP)—April pay rolls in the steel industry amounted to $47,809,000, about 7 per cent below the March total, the American Iron and Steel institute reported today. A total of 445,000 employés was on the pay roll in April, compared with 455,000 in March.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

All classes of cattle, with the exception of some lower priced offerings and calves, were on a parity with the highest prices of the year yesterday. Steers and yearlings of good to choice quality made up a big part of the day's supply, but met broad demand on both local and shipping account at prices fully steady to strong. Improved quality elevated the bulk of beef steers to a new 1938 high of $8.25 to $10.35. The top of $10.75 was paid for 1,266 pound cattle from an Illinois feed lot. Calves were unevenly lower, showing 50 to 75 cents loss compared with a week ago.

Strong to slightly higher prices were paid for the supply of new crop spring lambs. These topped at $9.75. Despite the strength in other branches of the live stock markets, hogs continued the decline that began early Tuesday. Prices fell 5 to 20 cents.

OLD DAWES BANK HOLDERS APPEAL RFC JUDGMENT

Seek to Set Aside Ruling Involving $14,000,000.

Briefs were filed yesterday with the clerk of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals on behalf of the stockholders of the old Central Republic Bank and Trust company, seeking to have set aside a judgment of $14,000,000 rendered against them a year ago by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

The judgment, one of the largest ever given in the federal court, was based on the provision of the Illinois constitution providing that owners of shares in a state bank are liable up to the full par value of their stock for satisfaction of the bank's indebtedness.

RFC Is Biggest Creditor.

Suit was instituted against the stockholders of the bank by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which is the bank's largest creditor by virtue of the historic $90,000,000 loan advanced in 1932. The deposit liabilities of the bank subsequently were transferred to the newly organized City National Bank and Trust company.

The appeal from Judge Wilkerson's decision is based chiefly on the nature of the transactions between the old Central Republic bank and the new bank, and on the claim that certain material witnesses refused to testify during the trial of the lawsuit. Briefs were filed on behalf of three groups of stockholders represented by Attorney Franklin J. Stranksy Jr., and the law firms Winston Strawn & Shaw and Ashcraft & Ashcraft.

Dawes' Conduct Assailed.

Stranksy's brief severely condemned the conduct of Gen. Charles G. Dawes, who was chairman of the board of the old Central Republic at the time its business was transferred to the new bank. Dawes "deserted" the stockholders of the old bank, Stranksy asserted.

Transfer to the new bank of $50,000,000 of the cash obtained from the RFC was "presumptively fraudulent as to the stockholders of the old bank," Stranksy said.

The original RFC loan, Stranksy said in his brief, was advanced with the express understanding that it was to be used to keep the Central Republic a going concern. That objective was singularly ignored in the formation of the new bank, he said.

Charges Key Men Were Absent.

Stranksy added that aside from the question of honesty, integrity and good intent of Dawes he was not the proper person to safeguard the interest of stockholders of the old bank. Stranksy further criticized the failure of Dawes, Owen D. Young, chairman of General Electric company, and Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, to testify during the trial of the suit. These and other "key men," he said, did not put in an appearance.

"It stands as damning proof that they were either afraid to appear and tell the truth, or that counsel were fearful that if called as witnesses they would tell the truth," Stranksy said.

Doubt Action Before October.

The case is not expected to come up for hearing until the October term of the court. Counsel for the RFC have until Aug. 1 to file answers to the arguments made on behalf of the appealing stockholders.

Of the $90,000,000 originally advanced to the Dawes bank, the RFC has recovered approximately $45,000,000. Even if it collects the full $14,000,000 judgment against the stockholders, it will take a substantial loss on the transaction, it is said.

Members of the Dawes family and the Dawes Investment company have already paid their liability under the ruling of the lower court.

Chesapeake Corporation Meetings Delayed Again

Baltimore, Md., June 1.—(AP)—The much postponed special and annual meetings of the Chesapeake corporation were adjourned again today until tomorrow.

EASTERN STATES ROIL WISCONSIN MILK PRODUCERS

Accused of Illegal Laws Shutting Off Market.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 1.—Indignation is mounting among Wisconsin dairymen over what they term a violation of the constitution by three eastern states which have enacted laws that cut off part of the fluid milk market of this and other dairy states.

New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania have passed laws prohibiting the sale there of fluid milk not produced under conditions approved by their own inspectors. Because they refuse to provide inspection for distant states, only milk produced in their immediate area can be sold in those states.

The laws apply to milk produced in all states, but Wisconsin is affected most vitally because it produces a large surplus of milk.

Regulatory Movement Growing.

Dairymen here claim the eastern states are discriminating against products of other states in violation of the provision of the constitution which reserves to congress the right to regulate commerce between the states. This allegedly illegal regulatory movement is growing, with Massachusetts now considering a bill to exclude milk not produced there.

Wisconsin has made an unsuccessful effort through its sanitation and inspection division to have the eastern states send inspectors here or at least deputize Wisconsin inspectors as their agents.

While local dairy officials admit that the eastern states' laws are designed to protect their home markets rather than to criticize Wisconsin standards of inspection, that offers no solution to Wisconsin's predicament.

Wisconsin Barrier Cited.

There is likewise no satisfaction in the realization that Wisconsin was the first to erect an artificial trade barrier similar to the ones against which dairymen here are now protesting. In passing a law imposing a prohibitory tax against oleomargarine, Wisconsin discriminated against cottonseed oil products of the southern states to protect her home market for butter produced by Wisconsin dairymen.

No barrier has yet been raised against Wisconsin butter, cheese, or condensed milk in any state, although the city of Cleveland is said to be preparing an ordinance to exclude butter not made from the milk of Ohio cows.

11 Billion Pounds a Year.

Milk, butter, and cheese are Wisconsin's primary agricultural products. Approximately 11 billion pounds of milk are produced here annually according to Walter H. Ebling, state and federal statistician in Madison.

Of this about 40 per cent is made into butter, 35 per cent is used for cheese, 15 per cent for condensed milk, and 10 per cent goes for cream and fluid milk. Each year about 248 million pounds of fluid milk are shipped out of the state, most of which is sent to Chicago.

CONSTRUCTION PERMITS LOWER THAN YEAR AGO

Building construction in Chicago in May showed a decline of more than half a million dollars in value compared with April and more than a million and three-quarters, compared with May of last year, Building Commissioner Richard Schmidt said yesterday. He reported that 163 permits were issued last month for buildings valued at $1,535,660. These compare with 143 permits, with a value of $2,064,750, in April. In May of last year there were 202 permits for structures valued at $3,355,150.

Home building increased last month over the preceding month, but was less than May of last year. There were permits for 110 single family dwellings issued last month. During April 107 permits were taken out and in May, 1937, permits for new homes totaled 119.

For the first five months this year building permits were less in both number and dollar value than the same period last year. So far in 1938 permits for 570 projects, costing $7,174,510, have been taken out. In the same period last year 787 permits were issued with a value of $11,713,099.

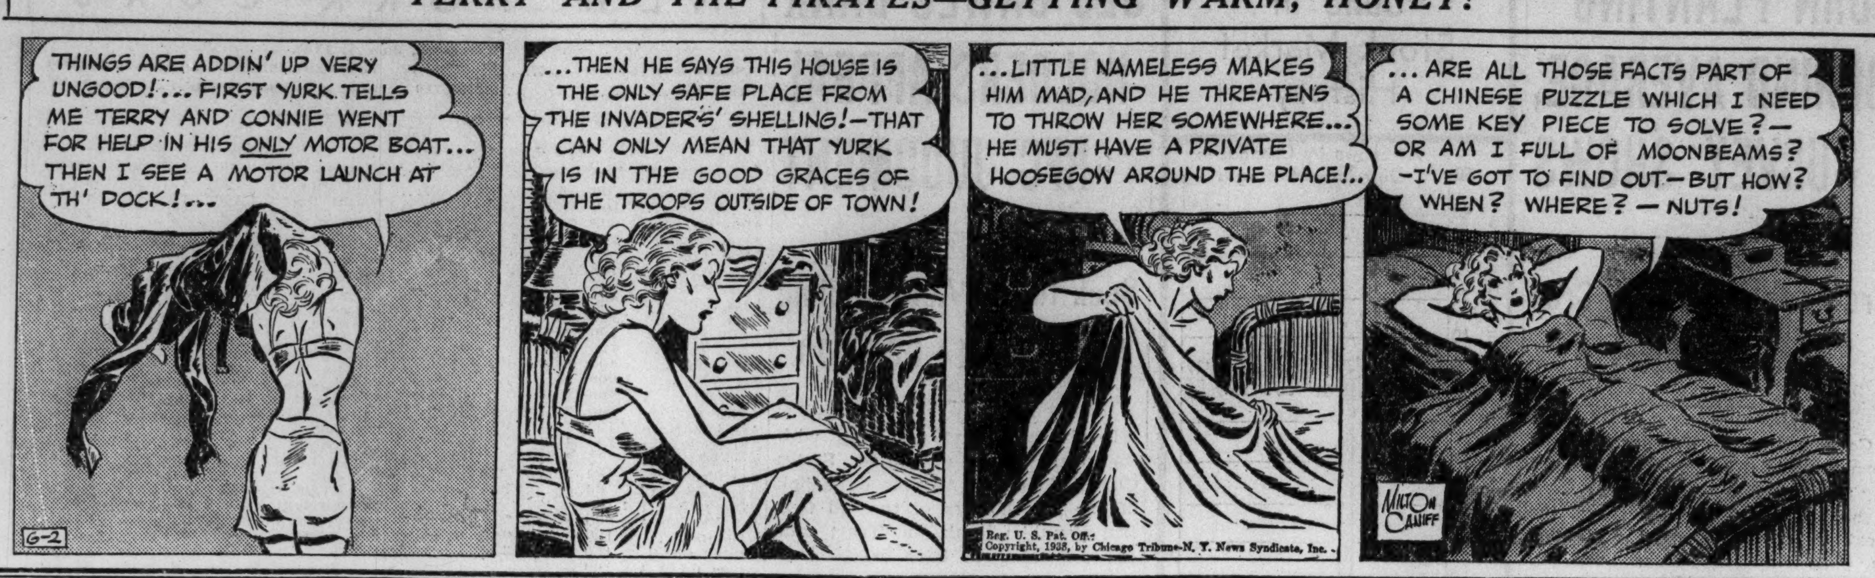
TERRY AND THE PIRATES—GETTING WARM, HONEY!



THINGS ARE ADDIN' UP VERY UNGOOD!... FIRST YURK TELLS ME TERRY AND CONNIE WENT FOR HELP IN HIS ONLY MOTOR BOAT... THEN I SEE A MOTOR LAUNCH AT TH' DOCK!...
...THEN HE SAYS THIS HOUSE IS THE ONLY SAFE PLACE FROM THE INVADER'S' SHELLING!—THAT CAN ONLY MEAN THAT YURK IS IN THE GOOD GRACES OF THE TROOPS OUTSIDE OF TOWN!
...LITTLE NAMELESS MAKES HIM MAD, AND HE THREATENS TO THROW HER SOMEWHERE... HE MUST HAVE A PRIVATE HOOSEGOW AROUND THE PLACE!..
...ARE ALL THOSE FACTS PART OF A CHINESE PUZZLE WHICH I NEED SOME KEY PIECE TO SOLVE?— OR AM I FULL OF MOONBEAMS? -I'VE GOT TO FIND OUT—BUT HOW? WHEN? WHERE?—NUTS!
